Today

Washington's Madhouse.
The Big Garner News.
A Borah Triple Plan.
The Ugliest Word.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

WASHINGTON, May. 6.

HOT AND uncomfortable in Washington, physically and mentally.

Everybody is disgusted with everybody else and finds some one to blame for lack of effective action.

DEMOCRATS CAME marching back from the elections in 1930 and said:

"We have the House in our control, now watch us save the country."

The nation watched, and thus far has seen nothing. You would not call it a mountain in labor, giving birth to a mouse, but rather two mountains, House and Senate, giving birth to a microbe.

AMERICANS WOULD NOT have been edified could they have seen and understood the proceedings in the House galleries and lobbies a couple of nights ago, when the attempt to reach an economy program was kicked to pieces.

There were hundreds of lobbyists, able, "hard boiled," sending for their Congressmen, laying down the law, telling the representatives what would happen to them, at home, if they did not obey orders.

Many of them obeyed.

UNDER GEN. GRANT'S portrait that hangs above the fireplace in the White House Red room, you read:

"Ulysses S. Grant, of Illinois, Eighteenth President, March 4th, 1869, to March 4th, 1877."

Grant is shown in his Army uniform, his full beard neglected. His face looks tired, but he can be thankful his lines are not cast in 1932. Looking down from the place to which good soldiers go, he must wonder how anyone can live in this political madhouse.

WASHINGTON'S BIG news today is the Garner victory in California that changes completely the Democratic battle.

Opponents of Gov. Roosevelt have, already, enough votes to prevent his nomination by a two-thirds vote. Some think there will be a stampede for him when the convention opens, but they forget that political control in New York, New Jersey, Illinois and Massachusetts is against him.

Leaders in those states are not a kind easily stampeded. Already, some are climbing down from the Roosevelt bandwagon, fearing it will never start.

ADMIRERS OF Speaker Garner say he must be the compromise candidate. Others, professing definite knowledge, say:

"No, the plan is to nominate Owen D. Young, and it will go through."

WASHINGTON'S sensational news is the arrest of Gaston B. Means, on complaint of Mrs. Evelyn McLean, wife of the Washington Post's owner. Mrs. McLean says she gave Means $100,000 upon his promise to recover the Lindbergh baby by use of the money. Her complaint alleges that he did not produce the baby, or return the $100,000.

There is no knowing what sums have been, and may be, paid in efforts to recover the lost child.

DEFEAT OF the plan to put government employes on a five-day week, pleasing temporarily to employes, may have prevented the inauguration of a most important experiment. The plan was to pay for five days only, during the emergency period, and thereafter to give a full week's pay for five days, the government showing the way to industry as a whole.

Those that know predict the discharge of one hundred thousand public employes, beginning in July. If that happens, increasing the number of unemployed here by 100,000, it will prove a greater disaster than temporary reductions of income by one-sixth.

SENATOR BORAH, who does not need to worry about re-election or "approval of the folks back home," has a three-fold plan to save the country, and revealed it in the Senate yesterday, in these words:

"Unless armaments are reduced, so that burden is lifted; unless reparations are settled so Europe can start on economic recovery, and unless silver is restored to the place it occupied prior to 1925 to restore to some extent the purchasing power of one-half the world, there will not, in my judgment, be any ready return to prosperity."

THE MASSES, everywhere, says Senator Borah, are becoming restless. He thinks we must "get rid of this gold mentality."

SENATOR BORAH'S references to gold were applauded, also his statement:

"I do not believe we can restore better conditions in this country by increasing taxes."

THE DREADED word, "revolution," once barred in respectable conversation, crops up unpleasantly. Even Senator Borah uses it:

"We do not accomplish things, generally, in this country by revolution, but there can be no doubt of a general feeling among the people that the government is not meeting the task before them."

The French, Russians, Italians did not "accomplish things

PRESIDENT OF FRANCE SHOT

Russian Doctor Seriously Wounds Doumer; Novelist, Police Official Victims

PARIS, May 6.—(AP.)—President Paul Doumer, white-bearded 74-year-old president of the French republic, was shot three times and desperately wounded today by a Russian assassin as he opened an exhibition of books by war veterans.

He shot President Doumer, he confessed, because he wanted revenge for the French refusal to intervene in Russia against the Bolsheviki.

The noted novelist, Claude Farrere, and Paul Guichard, director of the Paris police, were slightly wounded.

President Doumer underwent two blood transfusions and a trepanning operation.

At 6:45 o'clock this evening the senior surgeons attending him left the hospital after pronouncing his condition "very satisfactory."

The President's nephew said the patient's chances now were largely a matter of his advanced age, since no vital spot had been struck. He said his uncle had shown some improvement in the past two hours.

Previously, a statement, issued by nine doctors, had declared "the situation is very grave."

In the excitement immediately following the shooting, it was impossible to get all the facts, but there were reports that the President had died; that he was dying, and that his wounds were not so serious as had been thought at first.

$100,000 LINDY HOAX PROBED

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(AP.)—A federal grand jury today heard evidence on charges that Gaston B. Means received $100,000 on false representations that he could return the kidnaped Lindbergh baby and will announce next Tuesday whether an indictment will be returned.

Within an hour, the grand jury heard the weird story of allegations that Means received the money from Mrs. Edward B. McLean, estranged wife of the publisher of the Washington Post, but failed to produce the baby kidnaped March 1.

The witnesses were Mrs. McLean, one of her attorneys, Nelson T. Hartson and her butler, Gustave Griffoni. Their testimony was not made public.

After testifying, Mrs. McLean and Hartson conferred with Leo A. Rover, United States district attorney, Justice Department officials talked with the butler.

HOUSE GROUP KILLS BONUS MEASURES

Adverse Report to Block Vote on Measure Before Adjournment for Summer

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(AP.)—All plans for cashing the $2,000,000,000 soldiers' bonus were rejected today by the House Ways and Means Committee on a 15 to 10 vote.

The committee further voted to report the new-money bills to the House adversely.

This action creates a parliamentary situation that will delay any effort to force a House vote through a discharge petition.

Acting Chairman Crisp announced the committee action, but declined to give out the individual vote of members. All the 25 members were recorded, some by proxies.

Representative Patman (Dem.), of Texas, chief bonus advocate, has opposed the committee action making an unfavorable report to the House. Under the rules, Patman says June 13 would be the first day on which a vote could be forced through a petition signed by 145 members.

Representative Rainey, of Illinois, the Democratic leader, was designated by the committee to make the adverse report to the House.

The course now open to bonus advocates is the introduction of a special rule to give the bonus bills a preferred legislative status. Such a resolution would go to the Rules Committee and should this committee fail to act after seven days, a discharge petition would be in order.

Rainey said that in view of the forthcoming adjournment of Congress in time for the national conventions, the committee action definitely killed any opportunity for a House vote on the bonus issue.

The committee vote on making an adverse report to the House on cash bonus plans was:

For (15)—Democrats: (5) Collier, Crisp, Rainey, Ragon and Lewis. Republicans (10): Hawley, Treadway, Bacharach, Hadley, Timberlake, Watson, McLaughlin, Chindblom, Crowther and Aldrich.

Against (10)—Democrats: Doughton, Hill, Canfield, Cullen, Sullivan, Sanders, Eslick, McCormack, Dickinson, and Vinson, of Kentucky.

Ragon explained that he had favored the Patman Bill, but when it was rejected, he voted to make the adverse report to the House.

Fever Gone, Chaplin Leaves Singapore

SINGAPORE, May 6.—(INS.)—Charlie Chaplin, now recovered from the recent attack of dengue fever, which sent him to a hospital here, today resumed his trip around the world.

The famous screen comedian, with his brother, Sydney, sailed for Japan after an interruption of nearly three weeks in a globe-circling journey.

George M. Cohan To Enter Talkies

HOLLYWOOD, May 6.—(AP.)—One of the best known figures on the American stage, George M. Cohan, will make his first appearance in talking pictures within a few months.

Announcing a Cohan contract, Paramount studio today said his first film will be "The Phantom President," a burlesque on national politics.

DEFY KELLEY ON MASSIE ORDER

Darrow Declares War on Prosecutor's Attempt to Bar Wife Going to U. S.

International News Service.

HONOLULU, T. H., May 6.—A bitter fight between Clarence Darrow and Prosecutor John C. Kelley broke out today over Kelley's attempt to force Mrs. Thalia Massie to remain in Honolulu to testify as the prosecution's star witness against four men accused of brutally attacking her. Darrow declared angrily:

"They are merely trying to crucify this young woman further. They know they can never obtain a conviction against those men. But they want the satisfaction of putting Mrs. Massie on the stand, then having the defendants acquitted in spite of her story. It's just an attempt to discredit her.

"No good can come of forcing Mrs. Massie to go through such an ordeal. I will oppose it to the utmost."

Mrs. Massie declined comment. She was being shielded from interviewers.

SHIELD MRS. MASSIE

Kelly's statement, which aroused Darrow's ire, said:

"I am opposed to the departure of Mrs. Massie for the mainland.

"This would render the retrial of the Ala Moana case futile. I believe out of respect to herself and her family she should remain to face the ordeal, however painful."

Darrow urged the dropping of the Ala Moana case when the sentences imposed on Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, Mrs. Grace Hubbard Fortescue, Albert O. Jones and E. J. Lord were com-

TELLS JURY OF MEETING DEALER

Sent by Hammers to Aid On Specifications, Ousted Supplies Director States

By WILLIAM PFARR
Staff Correspondent.

BUTLER, Pa., May 6.—Bertram L. Succop, ousted supplies director, on trial with Mayor Charles H. Kline, charged with malfeasance, took the witness stand in his own defense today to combat testimony of the prosecution that he had violated the law in letting contracts to high bidders or on trick specifications.

The defense evidently was bent, first of all, in assailing evidence presented by M. C. Conick, auditor and star commonwealth witness, who had testified the city had given contract for furniture to the Puffinburg company, in some instances at more than twice the low bid submitted.

Defense of the Mayview furniture deal took a dramatic turn late yesterday when a chair, tested by Dr. J. S. Hammers, superintendent of Mayview, to demonstrate to the jury the high quality of furniture obtained from Puffinburg, broke in his hands.

Questioned by Charles B. Prichard, of counsel for the defense, Succop testified he had been told to prepare specifications for the Mayview Home and Hospital by Dr. Hammers and that Hammers later sent C. A. Puffinburg to aid him. That was the first time he had met Puffinburg, he said.

ADDRESSED AS 'DIRECTOR'

Prichard asked:

"Up to that time did you know he had been making specifications?"

"No."

"Did you know Jambes B. Sansom?"

Yes."

"How long?"

"Ten years."

"How did you meet him?"

"He was a political writer. He wrote stuff for my friend, Danny Winters."

Succop was speaking in a husky voice. Prichard addressed him "director."

"When did you first learn Sansom was associated with Puffinburg?"

"Long after the contracts were let."

OHIO GIRL SLAIN BY STRANGLER

TOLEDO, O., May 6.—(AP.)—Strangled to death by an unidentified man, the body of Miss Winifred Rafferty, 22, dietitian at the Robinwood Hospital, was found early today in an exclusive Toledo residential section.

Police blamed a maniac for the attack, and said the young woman was killed only after a terrific struggle. Almost all of her clothing was torn from her body, the buttons were off her coat, and her shoes had been hurled several feet away.

The body was found by Richard Carr, son of W. C. Carr, prominent Toledo banker, on the front lawn of his father's home, only a short distance from the hospital.

Mrs. William Greer, mother of the slain girl, said her daughter and other nurses had been annoyed many times in the same vicinity by a man who gave evidence of weak-mindedness. The police searched for the molester on each previous occasion, but were unable to find him.

Lay Death by Burns To Daylight Saving

That the death of Miss Jennie A. Doran, 78, of 7223 North Brushton avenue, Penn Township, was due indirectly to daylight saving, was the gist of testimony given before a Coroner's jury, which today found she died of burns accidentally received.

Deputy coroners testified the aged woman was fatally burned, April 24, when she reached for a clock in her home to reset it so it would conform with the daylight saving schedule. Her clothing ignited when she brushed a stove to reach the clock on a mantel. She died May 4.

U. S. STEEL CUTS PAY 15 PCT.

NEW YORK, May 6.—(AP.)—The United States Steel Corporation today announced that its employes' wages and salaries would be cut approximately 15 per cent, effective May 15.

This is the second wage reduction by the company during the present depression. The first, amounting to 10 per cent, was made on October 1 last.

Reports that this means of further reducing costs was being considered had been heard in financial circles for some time, gaining strength after the corporation's directors last week omitted dividends on the common stock and reported an operating deficit of more than $13,000,000 for the first quarter of 1932.

The company has made three separate wage reductions during the present business depression.

Ann Harding Due in Reno For Bannister Divorce

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Universal Service.

HOLLYWOOD, May 6.—A fast plane is carrying Ann Harding to Reno today, where she will divorce her husband, Harry Bannister. She hopped off this morning despite a heavy fog.

Immediately after their separation, which was headlined in every newspaper in the country, Bannister went to Reno to establish a residence preparatory to divorcing his lovely blonde wife.

In the formal joint statement issued by both several months ago it was stated that Harry would divorce Ann. Later, friends advised the popular young actress that such a divorce would carry a suggestion of blame that nothing could ever eradicate. Bannister, who has stated in emphatic language that he has nothing but profound respect for Ann, agreed to let her get the divorce so that no unpleasant recriminations could result.

She expects to get her divorce today and return to Hollywood by plane tomorrow. Reno is Bannister's legal residence and it is possible for his wife to get a divorce, even though she has not established a residence there. He will not contest her suit.

Bannister, who has felt that he was placed in a bad position as Ann Harding's husband, will return to Hollywood. He has already arranged to rent a house at Santa Monica for the summer and he plans to make another try at motion pictures.

Mellon Sips Drink, Says 'Don't Sell U. S. Short'

By LINTON WELLS
International News Service.

LONDON, May 6.—In keeping with his decision to "conform to the customs of the country," United States Ambassador Andrew W. Mellon sipped a whisky and soda at a luncheon in his honor tendered by the Lord Mayor of London today.

The contents of the ambassador's glass diminished slowly during the luncheon. He addressed 29 representatives of Britain's commerce and industry gathered about a huge banquet table, told them the United States was economically sound and repeated the warning of J. P. Morgan:

"Never sell America short."

Mr. Mellon continued:

"None of us has any means of knowing when or how we shall emerge from the valley of depression in which the world is now traveling. But I do know that, as in the past, a day will come when we shall find ourselves on a more solid economic foundation and the onward march of progress will be resumed."

In sipping his whisky and soda, Mr. Mellon "conformed to the customs of the country" for the second time since his arrival. The other occasion was the banquet given by the Pilgrims' Society, when he drank toasts in champagne to King George and President Hoover.

The Marquis of Reading, in a speech, touched on what he believed to be the real reason for Mellon's presence in England, which he said was to "help solve the tremendous difficulties which confront our two countries."

Applauding the American Ambassador for his willingness to take active part in this effort at his advanced age, the marquis said:

"It is of the utmost value that we have you in this country at the present time."

PRESIDENT OF FRANCE SHOT DOWN BY RUSSIAN DOCTOR

ASSASSIN FIRES POINT BLANK AT VICTIM

Baron de Rothschild Foundation near the palace.

Farrere walked with him up the grand staircase where the President paused to sign a copy of a book by a contemporary author.

Then the President moved over to a table and stood talking with Farrere and Mme. Farrere.

Suddenly a man sprang seemingly out of nowhere, leveled a pistol at the President and fired five times.

M. Doumer's knees crumpled. He sank to the floor. There were bullets in the front of the head, in the head behind the ear and in the chest.

Farrere sprang forward.

The assassin's pistol was still smoking in his hand.

He raised it and fired twice.

Farrere stopped with a bullet in the arm, but lunged forward again and grappled with the man.

Paul Guichard, director of the Paris police, ran forward.

The assasin fired again. The bullet struck Guichard in the arm.

By this time a dozen police surrounded the man and a crowd gathered about them.

CROWD INFURIATED

As the crowd grew it became an infuriated mob. The police had the greatest difficulty protecting their prisoner.

At last they got him away.

At police headquarters they identified him as Paul Gouguloff, a Russian physician.

They had no idea of his motive, but someone heard him shout as he fired:

"Die for the fatherland."

Meanwhile, back in the exhibition room, Farrere and others bent over the President.

He was already nearly unconscious, but he mumbled a few incoherent words as they lifted him, placed him on a stretcher and carried him to the Beaujon Hospital.

The doctors there performed an operation immediately and there was a blood transfusion, followed later by the second.

One of those who were first to reach the President's side said afterward he had heard M. Doumer whisper:

"Pas possible."

In English, it would be:

"This seems impossible."

ASSASSIN'S NOTE

From police headquarters came word that when they searched the assasin they found in his pocket a notebook with the phrase printed in pencil in letters an inch high:

"This day I killed the President of the French Republic."

The police, hammering at Gouguloff, learned that he had come to Paris from Monaco on Wednesday night especially to commit this crime.

He was born a Cossack, he told them, and two years ago formed what he called the Society of Russian Fascists.

Premier Andre Tardieu was the first man to reach the hospital after the news had gone about. Former Premier Caillaux came soon afterward, and then there was a stream of distinguished personages.

Mme. Doumer, who gave four sons do France in the war, was grief-stricken when she reached the bedside.

United States Ambassador Edge and Norman H. Armour, secretary to the embassy, were among the first to visit the hospital. Mr. Edge sent a radiogram to Secretary of State Stimson, who is on the way back to Washington aboard the steamer Vulcania.

As the evening wore on and a crowd pressed about the hospital, bits of news trickled out.

The doctors disclosed that after the first emergency operation, the patient had rallied slightly and murmured:

"Ca va."

That means:

"I'm all right."

Doumer Death Rumors Follow Shooting

PARIS, May 6.—(INS.)—Rumors of President Doumer's death flooded Paris immediately after his shooting today, and the prefecture of police at one time issued an official communique saying he had been killed.

However, at 4:50 p. m. there was no official confirmation at the Elysee Palace of the police prefecture announcement that President Doumer was dead and it was put down as erroneous.

Paul Doumer, thirteenth President of France, started life as an apprentice in the workshop of his father, a modest engraver.

NAMED TO CABINET

Three times re-elected Senator from Corsica, Doumer was made Minister of Finance in the Briand-Bonnevay cabinet in 1921. On January 15, 1927, he was elected President of the Senate, which position he held until 1931, when by his election to the presidency of France, he crowned his political career.

Opposed by Aristide Briand, veteran foreign minister, Paul Doumer did not poll a sufficient majority in the first ballot and a second was called. Briand withdrew his candidacy, however, and Doumer was elected by a wide margin.

Doumer was the father of four sons, all of whom were killed in the war. Three died on the battlefield and the fourth in a hospital from wounds.

During the war, Doumer himself played an important role in the defense of Paris.

Named Minister of State and President of the Economic Committee in the Painleve cabinet in 1914, he was placed in command of the civil affairs of Paris and, with Gallieni, was absolute master of the city.

In 1918 Clemenceau, fearing that the last German advance would take them to the gates of Paris, entrusted its defense to Doumer and he had everything ready for the French troops, if forced to retreat inside of a few weeks.

BARES U.S. PLOT TO KILL WALES

LONDON, May 6.—(INS.)—Details of a purported plot against the life of the Prince of Wales while he was stopping at the old Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York in November, 1919, were revealed in "Velvet and Vinegar," a book of reminiscences by one of the Prince's former bodyguards, which was published today.

The author, Lieut. Col. Norman G. Thwaites, wrote that the Prince's party received word a desperate man intended to blow up the Prince's room.

He was reported to be in a room directly below the Prince's, which was one of a suite occupied by an Irish conference headed by Eamonn De Valera, now president of the Irish Free State.

Upon investigation, Col. Thwaites related, it was discovered a man of the name reported actually was in the lower room and could give no satisfactory explanation of his presence. He was ejected.

muted from 10 years to one hour. They had been convicted of the "honor killing" of Joseph Kahahawai, alleged participant in the attack.

PLANNED TO LEAVE

Mrs. Massie has made plans to return to the mainland Sunday with her family, leaving the state without its star witness and virtually forcing a nolle prosse of the charges.

Meanwhile, formal application for full pardons were drawn up in behalf of the four Americans, but there was little likelihood that Gov. Lawrence Judd would extend further clemency.

Lieut. Massie was happy to receive orders detaching him from the submarine base here and sending him to San Francisco. He called upon Rear Admiral Yates Stirling and expressed appreciation for the recommendation of transfer.

Placing his arms paternally around the shoulders of the young officer, the gray-haired admiral said:

"It's the least I can do for you, young man."

Mrs. Fortescue is looking forward to the sea voyage to the mainland aboard the Malolo. She believes it will give her a chance to relax her taut nerves. She told a friend:

"I have slept better since Wednesday than I have been able to do for a long time. My nights of torture and fear are ended, and my mind is at peace. I am not worrying any more. I am satisfied with the way things stand."

Jones and Lord expected to receive the orders today which will transfer them to the submarine base at San Diego.

MILLS TAX PLAN ACCEPTED IN SENATE

Compromise Measure Wins Approval; Planned to Yield Billion Dollars

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(AP.)—Acting in the face of administration warnings that their tactics were disturbing the country, the Senate Finance Committee today accepted a compromise tax plan designed to produce a billion dollars in revenue.

The plan, carried to Capitol Hill by Secretary Mills, was estimated to yield $1,004,000,000 in the 1933 fiscal year. It again changed the income rates to provide for normal taxes of 3 per cent on the first $4,000; 6 per cent on the next $4,000 and 9 per cent on income over $8,000.

The surtax rates graduate up to 45 per cent on income over $1,000,000.

The new tax measure was approved 13 to 4, assuring strong bi-partisan support in the Senate.

The July 1, 1934, limit on the life of the new excise taxes was restored to the measure, together with the allowance of 25 per cent deductions on earned income.

At Mills' suggestion the committee added a 5 cent a pound import on rubber to yield $53,000,000.

This offset the elimination of almost a dozen "nuisance" taxes from the House bill. The automobile tax was raised from 3 to 4 per cent.

Previous rates of the committee on radios, telephones and telegraphs were kept.

Fight for Sales Tax Pushed by Reed

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(Universal.)—The fight for the general manufacturers' sales tax has just begun, Senator Reed (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, announced last night following defeat by the Senate Finance Committee of his 1 per cent sales tax proposal by 12 to 8.

Not only will Reed renew the battle on the Senate floor, but he may submit a minority report from the committee. He will again offer the sales tax as a substitute for the excise taxes and the high normal and surtax rates approved by the committee. If Reed's motion wins, the income taxes will revert to the rates in the House bill.

William Randolph Hearst's arguments for the general manufacturers' sales tax were read to the committee yesterday by Senator Shortridge (Rep.), of California, who, like Reed, predicted the sales tax may yet be adopted.

Shortridge quoted at length from a letter from Mr. Hearst to James T. Williams, Jr., of Universal Service, published in the Hearst newspapers on May 3. These words of Mr. Hearst were emphasized by Shortridge in urging his colleagues to vote for the sales tax:

"'A general sales tax will entirely solve the immediate taxation problem in an orderly and systematic and effective manner.'"

20 Chicago Nurses Made Ill by Bomb

CHICAGO, May 6.—(INS.)—Twenty nurses of the Cook County School of Nursing were violently ill today from the effects of an odor bomb hurled into the vestibule of the building. The fumes spread throughout the structure, frightening 300 student nurses and overcoming many.

A strike of orderlies and attendants at the Psychopathic Hospital was blamed by officials of the nursing school. Student nurses have been substituting for the striking hospital workers.

Aspirant to Diamond Gang Throne Slain

NEW YORK, May 6.—(INS.)—Another aspirant to the underworld throne of the late Jack (Legs) Diamond was dead today.

An hour after he rented a room in a Brooklyn rooming house, Samuel Berman, 30, paroled from Sing Sing, was shot to death by two callers.

HOOVER TO TAKE BUDGET FIGHT TO PEOPLE

President Preparing New Demand for Action on Finances by Congress

WASHINGTON, May 6.—President Hoover is preparing a statement to carry direct to the people the drive he opened yesterday on Congress to balance the budget.

The President is said to be determined to get prompt action on Capitol Hill.

President Hoover's denunciation, contained in a special message to both houses last yesterday, declared:

"In spite of the unquestioned beneficial effects of the remedial measures already taken and the gradual improvement in fundamental conditions, fear and alarm prevail in the country because of events in Washington which have greatly disturbed the public mind."

REVOLT STIRRED

Immediately after reading of the message, both Senate and House broke out in the most indignant revolt in the history of the administration and launched a bombardment against the President seldom equaled in the Capitol.

The President demanded:

1. Prompt enactment of a revenue bill adequate to produce the necessary revenue and so designated as to distribute the burden equitably and not to impede economic recovery.

2. A drastic program of economy which, including the savings already made in the executive budget of $369,000,000, can be increased to exceed $700,000,000 a year.

REED STIRS REVOLT

The attack on the President was opened by Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, Democratic leader of the Senate, who scored the President for "continually asking for economy without making specific recommendations."

Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, administration spokesman, in defense, made matters no better by reiterating that the Congress has failed to accomplish any real savings, and then declaring:

"If this country ever needed a Mussolini, it needs one now. I am not proposing to make Mr. Hoover our Mussolini, but if we are to get economies made, they must be made by someone who has the power to make the order and stand by it."

Hiram Johnson (Rep.), of California, after defending the Senate and House for their economy efforts, turned to Reed and said:

"I deny that America now or at any other time needs a Mussolini.

"Democracy will do the job for this great republic of ours. To say to us that we need now or at any other time a Mussolini is but to echo the cry of every exploiter in this land."

4 Kidnaped Clerks Shield Bank Bandits

PAOLA, Kan., May 6.—(AP.)—The Miami County National Bank was robbed of about $10,000 today by four men, who shielded their escape by kidnaping four of the institution's employes, including Miss Marion Rose, stenographer.

The robbers' car was driven through the streets with the employes held on the running board to prevent the fire of vigilantes who were hastily mobilized by Sheriff Joe Achey. When the car cleared the business section it slowed down momentarily and the hostages were released.

Stimson Leaves Ship To Visit Gibraltar

GIBRALTAR, May 6.—(AP.)—Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, on his way home to the United States from Geneva, arrived here today aboard the steamer Vulcania. He left the ship and motored through the streets accompanied by United States Consul Richard L. Sprague.

NORRIS TO BOLT HOOVER AGAIN

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(AP.)—That veteran independent warhorse from the wide spaces of the Northwest, Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, will bolt the Republican pasture once again to support Franklin D. Roosevelt, if the Democrats nominate him.

He gave assurance last night that he would back the New Yorker, even as in 1928 he stumped for Alfred E. Smith against President Hoover. He said:

"History has demonstrated that I was right in opposing him (Hoover) four years ago. He has not done anything he said he was going to do."

Norris and the President were receiving a joint indorsement by the Nebraska State Republican Committee just as the Senator was making his announcement.

Birth Control Bill Deferred in House

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(AP.)—Consideration of birth control legislation was deferred indefinitely yesterday by the House Ways and Means Committee.

Behind closed doors, Acting Chairman Crisp laid before the committee a bill to legalize the distribution of birth control information and said that Representative Hancock (Dem.), of North Carolina, the author, desired hearings. Strenuous objections were raised and finally the matter was postponed.

Fire Kills 2 Babies In W. Virginia Home

ROMNEY, W. Va., May 6.—(AP.)—Two children were burned to death in a fire that destroyed their mountain home near Okonoko, Berkeley County.

The children, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Day, 18 months, and 3 years old, were alone in the dwelling when it caught afire. The bodies were found in the ruins.

GRAND JURORS PROBE HOAX IN LINDY CASE

in the District of Columbia jail upon failure to post $100,000 bond.

Justice Department agents were said to be working at top speed on a clue which they hope may lead to recovery of the money.

It was said also they are attempting to find accomplices whom they believe may have been employed to pose as representatives of the Lindbergh kidnapers.

As she went into the jury room, Mrs. McLean told newspapermen:

"This is distasteful, of course, but I am going through with it."

On her behalf, Hartson added: "She knew, undoubtedly, Means' record all the time, but she certainly believed he would come through in this case."

Means has served time in the Atlanta Penitentiary.

Leo A. Rover, United States attorney, asked the grand jury to indict Means for larceny after trust.

Mrs. McLean was stylishly dressed in a black satin frock with a shiny straw hat and fur to match.

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Justice Department's bureau of investigation, and John M. Heith, an employe, conferred with Leo A. Rover, United States District Attorney, just before the hour set for the grand jury meeting.

PRIEST TO TESTIFY

The Rev. Francis J. Hurney, pastor of a Catholic church, and George W. White, president of the Metropolitan National Bank of Washington, were among those expected to testify. Mrs. McLean said yesterday she conferred with Father Hurney during the negotiations and he has said he saw Mrs. McLean give the money to Means.

Meanwhile, standing in the runway before his cell in the District of Columbia jail, Means told newspapermen that he had been engaged by Mrs. McLean at a retainer of $100 a day and expenses to bring about the child's return that he had been given $100,000 to turn over to the kidnapers.

Mr. Means

He added that this sum was given to a mysterious "Number 11," whom he described as a supposed agent of Mrs. McLean, after she had become convinced that his efforts to return the baby were fruitless and had demanded return of the money.

WON'T TALK OF BABY

Means declined to answer all questions concerning the whereabouts of the child with the statement, "Now, that's confidential." He stood behind the bars in his shirt sleeves with collar opened.

Before the Lindbergh case, Means said, he made investigations for Mrs. McLean in "Palm Beach and other places." He praised her as a "very fine woman and very motherly." He added:

"I didn't solicit employment in this case. She came to me."

He said that when Mrs. McLean approached him he explained he would do nothing until permission had been obtained from Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, father of the kidnaped baby.

Means emphasized there was no "larceny" involved, adding that "not at any time was any money given to me by Mrs. McLean disturbed in any way."

He said his arrest was no surprise since he had been told on April 22 that if he "didn't do this and that" he was to be indicted. He apparently referred to demands by attorneys for Mrs. McLean for return of the money. He said if he had known the warrant had been issued for him he would have surrendered. He has been charged with larceny after trust.

SUCCOP ON STAND TO DEFEND SELF AND KLINE ON BUYING

FAVORED CHAIR BREAKS UNDER COURT TEST

'Trick Bid' Article Fails as Hammers Seeks to Show Strength; Employes Talk

000 estimate for furniture at Mayview?"

"Dr. Hammers."

"Was there any suggestion of meeting with Council to discuss specifications?"

"I had to take it up with the Law Department."

Succop testiged that bids were opened for the Mayview furniture May 17, 1929, that he studied them and that samples were sent to Mayview for inspection. He told of the formation of a committee to select the furniture.

Succop testified that he had not discussed with the Mayor, Mrs. Rauh or McDonough, a clerk in the Welfare Department, the purchasing of supplies, "or with anybody."

Joseph T. McDonough, clerk in the Welfare Department, called as the first defense witness today, testified that Puffinburg had been presented by former Councilman R. J. Alderdice, now city budget director, to Mrs. Enoch Rauh, head of the Welfare Department.

CITES STORE OFFERS

McDonough also disclosed on the witness stand that three downtown stores had offered to perform the same service as Puffinburg in preparing specifications for Mayview furniture, which the commonwealth alleges were so framed as to bar other bidders.

He said he had known Puffinburg personally for about 12 years and that he was not on the payroll of the Department of Welfare.

McDonough testified that he had taken Mrs. Rauh's place on the committee that pased on samples submitted for furniture contracts for Mayview. He said that Mrs. Rauh, ill, had asked him to serve.

In one instance, McDonough testified, members of the committee were unable to agree on which curtain among the samples was the best. To break the deadlock two women members of the committee, both of the Mayview staff, were allowed to make the choice.

MAYVIEW HEADS TESTIFY

Dennis Quigg, chief supervisor at Mayview, admitted on cross-examination he was unable to describe three of five lamps submitted as samples. The other two lamps were among the exhibits.

Mrs. Dennis Quigg, director of nurses, testified briefly as to the high quality of curtains selected for Mayview.

Mrs. Dorothy Stilling, wife of Dr. A. N. Stilling, dentist at Mayview, said she helped to examine and compare samples of the Mayview furnishings.

Harry Shreiver, of the Shreiver-Barnhart Company, decorators, testified as to the relative value of the various chairs and lamps.

Shreiver testified that Puffinburgh's samples submitted for furniture contracts at Mayview were actually better than those submitted by himself.

TELLS OF 'BARGAIN'

Shreiver, testifying concerning one contract for curtains, said the man (Puffinburg) who entered the successful bid must have been "out of his head" for giving the city such bargain.

Something happened late yesterday that was unique in court trials. The jurors saw a strange accident. A chair, contended by the defense to be of exceptional quality, was tested to prove its strength—and broke before their eyes.

When Dr. Hammers, obedient to the request of Atto.ney Prichard, showed how he had tested the rugged construction of the chairs sold to the city at higher bids, a leg broke off at the base.

EXPLAINS BIDS

Earlier in the afternoon Hammers admitted that in preparing specifications for furnishing the new Mayview buildings in most instances exact descriptions of a particular make of chair were given. He said that the kind and amount of stuffing for the chair was specified, as well as the arrangement of the springs, kind of wood and design.

He was asked:

"And you knew that that exact sort of chair was manufactured by a certain manufacturer, and no other, didn't you?"

"Yes."

"And you would not ordinarily expect a competing bidder to handle that exact chair would you?"

"No."

He said that he would not expect to find such a chair, complying with all specifications, in the display room of another dealer.

FIRST DEFENSE WITNESS

Dr. Hammers was the first defense witness. Prichard had outlined his case to the jury eloquently. He had stressed the point that the Mayor and Succop had not acted wilfully, wrongfully or corruptly.

He started in with Dr. Hammers to show how furniture for Mayview had been selected. Taking the purchases one at a time, Prichard developed from Hammers that where other than low bidders got the contract, either samples were not submitted or the goods did not meet specifica'ons.

That Puffinburg helped him write those specifications was admitted by Hammers. He declared that Puffinburg performed this service without pay, so far as he knew.

SAMPLES OFFERED

Then the defense introduced samples of the goods. Court recessed while chairs, lamps, waste-baskets and canned goods were brought to the front of the courtroom immediately before the jury and in front of the witness stand.

Prichard took up each article and had Hammers discuss its merits. Many of the items were selected on the advice of other city officials, Hammers said.

Chairs, rugs, china, lamps and all of the samples were said to be of high quality. At last Prichard came to the item of the bent wood chairs, included in the third count of the joint indictment against the Mayor and Succop. Prichard said:

"Dr. Hammers, will you show how you examined the bent wood chairs? Give us an idea how you tested them."

HAMMERS STUNNED

Dr. Hammers came down from the witness box. He picked up the chair in both hands by the back and put his weight on it. One of the legs snapped off at the base.

The effect was electric!

Hammers appeared stunned. He said:

"I never had one do that before."

The jurors rocked with laughter. The court room bubbled with it. Succop laughed heartily, and got up and left the room. Kline seemed amazed; Prichard crestfallen.

Reed was on his feet at once asking that no chair be put in evidence that was not part of the actual lot bought through the Puffinburg company. He was assured the chair was a genuine bent wood.

After order had been restored, Prichard pointed out the chair had been in use for some time. He asked Hammers:

"What was it about this chair you liked in particular?"

Hammers said:

"The steel reinforcing."

BLAMES HEATER

Hammers said some of the chairs at Mayview had suffered because of a poor steam heating system which had flooded floors and destroyed glue in the joints.

Reed, for the prosecution, sprang into the cross examination with new vigor. He asked Hammers if, with Puffinburg preparing the specifications, Hammers expected to find the article in the stores? He asked if it was not a fact that Puffinburg had obtained the specifications from the manufacturer? Hammers said:

"No, I asked for that particular chair."

The chairs bought from the Puffinburg company included not only the unlucky bent wood, but also upholstered chairs. Court adjonrned soon after the chair incident.

Hardee H. Hepler, Butler County detective, has made an information charging perjury against Jacob Marcus, who was released last night on bail after a day in Allegheny County Jail, for a hearing tonight before Justice of the Peace Pepper, of Butler.

Marcus was arrested by Detective Michael Ford, of Allegheny County, immediately after he left the witness stand yesterday.

STORY HELD CHANGED

Marcus was accused of telling different stories to the grand jury and the jury here about one "A. Nathanson," whose name was used by Sam Adler in bidding for city business that finally went to the Marcus company. Succop had barred the Marcus company from bidding because of previous difficulties with its merchandise, it had been testified.

Fern Griffith, former stenographer for Succop, was positive in her testimony that Jerry Cronin, Parke salesman, and Sam Adler had access to Succop's office. She said at first Cronin had access to papers in Succop's office, but on objection of defense, Judge Thomas D. Finletter interpreted her statement to mean the men were able to go in the same room.

Last night Attorney Zeno Henninger, of Butler, member of defense counsel, gave a dinner for the attorneys of both sides at the Butler Country Club. Mayor Kline was not present. He said:

"It was a private dinner. I was not invited."

One juryman in the trial yesterday received a personal letter, but the court first looked through it to see the contents. Judge Finletter opened the letter on the bench, said it was entirely personal and gave it to the juror for whom it was intended.

Evidence Reveals Postal Lease Fraud

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(INS.)—The Postoffice Department is paying annual rentals on 51 properties ranging from 6½ per cent to 28 per cent of the reproduction cost of the new properties, according to evidence submitted today to the Blaine Senate Committee investigaing charges of wase and fraud in postoffice leases.

The 51 properties were appraised for the committee by the Manufacturers' Appraisal Company of Philadelphia. The highest ratio of rental to reconstruction costs was at the Quincy street Station in Chicago.

FLAMES SWEEP BIG N. Y. PIER

NEW YORK, May 6.—(AP.)—North River, at the foot of Fourteenth street, the long pier used by the Cunard liners Aquitania and Mauretania, was swept by fire this morning, despite concentration of fire apparatus brought out by four alarms.

The first alarm was sounded at 7 a. m., and shortly after 8 o'clock Assistant Fire Chief Thomas F. Dougherty abandoned hope for saving the pier—nearly 1,000 feet long, and considered one of the best in the city—and concentrated his efforts on saving the two adjoining piers, Nos. 53 and 56. Shortly after 8:30 a fifth alarm was turned in.

The liner California, with no passengers aboard, was moored at pier 56 when the fire started, but was towed to safety in midstream by tugs.

Dense smoke choked the entire area and caused a traffic tieup on the elevated express highway and on West street. A crowd of several thousand gathered in the street.

HOUDINI MAGIC FAILS ESTATE

NEW YORK, May 6.—(AP.)—The estate built on the white magic of Harry Houdini has gone into the red.

Bernard Ernst, attorney for the magician's estate, disclosed that although Houdini died possessing property worth in excess of half a million dollars, the liabilities of the estate today are greater than the assets.

"Over generosity" was the explanation of the lawyer. He pointed out that Houdini in his will left his books on magic, valued at $500,000, to the Congressional Library. Aside from the books, which represented the bulk of his wealth, Houdini left an estate of $69,955. Against this are liabilities of $77,065, the lawyer said.

MOSES SLAYING ARREST SEEN

County detectives today were working on a clue that was expected to lead to the arrest of one of the two men who shot and killed Vernon (Port) Moses, Ross Township Constable, in Perrysville road, early Tuesday.

The tip was said to have been furnished County Detective Chief George W. Murren by Lieut. Edward O'Rourke, of the automobile squad of the City Detective Bureau.

O'Rourke refused to reveal the nature of the clue, but expressed strong hope that it held solution of the killing. It was rumored the murder would involve two racketeers.

TWO MEN HELD AT KLINE 'FIX' HEARING

Pair Accused in New Effort To Tamper With Panel Must Face Grand Jury

By M. V. BURGESS
Staff Correspondent.

BUTLER, Pa., May 6.—W. D. McBride, of Prospect, Pa., and Charles H. Flick, of Bakerstown, have been held for the grand jury under $2,000 bail each, following a hearing before Alderman F. H. Davy on charges of embracery, criminal conspiracy and attempt to commite embracery in connection with the Kline trial.

McBride was arrested after he was charged with approaching one of the jury panel, John Vogeley, and mentioned to him that there "might be some money made in the trial."

FIGHTS ON ARREST

Someone from Pittsburgh had made a proposition to Flick, if what the latter told him was true, McBride testified before the Alderman last night. He declared Flick told him it might mean some money for both of them.

County Detective Hardee H. Hepler arrested Flick at his home Saturday night. When an attempt was made to search him Flick battled Hepler and a companion. Hepler said Flick attempted to destroyed some papers and he was able to get from him the torn half of a jury list. Flick only submitted when struck with a blackjack, Hepler said.

McBride testified that Flick showed him a jury list and asked if he knew any of them. McBride pointed out seven of them, he said, among them Vogeley, but only saw the one man.

BRIBE HINT SCORNED

Flick then suggested, according to McBride, that the jurors be "seen," after which McBride was to let him know how much to offer them.

McBride said he saw Vogeley and told him "in a joking way" that he might get as much as $500 out of it. He testified Vogeley's answer was he would not be interested at any price.

District Attorney E. H. Negley, of Butler County, questioned McBride, who had no counsel. Flick was represented by Attorney F. Clair Ross, of Butler.

JUDGE ASSAILS VOTE JURY

Judge Ivan J. McKenrick, of Cambria County, handed the Allegheny County elections system a verbal chastisement today as he criticized a jury which returned a verdict of "not guilty but pay the costs" in the trial of Anthony Siano, 1554 Center avenue.

Siano was accused of operating a voting machine for Magdalena Johnson so as to vote for candidates other than those of her choice in the September primary.

The jury retired at noon yesterday and reached an agreement at 9 p. m., returning the sealed verdict this morning. Judge McKenrick said:

"I cannot understand how any jury could find this man not guilty.

"I have been reading in the papers about the registration frauds in Allegheny County and the overwhelming majorities in this county are due to just such men as this."

When Siano's attorney asked for time to pay the costs, Judge McKenrick answered:

"You have one day—and that means today."

Ex-Convicts Linked In Search for Man

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—(AP.)—Police said today they were searching for two former convicts in connection with the disappearance of Frank J. Egan, San Francisco public defender, and the death of Mrs. Jessie Hughes, 57-year-old widow.

Egan vanished Monday night after telling Deputy Coroner Jane Walsh he was chief beneficiary of Mrs. Hughes, described as an "old friend," whose body was found lying on a street Friday night.

VIENNA, May 6.—(INS.)—The cabinet of Dr. Karl Buresch resigned today, soon after which Dr. Buresch was asked to form a new government.

In view of recent heavy election gains by Fascists, it was expected they would be represented in the new government.

Mate Sues Ex-Cab Driver Linked With Blonde Star

Bertha Jones, of Alpine avenue, one of a triangle involving her husband, Alan R. Jones, cab driver turned musician, and the blonde stage star, Frances Williams, moved to end her domestic difficulties by filing a divorce suit against Jones yesterday in Common Pleas Court, charging desertion. Jones' address was given as the N. V. A. Club, New York.

The Joneses were married December 19, 1922, and parted June 30, 1929, as the result, Mrs. Jones charged, her husband's attentions to Miss Williams.

Jones was a former Pittsburgh cab driver, who played the piano in the California Collegians, featured orchestra in "Fifty Million Frenchman." Some time ago Frances Williams, blues singer and stage star, announced her engagement to him.

Following the announcement, Mrs. Jones sued the blonde star for $100,000 balm, but the case was settled out of court for an amount reported to have been around $2,500. Miss Williams is now married to Lester Clark, New York musician.

U. S. Fights to Free Fall Over Warden's Protest

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(AP.)—After years of trying to get Albert B. Fall in prison, the Department of Justice today found itself trying to get him out—by Sunday.

An order directing Warden Swope, of the New Mexico State Penitentiary, to release the former cabinet officer probably was to go forward today. The department expects that order to be obeyed, even though Swope has said he would not release the 71-year-old prisoner on less authority than that of President Hoover or the Federal Parole Board, unless he faces a pauper's oath that he is unable to pay the fine.

Fall's sentence of a year and a day in Sante Fe Pentitentiary, taking time off for good behavior, expires Sunday. A fine of $100,000 is still unpaid. Swope said yesterday the commitment papers for Harding's Secretary of the Interior specifically directed that he be kept until the fine was paid.

As the warden sees it, there are three things which might bring Fall's release, the President, the Parole Board, or a pauper's oath from the prisoner.

The Department of Justice holds the Parole Board had nothing to do with the case. Fall must be released on Sunday if he has behaved himself while in prison—for the sentence had no mention of holding him for the $100,000.

DIARY REVEALS REVELRY, WOE OF 'TRIANGLE'

Lancaster, Held in Mystery Death of Rival at Home of Aviatrix, Tells Hardships

(Copyright, 1932, Universal Service, Inc.)

MIAMI, May 6.—The love romance of "Chubbie" and "Bill," born of adventurous flights, became a strange "eternal triangle."

So reveals the diary of Capt. "Bill" Lancaster, noted pilot, held here today for the murder of Haden Clarke, young writer.

Pages of the diary, now in the possession of police, reveal Capt. "Bill's" burning devotion for "Chubbie" Keith Miller, world-famous aviatrix.

Together they teamed in remarkable plane exploits. Together they faced adversity when their funds were exhausted. Finally "Chubbie," with the aid of Haden Clarke, tried to meet the situation by writing the story of her amazing air exploits.

Clarke fell in love with "Chubbie." Capt. "Bill" returned, and the next day Clarke was found dead in "Chubbie's" home from a revolver bullet.

DEATH CAUSE DISPUTE

Capt. "Bill" insists it was suicide. The police charge murder.

In this third and final installment of Capt. "Bill's" diary a strange story of love and conflicting emotions is revealed. Police expect it to play an important part in the case. The diary extracts:

"Miami, Feb. 13. — Haden Clarke is now living at the house. Hope for some results from Chubbie's book.

"Miami, Feb. 14.—Chubbie, Haden Clarke and I spent day on Miami Beach. We went to fish, but Chubbie and Haden drank instead.

"Miami, Feb. 15.—The landlady is raising hell. Haden Clarke decides to try and pacify her.

DRINKING PARTY

"Miami, Feb. 20.—Haden Clarke gets very drunk. So too does G. S. He brings around three unknown 'artists' complete with musical instruments. They add to other noise, and party ends at 6 a. m.

"Miami, Feb. 21.—Hade and I decide to replenish supplies. Get two ducks and two rabbits.

"Miami, Feb. 22.—Landlady requires pacifying. Haden Clarke does this.

"Miami, Feb. 23.—Chubbie is adorable, as always.

"Miami, Feb. 25.—One terrible day with drunks. All have hangovers. Haden and I plan to make enough to settle pressing needs.

"Miami, Feb. 28.—All sobered up. Chubby perfect.

"Miami, March 1.—Haden and I play bridge for our lives. We win $38. Thank God the balance of the rent is taken care of."

On March 6 Lancaster started for the West Coast in the airplane Robin.

"Beaumont, Tex., March 8.—No news from Chubbie, which worries me.

"San Angelo, Tex., March 10.—Wire from Chubbie. God bless her. How dear she is to me."

After this Lancaster was stranded several days in El Paso on account of engine trouble. He continues to write:

"El Paso, March 14.—No news from Miami. Chubbie, if you only knew how I long for news from my sweetheart.

"El Paso, March 17.—Day passes drearily. No letter from Chubbie.

'CRAZY' FOR NEWS

"El Paso, March 18.—Tonight I am plumb crazy, all because of no news from Chubbie.

"El Paso, March 19.—A wire from Chubbie which disturbs me very much. I go out and borrow $5 on a gun. This I wire to Chubbie.

"El Paso, March 20.—If I had train fare nothing would stop me from heading for Miami and Chub right now.

"El Paso, March 22.—No letters. Chubbie, you wretch.

"El Paso, March 24.—Cannot understand why Chubbie does not write. This is my greatest hardship, the lack of news from her.

"El Paso, March 26.—No news from Chubbie. She has disappointed me more than this damned expedition.

"El Paso, March 28.—Letter from Haden Clarke and Chubbie. Very disappointed. Looks as though Chub just dashed off a note as a sense of duty. Haden a little more enlightening. Hope he is keeping his promise to me. Feel sure that he is. But Chubbie—hell!"

From this point the diary continues with the sections distributed previously by Universal Service.

DO-X Work Speeded For Atlantic Flight

NEW YORK, May 6.—(INS.)—Work was speeded today to prepare the giant airship DO-X for a series of test flights which will precede the craft's return to Germany via Newfoundland.

JAPAN'S TROOPS QUIT SHANGHAI

SHANGHAI, May 6.—(AP.)—The vanguard of what remains of the powerful Japanese army at Shanghai, estimated at 30,000 men, today began evacuating the area about the city from which it drove the Chinese in the last fierce battle of the "war."

The evacuation, which is in accordance with the truce agreement signed yesterday by Japanese and Chinese officials, is slated to continue increasingly each day until the entire Japanese force has retired to the areas assigned to it under the truce. The movement is expected to be completed within one month.

A mixed commission, consisting of two representatives each of China, Japan, the United States, Great Britain, France and Italy, will supervise the withdrawal and also see that the Chinese forces remain in their present positions pending further Sino-Japanese conferences.

Consul General Edwin S. Cunningham and Military Attache Drysdale are understood to be representing the United States on the commission.

The Chinese emphasized, when signing the treaty, that it restricts in no way the movement of their troops in Chinese territory.

Today

generally by revolution," either, until revolution came.

IT IS NOT coming here, even if things get worse, because successful revolution calls for a homogeneous population, all French, all Italian, etc. If one kind of Americans wanted revolution, ten other kinds would say:

"You can't have it."

NEVERTHELESS YOU hear it talked about in strange places. In New York Wednesday, four well known citizens heard a fifth, worth millions, with a big yacht, fine estates, control of an important bank, and other things not revolutionary, say this:

"Unless currency is made more plentiful and very plentiful, in this country, within 60 days, you will see a revolution."

WHAT SENATOR BORAH calls "the gold mentality" may or may not be responsible for our troubles. But the difference between this country and "the good U. S. A.," of which Mr. Cohen sang, is the difference between a live man and one that has just died.

The dead man has everything that the living man has, heart, brain, lungs, all organs, bile and blood. But the heart is not beating, the blood is not circulating.

Sometimes, when a man seems dead, the pulmotor will restore circulation and life.

This country needs as pulmotor, money, plentiful to start it going, not a congressional doctor to draw off the blood through taxation.

The national heart, which is industry and business, is not beating.

The nation's blood, which is money, is not circulating. It is not wise to delay too long use of the pulmotor.

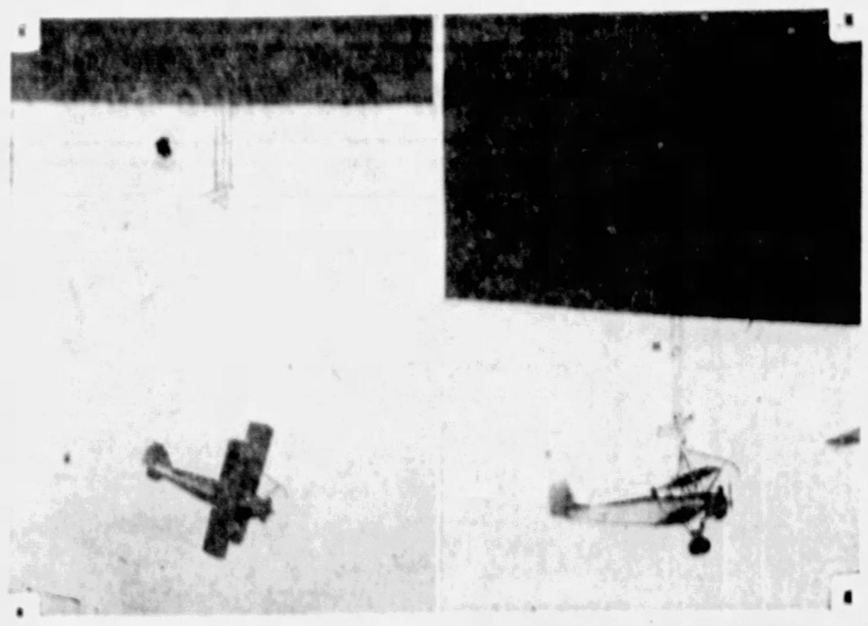
AKRON PICKING UP HER YOUNG 'UNS!



PLANE MANEUVERING TO 'GRAB' TRAPEZE BAR — TINY PLANE CATCHING TO AKRON'S PULL-UP

One of the 15 successful pick-ups the giant U. S. Akron made in tests at Lakehurst. She carried within her great frame five of these tiny ships, capable of high speed, that can be launched or "landed" in mid-air, strong weapons in the event of a war in distant quarters. These are International News Photograph Service pictures.

HELD IN THEFT FROM GIRL

Accused of stealing a $600 payroll, which a girl acquaintance was carrying to the plant where she worked, Charles A. Siller, 28, no home, was held for court without bail on a robbery charge today when arraigned in Central Police Court.

City detectives said Siller had accompanied Jeanne McCaughlin, employed at Pannier Brothers' Stamp Company, 207 Sandusky street, to the bank on March 4. On the way back, Detectives Walter Monoghan and Thomas Morgan say, Siller told Miss McCaughlin she was being followed by two holdup men and instructed her to give him the money and then walk slowly across the street.

Siller admitted to Magistrate Rothenberg that he fled with the money, later going to Florida, where he spent it.

Man Threatening Rosa Raisa Jailed

CHICAGO, May 6.—(AP.)—Andrew Matzukewich, confessed author of extortion notes threatening the baby girl of Rosa Raisa and Giacomo Rimini, was sentenced yesterday to serve two years in a federal penitentiary on charges of forging World War veterans' certificates.

Crash of Window Routs Store Thieves

Thieves who attempted to rob the R. S. Fisher grocery, 1000 Main street, Sharpsburg, early today were frightened away by the crash of glass as a large window broke. A patrolman, attracted by the crash, failed in pursuit.

CROWN PRINCE, 50, CENSURED

POTSDAM, Germany, May 6.—(AP.)—Former Crown Prince Friederick Wilhelm von Hohenzollern was 50 years old today and his birthday was ushered in with a storm of criticism in the German press in which he was called "no gentleman."

The criticism charged that by lending his support to Adolf Hitler, National Socialist leader, in the recent presidential election campaign he violated the promise he made, when he was permitted to return to Germany in 1923, that he would not take part in politics.

Hundreds of the old Imperial Army officers, determined the prince shall celebrate his birthday amid surroundings reminding him of the pomp and glory of imperial days, arranged a celebration tonight in a popular Berlin meeting hall.

STEEL MAGNATE WILLS $887,500

An estate valued at $887,500 was disposed of today in the will of Joseph A. Kelly, of Wilkins avenue, steel official, who died April 25, which was filed for probate.

Under its provisions a sister, M. Emma Kelly, was given $50,000; a brother, George M. Kelly, $30,000; a sister-in-law, Maude M. Gibson, $10,000; a brother-in-law, $5,000, and Henry E. and Arthur F. Budd, $2,500 each.

Luna G. Kelly, his widow, was left the remainder of the estate after small bequests were made to the Protestant Home for Incurables; the Board of Ministerial Relief and Pensions of the United Presbyterian Church of North America; Pittsburgh-Zenia Theological Seminary, and the Women's General Missionary Society of the United Presbyterian Church of North America.

Rogers to Need Wit Settling Speed Case

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., May 6.—(AP.)—Will Rogers, once Mayor of this community, did not respond when his name was called to answer a speeding charge in police court yesterday. Judge H. E. Billings refused to issue a bench warrant for the screen star humorist, accused of traveling 44 miles an hour in a 20-mile zone. The judge said:

"I'll call personally on my friend Will some evening soon, and he'll need all his wit to explain this."

Wife 'Mercy Slayer' Of Jobless Husband

NEW YORK, May 6.—(INS.)—A poignant tragedy of worry and unemployment was told by police today while the district attorney's attaches in Queens questioned Mrs. Tiernan Baker, of Woodhaven, accused of the 'mercy killing' of her husband.

Detectives charged Mrs. Baker put roach poison into Baker's milk when she gave him breakfast. She told authorities she was heart-sick because her husband failed for two years to get work as a jewel cutter.

DR. M. R. GRIER, EDUCATOR, DIES

TYRONE, Pa., May 6.—(AP.)—Dr. Melvin R. Grier, 87, president of the Birmingham School for Girls, at Birmingham, near here, died early today in the Roosevelt Hospital in New York City.

Dr. Grier suffered from heart trouble complicated by injuries he received in a fall. He contracted pneumonia following the fall.

He was regarded one of the foremost educators in Pennsylvania and under him the Birmingham school has attained rank as one of the leading girls' preparatory schools in the state. He succeeded his father, Dr. Lemuel G. Grier, as head of the institution. He leaves his widow and four children.

Auto, Truck Crash Injures Child, 3

Three-year-old Edward Scheddat, of 1711 Wylie avenue, suffered a laceration of the head when the automobile in which he was riding struck a parked truck near his home last night, police said. The automobile was driven by Morris Sargent, 55, of 1711 Wylie avenue, according to police report. The child was treated at Passavant Hospital.

Washing dishes 3 times a day is dull work

BUT see if the New Oxydol doesn't make it easier

• Nothing could make jumping up after every meal to do the dishes a pleasure—but why not make it as easy as you can?

Sprinkle the New Oxydol in your dishpan—and see how dishwashing flies.

You've never had such thick, lasting suds—50% more suds to work for you—rich, clean-smelling suds that cut grease like a flash—and rinse away so dishes are sparkling clean.

Oxydol softens water too—and all water turns hard when you add dirty dishes or clothes. Try the New Oxydol. See how much it lightens all your housework—how snowy white it soaks clothes—and how easy it is on hands.

MUSEUM VISITS MOUNT HERE

Attendance at Carnegie Museum has increased to a marked degree during the present economic slump, Director Andrey Avinoff announced today in pointing out that the Pittsburgh institution is the only museum in America entrance to which is free at all times.

Pittsburghers are using their enforced leisure to better advantage than ever before, Dr. Avinoff's statement indicated.

Carnegie Museum is unique among America's great museums as the only one to remain open until 10 o'clock every week day night.

2 Arrested as Camp Looting Suspects

NEW CASTLE, Pa., May 6.—Robberies of numerous camps last summer and fall, "ere believed solved today following the arrest by County Detective H. M. Lee of Clinton B. Turner and George Boggs. Among the camps robbed were the high school football training camp. Senior G. T. Weingartner and the Y. M. C. A. Lee said much of the stolen stuff was found in Turner's home.

Poor, County Taxes Reduced in Venango

FRANKLIN, Pa., May 6.—Venango County Commissioners cut the tax levy to 6½ mills and 1 mill poor tax, a reduction of one-half mill, effective at once.

FARMERS HELP FATHER COX

Father Cox has received many gratifying responses from the movement among the farmers and market gardeners of Allegheny County "to plant a row for Father Cox" and "reserve a tree for Father Cox" in which the vegetables and fruit raised in these special reservations will be donated to the "father of the jobless" for his unemployment relief activities during the late summer, fall and winter.

Father Cox

In the meantime the Father Cox-Sun-Telegraph Home Delivery Drive, by which this friend to the needy will get a liberal commission for every new order for the delivery of the Sun-Telegraph is going along with gratifying results.

The funds thus secured will help to feed from 2,500 to 3,000 unfortunate in his daily breadline at Old St. Patrick's and will also help to furnish baskets of food for hundreds of Pittsburgh families in distress.

If you wish to help Father Cox send in your order, either to Father Cox or to the Sun-Telegraph, to have this paper delivered to your home by carrier. A subscription blank will be found in this issue.

COMMERCE MEN FIGHT FOR PORT

A fight to save the 124-year-old Port of Pittsburgh, scheduled for abandonment because of a cut in the Treasury Department's appropriation bill, was under way today at the instigation of the Chamber of Commerce.

It was thought likely the chamber would send a delegation to Washington to oppose the abandonment. A resolution was adopted by the board of directors urging Pittsburgh Congressmen and Senators to do their utmost to insure continuance of the port.

The chamber pointed out that the collections in 1930 amounted to $4,775,117, ranking the port fifteenth in revenue and second in low cost of collection.

It was pointed out that Pittsburgh is the largest inland river port with a tonnage four times greater than that of St. Louis, which is not listed for abolishment, and with a larger revenue yield than the entire Ohio district, whose headquarters port, Cleveland, is also to be retained.

TRUCK PLUNGE INJURES 3

A man and two women, alleged to have fled following the wrecking of a truck which resulted in injury to three persons as they were returning from a party early today, were sought for questioning by Mifflin Township police.

Ester Lewis, 47, of 2708 Arlington avenue, was in the Homestead Hospital with back injuries. John Kinjkiwski, 28, of 14 Eleanor street, and John Worshner, 29, of 1720 Mary street, were treated for lacerations of the head and face. All were thrown from the truck, police said, when it plunged over an embankment at Willock and Lebanon roads, Mifflin Township.

Police said the machine was driven by Henry Zwolinski, of 44 South Twenty-seventh street, who took it from his brother, the owner, without permission. Zwolinski and two women companions disappeared following the accident, police said.

RUBENS DOPE DEFENSE GIVEN

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—(AP.)—The probable defense of Dr. I. Jesse Citron, Hollywood physician, on trial for allegedly illegally supplying narcotics to the late Alma Rubens, film star, has been indicted by the testimony of A. Monroy, narcotic agent for the federal government.

Monroy testified that Dr. Citron had said, following the physician's arrest:

"I was called to the Rubens' home several times. Miss Rubens met me at the door and stated her mother was ill. As I heard some groaning in an adjoining room, I felt obliged to write the prescription as requested."

Mrs. Theresa Rubens, taking the stand in Federal Court yesterday, denied she was ill and that she knew narcotics had been prescribed in her name.

STARS' DISPUTE AWAITS ACTION

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 6.—(AP.)—The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences will not, at least for the present, attempt to settle the differences that Marlene Dietrich, Josef von Sternberg and James Cagney are having with the film studios employing them.

An official of the Academy, who asked that his name not be used, yesterday said a special meeting probably would consider the case of the three artists. Miss Dietrich and Von Sternberg have been suspended by their studio for failure to produce a story which they deemed "unsuitable." Cagney was suspended by his studio over a disagreement relating to salary.

W. Va. Crash Kills Coal Firm Official

ROMNEY, W. Va., May 6.—(AP.)—C. H. Jenkins, of Thurmont, vice president of the Hutchinson Coal Company, was killed near here yesterday when his automobile skidded and overturned.

He was accompanied by C. C. Robb, who was driving, and T. N. Moran, both of Thurmont, who received minor injuries. Robb, state police said, was stopping the car to put the top up when the vehicle skidded and went over a bank.

2 Youths Arrested In Row About Girls

John Jones, 19, Negro, of 6317 Douglas street, and William Morris, Negro, of 1232 Hazel street, were lodged in Center Avenue Police Station charged with being suspicious persons. They were arrested after an argument about girls they planned to take home from a dance.

CHAMBER URGES VET ECONOMY

Hospitalization of war veterans in local hospitals at fixed charges rathan than assigning cases to distant-point government institutions today was being urged as an economic move by the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce.

Copies of a resolution adopted at a directors' meeting yesterday were being sent to Pennsylvania senators and representatives at Washington. Action supports the plan suggested by the American Medical Association, Medical Society of Pennsylvania and the Allegheny County Medical Association.

The action was taken upon recommendation of the chamber's public health committee. It was cited that while local hospitals were being taxed by free patients and the veterans' hospitals were overcrowded, a saving would be affected by the government working on the basis of a stipulated charge for veterans' treatment. An economy would be effected by the government in the avoidance of transfer charges and at the same time retain veterans in their home communities, it was pointed out. The policy would provide assistance to local hospitals, the chamber also cited.

MURDERS WIFE, KILLS SELF

UNIONTOWN, Pa., May 6.—Joseph Vedesky, 28, a barber, went to his estranged wife's apartment in the Hotel George, East Fayette street, early today, shot and killed her, wounded his mother-in-law probably fatally, and then killed himself as a policeman forced his way into the room.

Police said that the wife, Esther, 23, had been living in the hotel with her mother, Mrs. Lena Ache, 53, since separating from Vedesky some time ago. Recently, she brought charges against him in Desertion and Non-Support Court.

This morning, according to police, Vedesky went to the hotel to attempt a reconciliation. Refused, he created a disturbance and police were called.

As an officer came up the hallway, he heard the shots and rushed into the room to find Vedesky and his wife dead and the mother-in-law seriously wounded. At the hospital, it was said Mrs. Ache has slight chances of recovering.

BROWN VICTORY CONTESTED

Whether William L. Brown, of Tarentum, or Albert B. Davidson will get a nomination for the Legislature from the Thirteenth District will be fought out in Common Pleas Court May 23, according to a ruling today by Judge Harry Rowand. On unofficial returns, Brown leads Davidson by about 30 votes.

The contest was filed today by James Blackwell and nine others in behalf of Davidson, who had independent support in the recent primary. Brown was an organization candidate.

The suit is based on the vote in the First District of Springdale, where Brown was reported getting 185 votes and Davidson 10. The petition charges election irregularities, false count and the removal of stubs and ballots.

REVISED CENSUS RULES URGED

Action was being taken today by the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce to renew efforts to obtain a revision in United States Census Bureau method of determining metropolitan area that would place Pittsburgh sixth with a population of 2,203,000.

It is being urged that districts shall include, in addition to the central city or cities, all adjacent and continguous civil divisions having a density of not less than 150 inhabitants per square mile. Pittsburgh was placed seventh with a population of 1,953,668.

Colby Warns Against Debt Cancellation

NEW YORK, May 6.—(INS.)—Any talk of cancellation of war debts today means the transfer of the remitted obligations to the taxpayers of the United States, Bainbridge Colby, former Secretary of State, said in a radio address.

International bankers and "hypersensitive" persons who assume "that America's position on any given issue is wrong," represent the two groups in America who favor cancellation, he declared.

New Zealand Rioters Charged by Police

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, May 6.—(INS.)—A mob of 300 rioters engaged in a serious clash with police and special constables at Christchurch today in which many were injured. Sixteen arrests were made.

It was the third day of a street car workers' strike. Police charged with batons swinging, aided by the special constables, who wore wartime steel helmets.

New Castle Girl One Of Campus Beauties

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 6.—(INS.)—To six beauties of the junior class at Syracuse University came the distinction today of being chosen by James Montgomery Flagg, artist, as the half-dozen loveliest co-eds among the students.

The six included Florence Golder, New Castle, Pa.

Raise Your Own Rain

2.25

After you've sown, and are waiting to reap—don't sit around praying for rain. Get out with this 25-ft. hose and be your own rainmaker. 50-ft. length is 4.25. (Wash off the front walk, too, Bill).

We Call This Spade a Fork

1 19

For making little ones out of big ones, this 4-tined steel spading fork's a doughty digger. The handle's wood, and knows its place (no splinters).

Own Your Own Mower

5.95

Grass will be grass—and a little mowing now and then will happen to the best of men. But it's pleasant work when your mower has 4 self-sharpening 16-inch blades. The lower cutting bar's adjustable.

Lord Irwin Speaks on WCAE; John Held WJAS Star; Moore KDKA Cut-up

Problems confronting the British government in India are discussed by Lord Irwin, former viceroy of India, in an address originating at CFCF, Montreal, and heard over an extensive NBC network, including WCAE, tonight at 10:30.

Lord Irwin

Lord Irwin prior to his appointment as viceroy was a member of the Baldwin cabinet. Recently he returned from India with first-hand information concerning the masses of India and conditions there. He is visiting Canada in connection with the establishment of an international affairs lectureship under the auspices of the Massey foundation, to bring outstanding figures in science, religion, philosophy and international events to Canada each year.

Hon. Vincent Massey, former Canadian minister to Washington, introduces Lord Irwin to the radio audience.

One of the leading chamber music organizations of Europe makes its American air debut with a recital over a Columbia network, including WJAS, today from 4 to 5 p. m. The group is the Pro Arte String Quartet of Brussels, Belgium. Today's concert is presented under the auspices of the music division of the Library of Congress by the provisions of the Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge Foundation.

Orchestral music ranging from Bach to Wagner is heard in a concert presented by Howard Barlow's Orchestra over WJAS tonight at 11 in observance of national music week.

Speaking over a nation-wide NBC network for the first time since his absence in the Orient, Floyd Gibbons, ace reporter and "headline hunter" of radio, analyzes the political status of Hawaii on WCAE tomorrow night at 11:15. He is conferring with officials both here and in Hawaii to bring his available data up to the minute for the broadcast.

* * *

Program Pointers

John Held, Jr., famed illustrator, is interviewed by Allie Lowe Miles on the Bath Club program on WJAS tonight at 8 . . . The musical portion of the program, presented by Frank Ventree and his orchestra, includes special orchestrations of "The Queen Was in the Parlor" and "I Say It's Spinach" from "Face the Music" . . . Victor Moore, famous comedian of the stage and screen, begins a series of guest appearances with Leonard Joy and his orchestra on KDKA at 8. Moore employs a wide variety of voices accumulated from more than 200 stage roles.

Mr. Held

Newcomers to KQV are featured in the Variety Time program at 10. Included are Jimmy McKnight, tenor; the Three Musical Clowns, harmony trio with guitars, and Betty Ramsey, blues singer.

The Cavalier Club, an organization of Pittsburgh theater employes, presents a program from Webster Hall, broadcast by WWSW from 9 to 9:45.

The Russian Male Chorus, famous for its basso profundos and high tenors, is presented in a guest performance with the Kodak Week-end Hour on WJAS at 9. The group is led by Ivan Velikanoff, first tenor of the Russian Imperial Conservatory.

A nation-wide tribute to mothers by Edna Kellogg, soprano, is heard on KDKA at 9:30.

Dance music from the ballroom of the Hotel Schenley where the Duquesne University Junior Prom is held tonight is broadcast by WWSW for 45 minutes beginning at 11:15.

Leo Reisman, presenting an all-orchestral program on WCAE at 9:30, features a happy melange of older favorites and the latest dance music.

Friendship Town's newest resident, the golden-haired Scotch lass, Margaret Stewart, is starred with her brother, Laddie, in a program of dialect songs on KDKA at 9.

Fan Fare

James Wallington is the only announcer in the business ever to attain the heights of a stooge. First he was Cantor's, then Jessel's, and now Harry Richman's.

He became an expert announcer after learning to pronounce the name of his wife, Stanislawa Elbiebeta Elbanora Buttkiewicz . . . A veritable flood of big stage names is being offered sponsors as a result of Ed Wynn's humorous programs . . . And, according to one who should know, cartoonists may be the next class of public entertainers to try radio . . . Buddy Rogers has been chosen to open the Pennsylvania Grill, May 19 . . . Graham Harris uses a waltz he wrote for Greta Garbo's "The Flesh and the Devil" as the theme number for the O. Henry programs.

Mr. Wallington

Embryo writers have found in radio another field in which to exert their talents. There is a continuous flood of manuscripts pouring into the continuity departments of the networks and individual stations. Such leading programs as the Goldbergs, Hello Marie, Careless Love, Moonshine and Honeysuckle and the Phantom Caravan were discovered through this channel of unsolicited contributions.

Backstage glimpses at the benefit performance last Sunday: Lily Pons and Grace Moore conversing in French . . . Mme. Schumann-Heink sitting alone in a corner . . . Carmela Ponselle practicing . . . Gladys Swarthout and her husband being congratulated on their recent marriage . . . Benjamino Gigli sitting in a box until his cue.

There are 38 active announcers on the networks . . . Phil Cook, the one-man show, started to make his way in the world as an errand boy in an advertising agency.

Long's Sports Review On WCAE Tonight

An authoritative review of the week's activities in the world of sport is given by James J. Long, sports columnist of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, on WCAE tonight at 7.

Artists featured on the Sun-Telegraph Nite Club of the Air on WCAE tonight at 11 are the Lawson Sisters, Topping and Sonny Joy, with David Levin's Orchestra.

The Globe-Trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News, Louis L. Kaufman, broadcasts the latest news flashes from the editorial rooms at 9:05 a. m., 12:15 p. m., and 6:30 p. m., on WCAE.

Budding young Pittsburgh artists entertain from WCAE today at 4:45, with a half-hour program for the children under the direction of Jane White.

The American Weekly review is heard an hour earlier tomorrow night—at 6:02 p. m.—to permit WCAE listeners to hear the Kentucky Derby broadcast from 6:45 to 7:30.

BE SURE YOUR RADIO TUBES ARE ACCURATE!

Rugged strength protects the accuracy in an Eveready Raytheon Tube. Notice the four strong pillars. With this solid foundation, the fragile parts cannot move a hair's breadth from their fixed position. Other tubes have only two supports for their elements. Jolts and vibration easily impair their vital accuracy! Your dealer can demonstrate the superiority of Eveready Raytheon 4-pillar Tubes.

NATIONAL CARBON CO., INC.
General Offices: New York, N. Y.
Unit of Union Carbide — UCC — and Carbon Corporation

WARNING! The market is flooded with old, slow-heater tubes. Eveready Raytheons are quick-heaters. Modern tubes heat up in 10 seconds or less.

Admits War Peril But Holds Auto Dodging Worse

MINNEAPOLIS, May 6.—(AP.)—War may be all Sherman said it was, but take it from Samuel R. Van Sant, Minnesota's oldest living former Governor, he would rather take his chances as a soldier than as a pedestrian.

The 88-year-old Civil War veteran and former national commander of the G. A. R., recovering in a nospital from injuries suffered when an automobile knocked him down as he stepped from the curb, expressed a mild doubt about the comparative damage done by war and traffic. He said:

"You can't kill a Civil War veteran. But let me tell you something else. These automobiles are all right if you are riding in one, but they take these inside turns too fast for most of us pedestrians."

Dormont

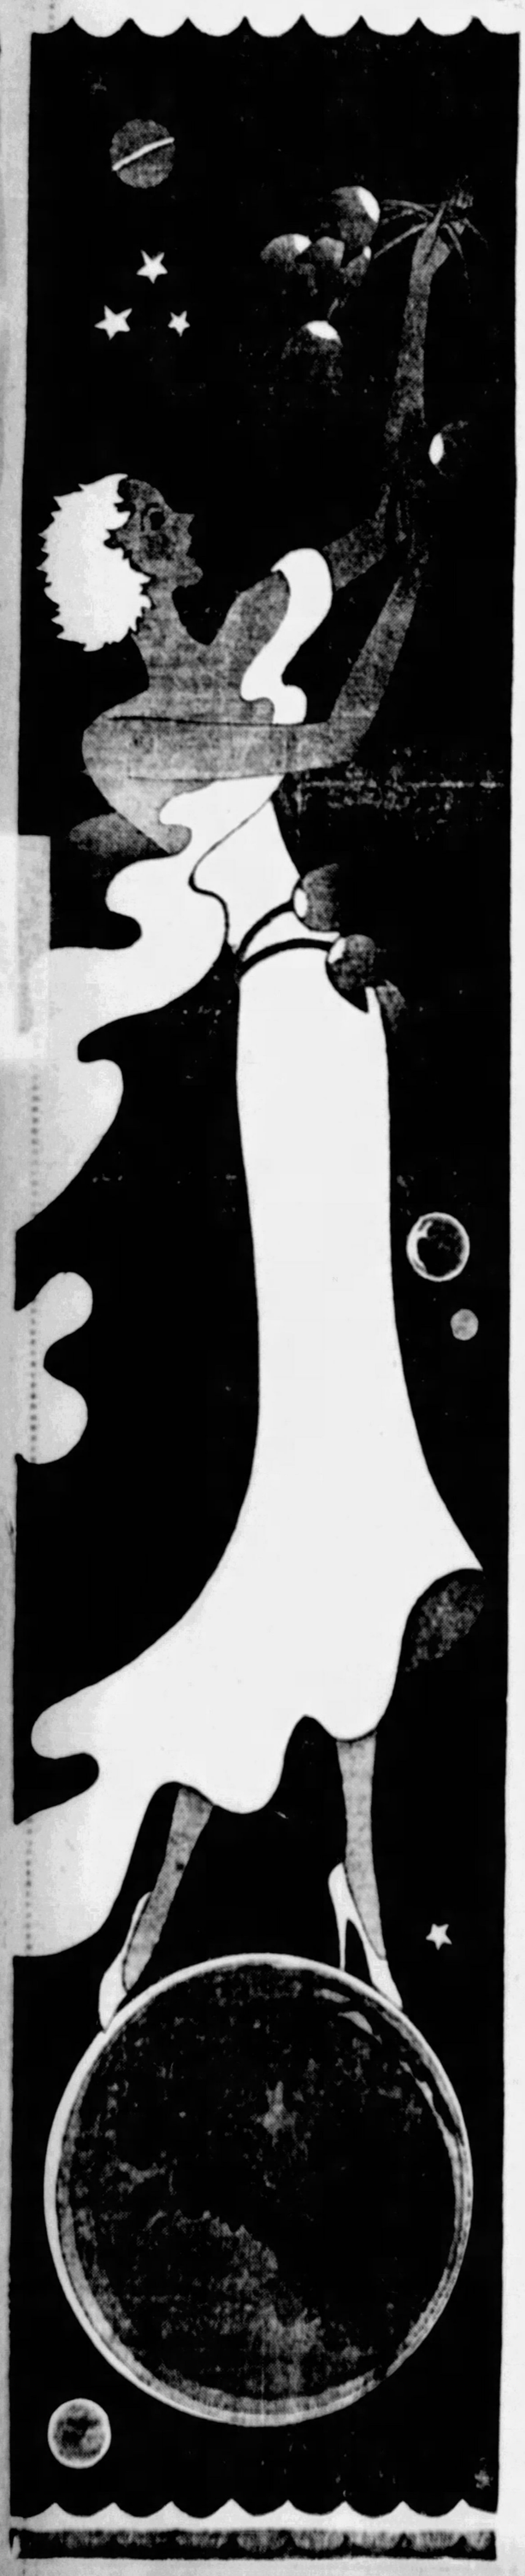
SPRING FEVER!



The Cause . . .

Blue skies . . . warmer days . . . and a knowledge that the Winter things you have been wearing are beginning to look "green" 'round the seams! Shoes are "scuffy"...gloves are dingy...and you realize that something has to be done about appearance...and done SOON!

The Symptoms . . .

The "sulphur and molasses" feeling you get when you look at the new clothes there are to be had! An inferiority complex about yourself every time you look at yourself in the mirror.. .and that "all at loose ends" impression you find yourself giving without meaning to!

Prescribed Treatment . . .

TAKE yourself in hand immediately and make up your mind whether you are going to be daintily feminine ...swaggeringly feminine...or sophisticated! Then come into town and carefully choose your wardrobe, keying it to your type! It won't be hard to do these days with the shops just full of lovely new things in every style which Spring has decreed chic for this season! Take a good dose of this treatment (but be cautious about overdoing it)...and you will find yourself cured in short order.

A. A good "dose" of a new print puts new life in most anyone! Note the "rumba" effect in these sleeves!
B. The kind of frock which gets you places! Black "sheer" with tiny lacy touches at the neck and cap sleeves!
C. Draped lines at their best! The side-closing is which everyone sings praise, and a droopy bow to accentuate the necessary shoulder width!
D. Another print of dressier nature! Lace here, too . . . and buttons—hailed as one of the season's fashionable "bits"!

The special shops and department stores here in town are full of wardrobe "cures" for your Spring fever. The advertisements in this paper are "thermometers" by which you can test out your clothes-temperature and discover just what you need most, and where to find it! Let them guide you through your "feverish" period with their true pictures of the new fashions in the shops at their new 1932 prices!

SENATOR DAIX DIES AT 66

PHILADELPHIA, May 6.—(AP.)—State Senator Augustus F. Daix, Jr., of this city, died last night in Atlantic City. Because of ill health, he had spent most of the winter at the seashore resort and had shown little recent activity in state politics. He was 66.

One time president pro-tempore of the Senate, to which he had been elected five times, Daix was one of the best known of Philadelphia's representatives in the upper House of the Assembly.

He is survived by his widow, two daughters and two sons. The funeral will be held in Philadelphia early next week.

Born in Philadelphia, October 3, 1866, Diax was educated in the public schools, and after serving a period in reading law, was admitted to the bar in 1893. Early in his law career he became interested in politics. He began his service in the State Senate in 1912.

Special Auto Tags Discarded by State

HARRISBURG, May 6.—(AP.)—In the interest of economy and efficiency of handling motor vehicle license tags, the Department of Reveunue today announced discontinuance of the practice of issuing specially numbered or lettered license plates.

The discontinuance will be effective on applications for 1933 license plates. The new rule does not apply to the special license of the Governor's office to be issued to state officials, former high state officials and friends of the Governor nor to the judiciary, legislative and National Guard licenses.

Argentina Bans Bankhead Movie

BUENOS AIRES, May 6.—(AP.)—The Foreign Office today forbade the exhibition of the motion picture "My Sin" at the request of the Minister from Panama who charged that the film "injured the dignity of a brother country."

Tallulah Bankhead and Fredric March have the leading roles in the picture.

Dull Times Bring Death Rate Drop

CHICAGO, May 6.—(AP.)—Thanks to the depression, Chicago's death rate is lower, prominent physicians observed today.

Their explanation is that fewer persons are dying because there is not so much eating and drinking but more walking and physical recreation.

Boy Scout Officials To Attend Exhibit

V. L. Huntsberger, former scout executive here, and other scout officials from neighboring counties will take part in the outdoor scoutcraft exhibition tomorrow at Westfield by Boy Scout troops of the district.

W. H. Packer and John T. Potts are co-chairmen of the exhibition which is expected to attract an audience of 5,000.

From the South today comes news of the betrothal of the daughter of former Sewickleyites. The William A. Ways, of Southern Pines, N. C., announce the engagement of their daughter, Louise Jones Way, to Robert Rose Spence, of New York, son of the George L. Spences, of Oak Park, Ill.

Mr. Way is a brother of Frederick Way, Sr., of Beaver road, Sewickley.

* * *

What has been one of the attractions of summer, the Greensburg dog show, will be canceled this year, according to Miss Margaret Coulter, always in charge of the event. So the Sewickley dog show to be held June 18 in the Allegheny Country Club show ring will be the sole event for these pets round about.

Call Off Dog Show

This is the time of year when there is much traveling. Mrs. James M. Schoonmaker, her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Earp, are expected to sail soon for the states. They plan to sail on the Empress of Britain, to arrive in Quebec May 26. After a winter in Italy, they'll go to the Schoonmaker summer estate, Sewickley Heights, for the spring and early summer season.

Mrs. Samuel McClay and her daughter, Ellen, are home from a winter in Los Angeles, where they were guests of Mrs. Charles T. Hoag. David McClay, Mrs. McClay's son, was a guest of Mrs. Hoag for a time.

* * *

The junior William H. McCraws are back in Oakmont after wintering at their Pinehurst home, Cherokee Farm. After spending the winter in the same resort, the Robert G. Morrisons have gone to their Spring Lake (N. J.) home.

Return to Oakmont

* * *

The J. Frederick Sturgeons, of the Schenley Apartments, and the H. H. Temples, of Jefferson drive, Mt. Lebanon, will leave tonight to attend the Kentucky Derby tomorrow.

* * *

Attending the Kentucky Derby tomorrow at Churchill Downs will be the junior William Christopher Robinsons, Henry Oliver, Jr., the W. L. Standishes, the James O. Flowers, Genevieve Bell, the Henry Olivers, who have been at Poplar Hills Farm, their Lexington (Ky.) home, Mr. and Mrs. Ogden M. Edwards, their daughter, Katherine.

Voters League Unit Organized in Avalon

A new unit of the League of Women Voters, which has been organized in Avalon, has chosen these officers: Chairman, Mrs. W. E. Michel; vice chairman, Mrs. Carl Behrhorst; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. William H. White. The members have set the second Wednesday of the month as their meeting day and next week will gather in Mrs. R. J. Dunbar's home, California avenue. A dialogue, "Selling the League," will be presented by Mrs. A. H. Bowman and Mrs. Behrhorst. Mrs. William Gorman will discuss current events and Mrs. H. K. Griffin, chairman of the committee on international co-operation to prevent war, will speak.

Fashion Pageant To Be Given In Church

Mrs. H. M. McKenry, Mrs. Lewis Brandt, Mrs. A. W. Taylor and Mrs. H. H. Turner will direct a costume pageant, depicting styles from the present day, through the Gibson girl era, to wedding fashions of a century ago, this evening at 8 o'clock in the Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church, Forbes street and Murray avenue. The Woman's Missionary Society is sponsoring the benefit event.

The St. Mary's High School Alumni Association will present a benefit play Wednesday evening, May 18, in the Catholic High School auditorium in Fifth avenue.

* * *

Miss Mary Dwyer and Miss Mary Hisrich will be hostesses at a card party in the Cathedral High School tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for the benefit of the Little Sisters of the Poor. Court Duquesne, No. 659, Catholic Daughters of America, is sponsoring the party.

* * *

The Mercy Nurses' Alumnæ of Mercy Hospital will give a benefit play in Mercy auditorium Monday and Tuesday, in the form of a burlesque on the radio, called "Station M. H. N. A. Studio Recital."

Nurses to Give Play

The proceeds will be contributed to funds for the various charities in which the organization is interested. Miss Mary Walton is president, and her committee includes Miss Kathryn Beatty, publicity; Miss Alice Casey, programs; Miss Helen Bradley, tickets, and Miss Sue M. Soisson, social chairman.

* * *

On Wednesday morning Miss Anne Litzinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Litzinger, of Ridge avenue, East Pittsburgh, became the bride of James P. McGivern, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. McGivern, of Howard street, East Pittsburgh, in St. William's Roman Catholic Church.

Married In Church

Miss Burnadette Hisrich was maid of honor, and Thomas Groark, cousin of the bridegroom, served as best man.

After the ceremony the wedding breakfast was served in the Litzinger home for the families. Mr. and Mrs. McGivern left on a motor trip.

* * *

Another boat ride, such as has been so successfully held in the past, will be sponsored by the Allegheny County League of Women Voters June 11, on the steamer Washington. The boat will leave the Wood street wharf at 2 o'clock and will go down the river to Rochester.

Mrs. Nicklas Feted at Luncheon And Given Gold for Welfare Work at Social Center

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

Mrs. J. B. Nicklas, Jr., retiring president of the Mt. Lebanon Woman's Club, who has consistently refused honors from her organization, was guest of honor yesterday at a surprise luncheon given by the board of directors in Mrs. Robert E. Chew's home, Cochran road. In appreciation of her services to the club, a gold piece was presented to Mrs. Nicklas to be used at the club's social center at Castle Shannon, a welfare activity which she instituted during her administration.

At the beginning of her regime Mrs. Nicklas requested the board to omit the usual president's reception and to use the money it would have entailed for welfare work.

A large audience will hear the music week program sponsored by the Sewickley Music Club tonight in the Sewickley High School auditorium. Assembly singing will open and close the program, Paul N. Critchlow leading. Of course "America" is included, since music week is celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of its composition.

Music Program

Mrs. Mira D. C. Bowman, president of the club, will make a short address of welcome and under the direction of Miss Emily Stewart, grade school children from Coraopolis, Edgeworth, Leetsdale and Sewickley public schools will sing a group of three numbers. Miss Margaret Rae will contribute the first movement of MacDowell's "Eroica Sonata," and Robert H. Hughes will follow with vocal solos. Amanda Vierheller will direct the Music Club Choral in choruses from Eugene Stillman Kelley's "Alice in Wonderland," the Sewickley High School Orchestra completing the recital with two selections. Accompanists include Mary Eberson, Margaret Rae, Dorothy Leece Rice and Daniel Nevin.

COTTON SCORES FOR EVENING GARMENTS

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, May 6.—Again we are cottoning to the mode that sponsors evening frocks of cotton fabrics. And very nice and crisp these frocks are, too, perfectly ideal for summer evenings and offering both coolness and comfort. Several designers are featuring such frocks, with Chanel very much in the lead. For she is ever associated with simplicity. Her reputation has been made by homely homespun, cotton, simple one-piece models, and jewelry of glass or metal. These things she has invested with such glamor that the woman of wealth and lineage is proud to wear the type of frock that is in direct antithesis to the type of thing that was worn by fashionable women until the advent of Chanel. Her new cotton pique frocks are ever so good-looking. White linen evening frocks are good, too; some of them with fine cut-out work and other decorative devices. A most sensible idea this of using linen and cotton for evening frocks when the nights are overly warm and a roof garden is the only refuge from too much climate.

* * *

WE SHOW a sketch of a frock that is just waiting for summer nights to show its charms. It is a Chanel model, one of a trio of cotton pique evening frocks shown in her newest collection, just revealed. Each frock is trimmed with leis of organdie flowers, matching the color of the frock. The three models shown on three separate mannequins were in white, in blue and in red. A slight variation on the cut of each must be noted, but all are distinguished by a trim, simple and rather tailored air, with buckled belts and crisp, flaring skirts.

County Dismisses 120 More; Planning Staff Ousted

BANK RECORDS OF HIRSH SOUGHT IN SENATE PROBE

COUNTY DROPS 17 PLAN BOARD WORKERS

Mansfield Wins Revision of List of 95 Sub-Assessors To Go; 8 Others Dropped

The County Commissioners have removed 120 more persons from the payroll. The action was taken at a meeting of the three Commissioners late yesterday. Chairman C. C. McGovern attended for the first time since he broke his ankle more than six weeks ago.

Of those dismissed 95 were sub-assessors in the Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes. They were furloughed until June 1, or "thereafter until their services are again required." The whole working personnel of the Planning Commission, 17 employes, was ousted, effective May 15.

Six employes of the board in the transcribing room were dismissed as well as two others, Henry W. Schuette, supervisor of the transcribing room, and John J. Kearns, clerk.

LIST'S ORIGIN ARGUED

Prior to the action by the board there was an interchange of opinions by Commissioners C. M. Barr and W. D. Mapsfield.

Mansfield, when Barr mentioned the list of those to be removed, said he had never seen any such list. Barr said he had not seen it either, but had "tossed it in the safe" when it was given to him by the head of the Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes.

George E. Meyers, chairman of the board, was asked by Barr:

"You furnished a recommendation as to names of persons to be dispensed with, didn't you?"

Meyers denied it and when Barr showed him the list said:

"I never saw that list."

M'GOVERN INTERVENES

Mansfield asked where the list originated and Barr answered:

"Mister, you are asking me something I don't know. It's been in my safe a month."

McGovern then interposed:

"I have only one interest in this matter and that is to balance the budget. The payroll must be curtailed."

Mansfield then said:

"I am for saving every dollar possible, but I do not believe in firing experienced assessors. There are some on the replacement list that should not be hired as assessors. Who picked these people?"

Barr replied:

"Harry Workmaster. My pledge was to get the best people for the jobs. Workmaster, the contact man, is very capable."

MEYERS TO REVISE LIST

Mansfield persisted:

"It would be a crime to make an assessor out of one man that you have on this list and it would be a crime to fire one you have slated for dismissal. He is a helpless cripple and the sole support of his mother. Three of the six you are firing are from McKeesport."

The discussion ended with a motion to have Meyers submit a revised list of the 95 to be removed. Mansfield thereby won a point, as he appointed Meyers.

WAR VETERANS OUSTED

On motion of Mrs. J. O. Miller, vice chairman, seconded by Mrs. Mary Flinn Lawrence, also a vice chairman, at an executive session of the Planning Commission, all the employes were dismissed effective May 15. Those discharged are James B. Sansom, secretary, Spanish-American War veteran; Coleman Murphy, chief engineer; John A. Stanger, assistant engineer, World War veteran; John K. Roth, engineer; William Davis, transitman; Joseph Drexler, transitman; Harman D. Hawkins, levelman, World War veteran; James M. Harmon, James F. Hook, rodmen; George A. Douglass, chainman; Herbert Ziefel and George J. Lavelle, axmen, with 15 years service; Robert A. Caldwell, draftsman; Sinclair T. Powell, World War veteran, and Louis Fontaine Baker, Spanish-American War veteran.

The Commissioners' resolution not to dismiss war veterans, women without other means of support and employes with 15 or more years in the county service, was ignored by the new board of county planners.

The action was taken after a conference with Commissioner McGovern. Explaining the action, McGovern said:

"The payroll of the Planning Commission is $3,263 a month. There is absolutely no work for them to do at present. The personnel will be reorganized when it becomes necessary."

Counsel for Man Linked in Vote Machine Sales Says All Data Will Be Given

Charges of Assistant County Solicitor Ralph H. Frank that Attorney H. D. Hirsh has repudiated his promise to exhibit records in the voting machine investigation including bank accounts and income tax returns, were given cognizance today by the Senate Voting Machine Committee, which will hold an inquiry Monday in Harrisburg.

This became known when it was learned that the committee will issue subpenas on the Potter Title and Trust Company for records showing Hirsh's deposits and checks paid.

Whether these records will be subpenaed for the meeting in Harrisburg or for a later hearing in Pittsburgh, is dependent on whether M. C. Conick, chief auditor of Main and Company, is able to be in Harrisburg Monday, it was said. Conick is now attending the Kline-Succop trial in Butler.

The net result of a four-hour conference held last night in the law offices of Attorney O. K. Eaton was the issuance of conflicting statements from both sides of the case.

VIEWS CONFLICT

Assistant County Solicitor Frank issued this statement:

"As was to have been expected, Mr. H. D. Hirsh completely repudiated his promise made to Mr. Conick (chief auditor for Main & Co.) and me at Baltimore last Thursday to exhibit the financial records of the Electromatic Vote Machine Corporation and of himself and his associates in this enterprise, including the records of their bank accounts and income tax returns.

"Instead, what was exhibited to us was a set of papers, prepared for the occasion, of what Mr. Hirsh thought we already knew. Mr. Conick and I were refused explanation of any items appearing on these papers.

"If there were any reasons before this evening to suspect the relations of Mr. Hirsh and his associates in this corporation with the voting machine situation, those reasons are now a thousand times stronger. No further steps will be taken until I have had an opportunity to consult with the County Solicitor."

EATON STATEMENT

Eaton issued a statement which contradicted Frank's, as follows:

"We gave them all the contracts we have, the minute books of the Electromatic Company and a statement of the amount advanced by Mr. Hirsh and his associates in the development of this transaction, with a statement of the royalties received from the Poole Engineering and Machine Company. They claim they also asked for bank books and income tax statements. Mr. Hirsh denies that he promised to produce these. However, all of these books will be produced at the hearing before the Senate committee.

Hirsh promised to produce C. G. Brown, of Jones & Brown, Grant Building, who, as secretary of the Electromatic Vote Machine Company, received the $160,000 paid by the Poole Company in royalties or commissions; F. I. Hirsh, treasurer, and E. N. Rosenthal, whose connection with the transaction has not been made public, this morning for service of the Senate committee subpenas.

CITES BUSINESS GIRLS' PLIGHT

The peril of business and professional women has become one of the most dramatic problems of today, according to Mrs. D. Edwin Miller, chairman of women's organizations in the Salvation Army drive for relief funds.

Mrs. Miller delivered an address to her fellow workers late yesterday in which she said:

"Conditions have reached to a stage where neither you nor I can tell when we may be compelled to look for counsel and help."

She recited cases of economic defeat that had befallen cultured young women who formerly occupied high positions and who now were penniless.

Mrs. Miller conducts the Salvation Army department which obtains positions or supplies financial aid to women. She is directing women workers who will solicit funds in the drive for $112,000 to maintain the army philanthropy for the ensuing year.

I. K. S. Athletic Jamboree Tonight

The Irene Kaufmann Settlement will hold its yearly athletic jamboree tonight and the winners of the six basketball leagues will receive their awards. Norman Grodstein, Paul Landau and Joe Garcia will receive gold medals for being chosen the best all-around athletes of the year.

The I. K. S. volleyball team, A. A. U. champ, will meet Wyona.

Man Dies Serving Short Jail Term

James Donovan, 40, short term prisoner in the county jail, committed April 29 by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg on a drunkenness charge, died today. An autopsy was ordered by the coroner.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 6.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Spring has been late arriving this year, but yesterday, on the front page she got here. It was the old familiar figure of Citizen Calvin Coolidge wading in the creek. When that distinguished weather mark takes his hip boots out of dry dock, and launches forth with rod and cigar into a spring freshet, America knows she can then shed her woolens, and enjoy her depression in the open air.

Will Rogers

The picture showed he had a little "perch" in his hand, and the same grin on his face that he wore on that memorable day in Washington when he, with due premeditation, and malice aforethought, slipped the custodianship of these whole United States into the innocent hands of Herbert Hoover. You can't blame him for grinning, if he never caught a fish.

Yours, WILL.

CIVIC CLUB SETS STUDENT TESTS

The twenty-third semi-annual tests for exceptionally able youths will be held tomorrow morning by the Civic Club of Allegheny County in Room 104, Industries Building, Carnegie Tech. Dr. Roswell H. Johnson, chairman of the committee, announced the work will include both intelligence and scholastic achievement items.

Only a limited number of students from each high school are permitted to take the tests, which are not considered in the nature of a contest between schools, but as a co-operative attempt to discover those high school seniors in the county who qualify as exceptionally able youths. The results of the tests will be used in making recommendations to scholarship-granting agencies.

VOLPE CALLED TO PLEAD

Federal District Attorney Louis E. Graham today notified 125 defendants in 107 criminal cases to appear in Federal Court tomorrow for arraignment if they intend to enter pleas of guilty. All except 19 of the cases were brought under the prohibition act.

Among those listed is Louis Volpe, brother of John Volpe, former Westinghouse Valley political figure, who was indicted last week with Alfredo Corleto and W. W. Wallace on a charge of selling liquor in Wilmerding.

The District Attorney's office frequently sets aside a day for arraignment on pleas in order to relieve congestion at the regular terms of court, it was explained.

Horseshoe Pitchers In Endurance Test

A horseshoe pitching endurance contest supposed to run 100 hours was started at noon yesterday by five men on a vacant lot at 1032 Forbes street.

The participants are William Connors, 21; Regis Bane, 19; Orlando Pilardi, 19; Morry Wise, 18, and John Barnes, 21. They play 48 minutes every hour, resting 12. The men receive all the attention of professional athletes. They have a manager, trainer and timekeeper, and are expecting a money prize.

Man Near Death Found on Tracks

Suffering from a fractured skull, lacerations to the face and hands, an unidentified man, aged about 35, was found along the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks near Merchant street, early today. Detectives said the man had either fallen or had been thrown from a train.

He was taken to Allegheny General Hospital, where his condition is critical.

Five Pupils Injured In School Explosion

MILLVILLE, N. J., May 6.—(AP.)—Five juniors in the Millville High School were cut by glass when a large test tube exploded during a chemistry demonstration before the school assembly today. Two of them had bits of glass removed from their eyes, but physicians said they would not lose their sight.

MISS LOUISE LINN . . . . ELECTED THE PITT SENIOR QUEEN

Miss Linn, 20, Philadelphia avenue, Dormont, announced today as the Senior Queen, highest honor annually conferred upon a graduating co-ed at Pitt. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell, Aged Church Leader, Dies in Hospital

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Miller Campbell, 87, widow of Hugh C. Campbell, and one of the most active and widely known churchwomen in the country, will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow in the Sixth United Presbyterian Church, of which she was a member.

Mrs. Campbell died yesterday in Columbia Hospital, Wilkinsburg. She was taken there in January, 1931, with a fractured hip. Last May she went home, only to return in August with a fracture of her other hip. In March of this year she contracted influenza, which hastened her death.

During the greater part of her time in the hospital, Mrs. Campbell continued to direct her numerous church activities, holding conferences in her room with her assistants and other workers.

She had been president of the United Presbyterian Women's Association since 1888 and was a charter member of the Women's General Missionary Society, serving for 22 years as home secretary and as foreign secretary since 1905.

Mrs. Campbell, who lived at 340 South Highland avenue, leaves a sister, Mrs. Robert Wardrop, of 605 Academy avenue, Sewickley, and a nephew, H. Campbell Shaw, 2200 Beechwood boulevard, to whose home the body was taken. She was born in Dunbarton, Scotland, but came to America when a small girl.

Man Shot in Fight By Special Officer

John S. Barnett, 35, Negro janitor, of 6317 Douglas street, was shot in the stomach last night by Special Patrolman "Pink" Henry, Negro, of the Hill district, when the latter attempted to quell an argument involving Barnett and two other Negroes. Henry told homicide detectives Barnett threatened him with a revolver. Barnett was taken to Passavant Hospital. His condition was critical.

Helen Keller Begins Vacation in England

LOOE, Cornwall, England, May 6.—(INS.)—Helen Keller, the American blind author and lecturer, arrived here today for a month's vacation.

In June Miss Keller will go to Glasgow, where the University of Glasgow will confer upon her the honorary degree of LL. D.

Railroad Bomb Blast Perils Egypt Premier

CAIRO, Egypt, May 6.—(INS.)—Premier Ismail Sidky Pasha narrowly escaped death or serious injury today when a bomb, placed to blow up a train on which he was riding, exploded prematurely. The bomb blew up the tracks, digging a large hole in the ground.

Gridiron Star Kills Sweetheart, Self

PANOLA, Ala., May 6.—(AP.)—William S. (Country) Oliver, 28, former University of Alabama football star, shot and killed his sweetheart, Miss Lottie Simmons, 21, critically wounded his brother, Clate Oliver, 45, and killed himself here today.

BOMB FOUND AT DYEING PLANT

A bomb, made of a 10-inch length of 4-inch pipe, was found in the yard at the rear of the B. & C. Cleaning Company early today.

A. G. Morrone, 133 Carver street, manager of the cleaning company, called East End police, who found the bomb had a 2-foot fuse which had not been lighted.

Morrone said he knew of no reason for its appearance in the company yard and said there had been no threats made against him or other officials of the company.

Police took the pipe to the East End station for examination.

BRIDGE MEET TO BE HELD

A week of contract bridge classes terminating with a tournament on Saturday will be conducted next week by Mrs. Aileen McCabe, nationally known expert, at the Kaufmann Store auditorium.

The classes will be conducted each afternoon. Trophies will be a feature of the tournament. Mrs. McCabe was a student of Ely Culbertson and for many years was his partner at play. She collaborated on Culbertson's Blue Book of Contract Bridge and assisted in organizing 1,600 bridge teachers into the Culbertson National Studios. She is technical editor of Bridge World.

PITT AWARDS ANNOUNCED

The selection of John W. Stirling, Jr., as winner of the university award, Louise Linn as senior queen and Christine Ruoff as alma mater, the queen's attendant, were announced by Chancellor John G. Bowman at the University of Pittsburgh's tap day ceremonies, which climaxed the school's annual spring festival.

The university award carries with it a $100 cash prize, and is a continuation of the former George Wharton Pepper prize, given yearly to the student voted by his fellows as the most representative undergraduate.

Miss Linn and Miss Ruoff are accorded the highest honors to be given co-eds of the graduating class.

Gasoline Dealers Told to Get Permits

HARRISBURG, May 6.—(AP.)—The Department of Revenue today warned all gasoline distributors who have not obtained their permits for the year beginning June 1, and ending May 31, 1933, that they will not receive them unless they are registered before the end of this month.

The distributors are required to furnish a new surety bond, and the department said this must be filed before May 15.

Terms of 118 Nudists Aggregate 354 Years

NELSON, B. C., May 6.—(AP.)—One hundred and eighteen members of the Doukhobor sect today awaited removal to federal prisons to begin serving sentences which aggregate 354 years.

The sentencing, said to have been the speediest recorded in a Canadian court, took place within two hours yesterday. All of them admitted the charge of parading unclothed in public.

Great to Be a Reformer--They Go Everywhere

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Our advice to reformers is not to waste their time any place but in New York.

Yesterday one reformer visited twelve speakeasies. He ate and drank and Uncle Sam signed the tab.

Another agent saw three burlesque shows and got sore because he had to pay his own carfare home.

The toughest of all the investigators was a guy who took a microscope to the flea circus on Forty-second street.

But the fleas had been tipped off. They all blacked up like Jolson and sang mammy songs.

Boys, this is the heaven for reformers. They see everything and go places other people can't afford.

Watch the railroad ads for excursion rates to New York.

Police Lieutenant Injured in Chase

Detected standing alongside a broken window in a service station in Brownsville road, Carrick, early today, a robber fled as Lieut. Frank McNichols and Patrolman Elford arrived. The officers gave chase, firing four shots. In the chase McNichols fell and suffered a sprained ankle. He was treated at Mercy Hospital. Police are holding Lawrence Theobold, 19, Overbrook, for investigation.

FUNDS IN SIGHT FOR REOPENING OF BANK

Needed Capital Subscribed In Homewood; H. G. Nevin Agreed on as President

A reorganization committee, headed by George R. Dorman, announced today that the required amount of new capital necessary for the reopening of the Homewood Peoples Bank had been subscribed and a plan satisfactory to the state banking department adopted.

Hugh G. Nevin, formerly with the Union Trust Company of Cleveland, and son of Joseph C. Nevin, managing director of the Pittsburgh branch, Federal Reserve Bank, of Cleveland, has been agreed upon by the committee as president of the re-organized institution. A notice mailed to stockholders read:

"We are assured by J. C. Chaplin, president of the Colonial Trust Company, that a plan for re-opening this bank will meet with the approval of the secretary of banking, and the machinery is set up to that end."

William D. Gordon, state secretary of banking, was in Pittsburgh Tuesday and Wednesday and conferred with Chaplin.

More than half of the $150,000 of the "new money" required for the new bank has been subscribed and half of it paid in, Dorman said. The Colonial Trust Company is trustee depository for stock payments. Two thousand shares have been subscribed at $75 each, $50 of which goes into the capital account and $25 to surplus. The money was pledged by more than 700 individuals.

When the Homewood Bank closed October 6 it had 14,000 depositors with more than $3,000,000 on deposit.

DUNN SEES CITY LEADING BOOM

When the wheels of Pittsburgh's industries begin to turn all America will begin to prepare for an immediate upturn in business, Thomas A. Dunn, president of the Chamber of Commerce, told the Greater Pittsburgh Milk Dealers' Association in the Fort Pitt Hotel last night. He said:

"The eyes of the nation are on Pittsburgh today. They are not looking toward Wall street for signs of better times, but to Pittsburgh. They know Pittsburgh is fundamentally sound and that it will lead the country out of the depression. We don't know when that will be, but those of us who have outridden 'hard times' before feel certain we'll ride out of this with colors flying."

Vet Wins $9,027 In Insurance Suit

Francis M. Darragh, of Pittsburgh, a war veteran, was awarded $9,027.50 by a Federal court jury in a suit he brought against the government to recover on a $10,000 war risk insurance policy, because of permanent disability. It was testified before Judge R. M. Gibson that Darragh was gassed and suffered shell shock in France.

William Coles, alias George Floyd, a Negro, yesterday was brought from Columbus, O., and turned over to the United States marshal for trial on a charge of forging a $12 government check.

He was said to have passed the check which was issued to Samuel Caldwell, of Colwell street, at a Wylie avenue store in payment for a suit of clothes on September 3, 1931.

STATE DENTISTS NAME OFFICERS

HARRISBURG, May 6.—(AP.)—The Pennsylvania State Dental Society closed its annual convention last night after sessions which began Tuesday.

Dr. George Coleman, Philadelphia, was elected president.

Other officers chosen were: H. C. Metz, Pittsburgh, vice president; Walter E. Lotz, Tyrone, second vice president; C. W. Hamm, Pittsburgh, secretary; M. M. Marcus, Philadelphia, assistant secretary, and James Brady, Philadelphia, treasurer.

Trustees elected were: George Meisel, Pittsburgh; A. Reynolds, Philadelphia; H. Roberts, Johnsonburg; O. Specker, Reading; K. Hollis Lapp, Malvern; J. V. O'Donovan, Connelsville; R. Sample, Erie; W. Davis, Wilkes-Barre; F. D. Miller, Altoona; and A. E. Miller, Sunbury.

21 Receive Degrees At Western Seminary

President William Mather Lewis, of Lafayette College, spoke last night at commencement exercises of the Western Theological Seminary in the First Presbyterian Church. George K. Kiehl was awarded the S. S. Marvin memorial fellowship, entitling him to a year's study abroad. The class awarded degrees numbered 21.

Lawmakers Urged To Balk U. S. Pay Cut

A resolution asking Pennsylvania's two senators and five congressmen to use their influence to prevent salary reductions among government employes was voted at a meeting of the Pittsburgh Central Labor Union in Carpenters Hall last night.

The resolution expressed the belief that if the government sets the example in wage slashing, "it will sound the alarm to the nation that the economic depression is permanent, with the undoubted result that every employer, large and small, will still further reduce wages."

"I'd be ashamed to go to their house to dinner—look at my wretched 'dishpan' hands."

"I'm proud of my hands now . . . Just one week's dishwashing with those lovely Lux suds has left them white and smooth again."

COMMERCE MEN OPPOSE COAL MEASURE

Fight Federal Control Plan; See Trade Handicap; Anti-Trust Laws Rapped

Citing eight objections, the Chamber of Commerce, by action of its board of directors, last night declared "absolute opposition" to the Davis-Kelly coal bill before Congress.

With the chamber's resolution sent to Washington, where hearings are in progress, went the suggestion to Senators and Representatives that the federal anti-trust laws be modified as to their application to the natural-resource industries of the country, to permit consolidations and mergers in the interest of these industries and the development of regional sales agencies.

HARM TO TRADE SEEN

Declaring the Davis-Kelly bill would be ruinous to the coal business of Western Pennsylvania, and therefore to the entire district, because of the dependence of other major industries on the coal trade, the chamber's action cites that the bill proposes "that the management of the coal industry be placed in the hands of five government commissioners, whose powers are not definitely defined."

The chamber decried the theory that government control would cure over-production in the coal industry, asserting such a condition exists in most major industries in the country, and declaring regulation by commission in most cases where it has been tried "is very largely held to have been unsuccessful."

UNION CLAUSE ATTACKED

It was declared no provision is made by the bill requiring the incorporation of unions to fix their responsibility, "but the participation in regional sales agencies by operators is conditioned upon the acceptance of the unionization of their mines," and that such an arrangement would legalize wage differentials between coal mining districts and could only result in handicapping the Western Pennsylvania district, already held back by freight rate differentials favoring other fields.

Pittsburgher Urges Rate Cut on Coal

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(AP.)—A suggestion that Congress put a tariff on fuel oil and direct the Interstate Commerce Commission to reduce freight rates on coal to remedy depression in the coal industry was made yesterday by a southern operator to the Senate Mining Committee.

H. N. Eavenson, of Pittsburgh, operator of mines in Harlan County, Ky., testifying in opposition to the Davis-Kelly coal stabilization bill, said he was not in such a "terribly bad" condition anyway.

Referring to a section of the bill which provides for collective bargaining, Eavenson said:

"As an association, we think we should be allowed to operate our mines nonunion just as long as it pleases our employes and ourselves. It's a matter of principle."

Eavenson said "if Congress wished to help the coal industry" it would "put a tariff on fuel oil" and "direct the Interstate Commerce Commission to reduce coal freight rates."

Eavenson argued that if federal regulation was attempted it should apply to coal shipped in intrastate as well as interstate commerce and to all competing fuels, including oil and gas.

Representative Kelly replied that bituminous coal seemed to be "in a worse condition than any of them."

Eavenson replied he was "not so sure about that," saying there was "very little difference" between the condition of the coal industry and steel, lumber and copper. He said:

"As far as takng care of the men is concerned, we are doing a better job than some of the other businesses which are supposed to be making money."

PRANKSTER CROW IS POPULAR

Children Like Bird That Waits for Them at Church

The "first citizen" of Thornburg, by more or less popular consent, is "Pat," 5-year-old tame crow, pet of Bill Davis, Thornburg Country Club greens keeper. Pat is especially the favorite of children for miles around.

He follows them to school, sits on the sill, taps at the window, greets them at recess and accompanies them home. He visits them at their playhouse shanty in the field near the golf links. On Sunday mornings he goes to St. Philips' Church in Crafton, half a mile away, perches on the steps and waits for his little friends to come out. He circles round and round while the children play at games, "cawing" and scolding" in noisy fashion. His master said:

"Sometimes he picks out one child who appears afraid and persists in pestering him. One day I set out several rows of young onions. Presently Pat made a racket at my window and I knew he had been up to mischief. Sure enough, every onion was dug up and laid neatly on top of the ground. If I take a nap in the afternoon, he waits until I am asleep, steals my tobacco from my pocket and scatters it about."

Pat is the neighborhood scourge on wash-day, Davis said. He perches on clothes-lines, plucks out the clothespins and drops the clean, wet clothes to the ground.

Another rascally trick which adds nothing to Pat's popularity among the older generation, is his habit of picking tops of milk bottles, tipping them over and smilling the milk. He often brings home coins left in empty milk bottles.

The sleek, black rascal is thoroughly domesticated and pays no attention to wild crows that occasionally try to entice him away, Davis said.

Members of the Pittsburgh Hiking Club will walk, Sunday, to Groveton from Fleming Park, H. T. Morris, of 1645 Memorial drive, Mt. Lebanon, the secretary, said today. The hikers will take the Sewickley car from the Downtown section at 1:30 p. m. and will ride to the end of the first fare zone.

Superior Court Ends Session Here

The Pennsylvania Superior Court concluded its session here yesterday, completing four weeks of arguments on a heavy calendar of appeals from Allegheny and other counties of Western Pennsylvania.

Comrades Honor Retired Patrolmen

A farewell celebration for Patrolmen Harvey D. Ward, 44, of 2114 Carson street, and Colin A. Gallagher, 46, of 230 Merrimac street, who retired yesterday on pension, was held last night at West End Police Station. Both men entered the city's employ March 19, 1909, and had served continuously since as patrolmen. Gallagher was presented with a watch and chain and Ward received a clock and Gladstone bag.

Hazelwood Dance To Aid Afflicted

Gas Victim's Widow Sues for Insurance

Mrs. Sadie Jaffe, of Tarentum, has filed a suit in Federal Court against the Fidelity and Casualty Company, New York, seeking to recover $7,500 on an insurance policy she declared was held by her husband, Frank Jaffe. He died December 24, after being overcome by monoxide gas from his automobile in a Tarentum garage.

Mrs. Jaffe said the policy covered accidental death, but the company refused payment.

THIRD FLOOR

Walter Winchell ON BROADWAY

(During illness of Mr. Winchell, this column is being conducted by Paul Yawitz)

"Some bright boy," specials Norman Anthony, "has gone to the trouble of having engraved cards made with my name on them as editor of Ballyhoo and is circularizing the speaks and restaurants with said cards and notes saying that I am in a jam and please send $35 to 101st St. and Riverside Dr. What puzzles me is why they ask for $35. Also, don't they know that editors never get in a jam and, also, if they knew anything about me they ought to realize I never had a business card in my life."

That's nothing, Norman. I never had a business.

Uhmmm!

Honey Burns fires us with his simile: As modest as Harry Richman singing "Two Loves Have I." And Sid Weiss convulses himself with: As relaxed as a deep sea diver taking a bath.

Wordage!

The April 21st issue of the London Cinema drifts across the Chit-Chatlantic Ocean with the following review of "Spirit of the West," a Carl Laemmle opus:

"Knowledgeable directions and breezy portrayal secure fast-moving and sustained succession of typical Western action and presents neatly blended variety of facile gun-play, spectacular horse-driving and hearty fisticuffs, with acceptable touches of gauche comedy, appealing romance and effective he-man characterizations."

Just one English-speaking country to another!

George Aids

A small East Side merchant told Harvey George that times are so bad he is having a bankruptcy sale and means it . . . that in Hollywood they are calling it a super-depression . . . that gag-men out there are running around in packs . . . and that he knows a resourceful fellow who has trained the wolf at his door to snap at bill collectors.

My Ambition

I've wanted all my life
To foof upon a fife.
—Al Klein.

Ye Olde Columne

Art Jarrett prizes a collection of 17th century pamphlets printed in England during the reign of Charles the Second. According to his ancient clips it was the custom of the single men of the era to advertise on the London bulletin boards if they were ready to marry. Some of the notices that appeared pack an honestness that dwarfs the modern matrimonial ads into the humbleness of an evening prayer.

Among them are:

"A country gentleman who has a very fine home 20 to 30 miles off London, and a very considerable estate, seeks a very proper comely person, but not witty.

"A stout proportioned man who had a good property before fire.

"For the brewer's daughter: A lace man who loves the smell of malt and good ale, of good height and stature, stomach answerable.

"A young gentleman, now learning to dance, wants a wife to guide him.

"An ancient gentleman, purchasing an estate, wants a rich wife to stand by him.

"A Goldsmith, near the Royal Exchange, a widower of very considerable ambitions, besides a good trade, will make a very good husband."

No Complaint

Nowadays when one complains about finding gum on theater seats, avers Leonard Gaynor, the exploiter, it's usually because there's no flavor left in it.

From Mfr. to Consumer!

There are a few burlesque emporiums on Ballyhood blvd. lending a new slant to the old ticket scalpers' racket. When you apply at the box-office for seats during the hours when the orchestra is fairly well filled, you are told that the theater is sold out. But before you have a chance to put your money back in your pocket, an unctuous gent approaches you from out of nowhere and proffers "good seats right under the chorus line."

With such a sales talk, you pay him an advance on the printed price and hurry in. But what you forgot in your haste is to notice that the money you paid for your pasteboards goes right into the management's till. The alleged speculator is just an employe of the house and the scheme adds an extra 50 cents to the gross.

And Mother and Country!

From Capone-ville Bill Morrow forwards the yarn about the screemie star who was in the habit of taking a daily sun bath, much to the delight of males who secreted themselves in points of vantage.

One day her super-maid informed her it was cloudy out and therefore impossible to take a sunning.

"That makes no difference," stormed the actress. "The sun is unimportant, my public comes first."

'Washington' In Hearst News

THE GLOBE TROTTER

One of the most colorful pictures ever shown, the re-enactment of the scenes of George Washington's inauguration as President of the United States 143 years ago, is in the current issue of Hearst Metrotone News, showing in the Penn, Fulton and other theaters. There is a graphic description by the Globe Trotter. The pictures, part of the bicentennial celebration, show "General Washington" being rowed across the Hudson River to the Battery.

He lands and proceeds up Broadway and to Fifth avenue in an old faded coach as he did when these two streets were but country lanes. The parade in which soldiers, wearing costumes of the long ago, participate, ends in Bryant Park before the recently erected replica of Federal Hall. "Washington" is shown standing on the balcony taking the oath as first President of the United States.

SILENT CAL ANGLES

Calvin Coolidge, former President of the United States, is seen on the estate of his friend, former Senator McLean, at Simsbury, Conn., fishing for trout. Mr. Coolidge shows he's an expert with rod and line as he hauls in a fine mess of fish. Throughout, he is the most silent of fishermen. He says not a word!

Mrs. Hoover and other notables are among the spectators at the Chevy Chase Country Club in Washington, where the United States team defeats the Canadian stars in the tennis doubles for the American zone Davis cup eliminations. They applaud vociferously as Johnny Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison overwhelm their opponents, Dr. Jack Wright and Marcel Rainville, winning in straight sets, 6-2, 6-1, 6-2.

The 2,685th anniversary of the founding of Rome by Romulus is celebrated in the Piazza del Popolo in Rome by an enormous crowd of 400,000. The date also is celebrated as Italy's Labor Day and 100,000 youths are inducted into the Fascisti ranks, Premier Mussolini, of course, receiving the salute. It is he, too, who addresses them.

TRAIN CAR ON HOUSE

Pictures of a remarkable railroad wreck of the Montreal-Chicago express at South Bend, Ind., show how one of the cars leaped from an embankment on to the roof of a house in which a man, his wife and three small children were living. Although all members of the family were present at the time, only one of the children was slightly hurt.

Sensational scenes of the annual Penn relay show teams from Penn, Georgetown and Ohio State participating. Beecher, of Indiana, and Wonsowitz, of Ohio State, tie for the pole-vaulting at 13 feet 6 inches, thereby breaking the record for this meet. There are also remarkable pictures of the 120-yard high hurdles and the 100-yard dash.

West Point Cadets receive their first introduction to heavy artillery at the Aberdeen (Md.) proving grounds. Various types of the big guns are fired.

Doug Is Given South Seas Farewell

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1932, Kilbi Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, May 6.—A whole island turned out to bid Douglas Fairbanks farewell as he and his company boarded the Monowai and sailed out of the harbor of Papeete, taking with them the glamor of Hollywood transplanted to the South Seas.

Doug turned these Elysian isles upside down filming "Robinson Crusoe of the South Seas," and they liked it. Wireless dispatches tell of the reception that the native girls gave to Maria Alba, Doug's leading woman, and of a send-off party that might have been a scene in a motion picture. Polynesian chiefs, all the French officials of this capital of Oceania, Chinese, natives, the entire population.

Douglas Fairbanks

Sailing away, Doug promised that one of the first prints of the picture would be sent to Papette to be shown in the island's one little motion picture house, a theater as yet unequipped with sound apparatus.

In one of the few letters he has found time to write, Doug speaks of his picture:

"It is a joyful story of the South Seas, a romantic fantasy of today. We have tried to make it a dream come true for every small boy who, at some time or another, has projected himself on a desert island; and yet we hope it also tunes in on the Gypsy in every grown-up."

May 6 will be home-coming day for the troupe. It's still undecided whether Mary Pickford will go to San Francisco to meet the boat or await Doug in Hollywood.

WILL CRACKS WISE

Will Rogers was in great form as master of ceremonies at the opening of "Grand Hotel."

Will Rogers

"I came here," said Will, who was in street clothes as usual, "because Louis B. Mayer called me up. That was sort of a command. You know Louis is a close friend of Mr. Hoover. In fact, a short time ago it looked like he was Hoover's only friend.

"This premiers," he added, "is really an anti-hoarding affair—to bring the cash out of hiding. It's a great success, too. The box office says they even took in some Confederate money.

"And, speaking of dough, 'Grand Hotel' is probably the only hotel in the country that will make money this year."

He tossed them off like this for 20 minutes.

YOUR DAILY GOSSIP

Will Mahoney, who makes a sensational hit in the prologue at the Chinese, turned down $5,000 a week at the Palace to come out here....Hollywood is razzing Sid Grauman for the very flat joke of leading the audience to expect that Greta Garbo would appear, and then bringing out Wallie Beery dressed up in women's clothes. Incidentally, Wallie was a female impersonator at one time—played a Swedish washerwoman....Jean Harlow, original platinum blonde, has a new hair shade, dark molasses taffy. Or was it a wig? She was squired to the premiere by Paul "Big Brother" Bern ... Marlene Dietrich came with her husband.... Met Hedda Hopper standing in a doorway, while the crowd almost pushed her off her feet. "Isn't this swell?" says she. "I'm getting all my hips knocked off." ... Another tip to star gazers: After the Chinese premieres, many of the stars go to the Blossom Room at the Roosevelt Hotel. Dropped in for a minute, Lewis Stone, who is seen but rarely in bright light places, was there. . . . Helen Twelvetrees had another party. Delores Costello, a sweet person, stayed for a few minutes....Jack Oakie was dancing with his ma. ...Bert Wheeler, with his chin over a girl's shoulder, whistled as he danced.

Novel Act

Bob Hall, who makes up songs as he sings them, is a novel feature of "Stage Door," Stanley stage offering.

Premiere of New Play On I. K. S. Stage

The Irene Kaufmann Settlement Theater was the scene of a premiere last night when "The Mystic Return," a new drama by Alfred L. Goldenberg, had its first presentation on any stage. The drama deals with the execution of a pair of criminals, surrounded by all the glare and blare of publicity. Then, after the prologue, their souls, or whatever murderers have in their place, are reincarnated in the newspaper publisher and his associate. In a sort of mixture of drama and obsession, the plot is worked out again to the same general conclusion, and the closing scene once more takes place in the death house. As a result of his experiences the publisher kills off his newspaper.

The play has very effective moments and was done quite smoothly by a cast in which Tillie E. Krieger, Milton Berlin and S. Don Moll did the most notable work. Other players who worked together in fine style were Edward W. Blaine, Beatrice Cohen, Ann Phyllis Hanick, Sylvia Bernstein, Nathan Maretzky, Edward H. Siegal, Meyer Strohl, Philip Strohl and Dorothy Maret.

An evening of original one-act plays is to be presented at the settlement on Tuesday, May 24.

New Bills In Theaters

Jackie Cooper and Chic Sale in "When a Feller Needs a Friend," will be seen on the Penn screen for a week, beginning today. It is a story of the friendship of a boy and old man. The stage feature is the Gershwin musical comedy, "Girl Crazy," with Frances Wilson.

Change of bill in the Stanley today brings "So Big" to the screen and "Stage Door" to the stage. "So Big" is from the Edna Ferber story and it features Barbara Stanwyck. Bob Hall is big man on the stage.

"The Mouthpiece," story of the activities of an unscrupulous criminal lawyer and his reformation, heads the new bill in the Warner, opening today. Warren William and Sidney Fox are the featured players.

"Symphony of Six Million" moves today from the Warner to the Davis, having attracted attention warranting another week in a downtown theater. It is a story of touching pathos and homely comedy with Ricardo Cortez and Irene Dunne in the principal parts.

"The Expert," with Chic Sale and Dickie Moore, will be the feature in the Harris, beginning tomorrow. They played together in "The Star Witness."

"Tarzan the Apeman" comes to the Sheridan Square screen tomorrow, with Johnny Weismuller and Maureen O'Sullivan in the principal roles. It recently had a downtown showing.

The Enright tomorrow will present a "first-run" picture, "Dancers In the Dark," in which Jack Oakie is an orchestra director. Miriam Hopkins and William Collier, Jr., are in the picture, too.

Lina Basquette Given Leading Role

After an absence of several months, Lina Basquette will return to the screen, in the leading feminine role of Columbia's next Buck Jones special, "Born to Trouble," which will go into production this week. This will be Jones' first picture since his return to Hollywood following two months personal appearance tour.

Lina Basquette was on the legitimate and musical comedy stages before making her debut in pictures.

Gaynor-Farrell Play Ready to Shoot

The new Janet Gaynor-Charles Farrell picture, "The First Year," is about ready for the cameras at the Fox studios. Director William K. Howard has secured Robert McWade and Maude Eburne for important roles in the production, which is based on Frank Craven's stage success of the same name.

Music Show

Frances Upton has a leading role in "Girl Crazy," Gershwin musical comedy that is the Penn stage attraction.

O'Brien, Kay Johnson Meet in 'Faith'

Pat O'Brien and Kay Johnson studied acting together at the American Academy of Dramatic Art. They did not meet again for 13 years, until both were cast in "Faith." Columbia's banking picture now in production.

Name New Production For Jack Holt

"The Thirteenth Man" has been selected as the next Jack Holt production. It will go into work within a few days under the direction of Howard Higgin.

This story of the South Seas centering around a schooner which mysteriously roams the tropical waters, offers the star another of those action roles which presented him to advantage in "The Last Parade," "Dirigible," "Fifty Fathoms Deep" and "Behind the Mask." It was written by Howard Higgin and Elliott Clawson especially for Holt.

BITS OF LIFE

All in a Day

By MARK HELLINGER

In Which the Customers Do the Work

"AFTER YOU have read my letter," writes an anonymous contributor, "I want you to grab a load of the inclosed clipping. Perhaps a combination of the letter and the clipping will hand you something of a kick. At any rate, kindly favor me by leaving out the actual name of the town in question and substituting the one I use herewith.

"Jonesville is a mining town in Pennsylvania. It has a population of no more than 17,000, but I'll lay the odds that they have more speakeasies, in proportion to the population, than any other town in the country. That's a pretty strong statement, Mark, but I can assure you that I know whereof I speakeasy.

"Strange to relate, the proprietors of these places are extremely cordial to each other. Unlike the situation in most towns and cities, the owners are most amiable in their business relations. They never tip off the state police or revenue men in the desire to have a competitor closed. That's something they would never consider.

"When the miners get paid, every joint in town is crowded to the doors and doing a thriving business. The bosses have no occasion to complain. When a proprietor, or one of his help, gets a day off, he invariably visits one of his competitors and proceeds to cultivate a merry jag. Thus, you can readily see that it's all just one happy family.

"It wasn't always that way. As I understand it, it wasn't until two years ago that the boys would even speak to each other. One proprietor was squealing on the other, and as soon as a new joint opened it would be raided very promptly. None of the owners were making much dough, and they operated in constant fear of the law and the competition.

"Did you ever hear of a modern speakeasy owner with plenty of common sense? Well, I suppose you'll tell me you have any number of them around New York—but I don't find many of them in the towns I hit. It was something of a surprise to Jonesville, then, when one of them suddenly popped up.

"He called a meeting of every proprietor in town. He did it by visiting each one in person and assuring him that it would be to everybody's mutual advantage. When he had them assembled he stood up and went into the idea he had in mind.

"'Boys,' he said, 'I'm going to begin by telling you that I'm opening a new speakeasy in this spot. I tell you that first because I want you to know that I'm one of you and that we can talk on an equal footing.

"'What you boys have evidently been unwilling to learn is that there would be plenty of money for all of us in this town if we could only string together. If we only had the miners' pay days to figure on we'd still be off the nut for the rest of the month. But there's so much arguing because you birds are always trying to cross each other that nobody's getting any too far.

"'Suppose we do an about face and work in the opposite direction. Suppose we try to help each other instead of hinder. Suppose, among the few of us, we formed a little union in which each member pledged himself to do a little good for the other guy. Don't you think that would be a far better plan than the losing one you're now following?

"'My system of help is somewhat novel, but I don't see how it can fail to work. We're all going to become volunteer firemen. Yes, gentlemen—that's what I said. Volunteer firemen. As soon as there is any trouble of any sort in any one of our places, one of us will rush around to the fire house and blow the siren on a set signal. Three long blasts, for example, followed by two short blasts. That will be the signal for every other spot in town to ditch the stuff on hand.'

"And so he talked along, Mark, for almost an hour. The others were finally convinced. They slapped each other's backs, became volunteer firemen the following day—and turned out to be the happy family I described in the first portion of my letter. That's all there is to my story. I'll sign off after asking you to read the inclosed clipping."

Pardon me, folks, while I read the clipping in question. Yes, it is amusing. I wish I had the space to quote it in its entirety, but I haven't.

So I'll tell you briefly that, in Jonesville the other night, seven speakeasies were raided at one and the same time. And in front of the firehouse, three of the officers stood off seven volunteer firemen who insisted there were fires in different parts of the town! . .

"SINCE PLENTY of readers contribute a story every now and then," writes Danny Canterman, of Pittsburgh, "I feel it my duty to chip in. Even if you've heard it before—and I imagine you must have—you'll realize that my heart is in the right place nevertheless. Here's the story:

"Among autograph collectors, Rudyard Kipling has the reputation of being extremely parsimonious. Kipling refuses to send his autograph to anyone, regardless of the postage inclosed. He does not pay his bills by check because that would require his signature. Very seldom does he sign his name—and when a celebrity refuses to comply with requests for his autograph it becomes a most laborious task to obtain it.

"Some years back, an ardent autograph-collector made any number of attempts to secure the coveted signature. But he got nowhere. He wracked his brains, and he finally hit upon a plan that he thought was certain of success.

"He had read in a magazine that the famous English author received one pound sterling per word for his writings. So he sat himself down and sent Kipling a money order for one pound sterling, requesting him to write one word at his usual rate. He rubbed his hands and awaited results.

"About two weeks later, the collector received a letter bearing an English stamp. He opened it nervously, and found inside a card that contained this one word:

"'Thanks.'"

* * *

"I NOTE," writes Buck Withers, "that, of late, you have been spilling plenty of stories about colored characters. You may be interested, then, in something that happened to a friend of mine who just returned from a trip around the country.

"He was feeling in excellent humor one afternoon when a porter was brushing him off. He looked down and asked the colored man the amount of his average tip.

"'Mah average tip, boss?' grinned the porter. 'Ah should say dat 'bout one dollar, suh, is mah average.'

"My friend reached into his pocket and fished out a dollar. He handed it to the colored man.

"'Thank you, boss!' cried the porter as he creased the bill affectionately. 'Thank you indeedy, suh. An' Ah might add dat yo' is the fust person what has come up to de average!'".

Columbia to Produce 'Brief Moment'

"Brief Moment," S. N. Behrman's stage success, which had a run on Broadway this season, has been secured by Columbia Pictures for early filming, against the competitive bidding of the other major companies. This will be one of the company's outstanding productions and will more than likely serve as a vehicle for Barbara Stanwyck.

"Brief Moment" is a romantic comedy centering around a popular blues singer married to a wealthy society boy. Its background is a cross section of New York's Bohemian society and night life.

'Week Ends Only' Cast Is Reinforced

The latest additions to the cast of "Week Ends Only," the Fox picture, featuring Joan Bennett and Ben Lyons, are Walter Byron, John Arledge, Berton Churchill and John Elliott. Alan Crosland is directing.

Matty Kemp Awarded Long Contract

After watching Matty Kemp in the opening sequence of Will Rogers' next Fox comedy, "Down To Earth," now in production, Fox Film executives handed the young actor a long-term contract.

'Riding Tornado' Cast Now Complete

With the signing of Wheeler Oakman, Vernon Dent, Russell Simpson and "Lafe" McKee, Columbia Pictures has completed the cast of Tom McCoy's next picture, "The Riding Tornado." Shirley Grey plays opposite the star, with Wallace MacDonald and Montagu Love in important character roles. D. Ross Lederman is directing.

Pendleton, Muse Sign For New Picture

Columbia Pictures has signed Nat Pendleton for the role of "Mugg Malone," and Clarence Muse for the part of "Jeff" in "Criminal Court," in which Edmund Lowe and Constance Cummings are playing the principal parts. Other members of the cast inclure Donald Dilloway, Bradley Page, Evelyn Brent, Dwight Frye and Dorothy Peterson. Irving Cummings is directing.

How A Skinny Girl Gained 14 Lbs. In 3 Weeks

A TRUE EXPERIENCE

"You might not believe it to look at me now," says Miss X, "but I used to be a walking bag of bones—the sickliest looking creature you ever saw. And I was sickly! Always dead tired—pale—nervous—no pep.

"Finally—when I was twenty pounds underweight—I went to a famous gastro-intestinal specialist for help. I expected, of course, to be put on a stuffing diet and dosed with cod liver oil or some other kind of 'builder.'

"You can imagine my surprise when I didn't hear one word about 'vitamines,' 'calories,' or any of the so-called health foods. Instead of all that fuss and bother, my doctor told me simply to eat what I liked—chicken, beef, lamb, asparagus tips, tender young string beans, ice cream, angel food—regular meals that would appeal to anybody.

"The only thing, he wanted me to take a tablespoonful of ordinary mentha pepsin—or 'stomach juice,' as he called it—before each meal. That was to start me digesting my food properly, so I would get the full good out of it instead of just loading my stomach.

"Three weeks later I had put on 14 pounds! My color was good. My nerves were steady. I slept well. And I felt better than I ever had before in my life.

"For three years now I have kept the normal weight for a girl of my height—neither too fat nor too skinny—and everyone says I look years younger than I used to.

"I know it must have been the mentha pepsin that made me gain, for certainly the food I ate was no different from what I had always eaten, and I had never been able to put on an ounce before."

To get genuine mentha pepsin, be sure to ask for DARE'S. Mayflower Drug Stores, Inc., and other druggists always sell Dare's Mentha Pepsin with a guarantee of money back if even one bottle doesn't help you.

GRILLED HAMBURG PATTIES—One pound finely chopped raw beef, ¼ cup ground suet, 1 cup soft bread crumbs, 7 strips bacon, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, 7 slices onion, ½ inch thick, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons onion juice, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon water.

Place onion in buttered, shallow baking dish. Pour over it 2 tablespoons melted butter, sprinkle with salt and pepper, cover closely and bake until tender, about 30 minutes. Cook parsley in rest of butter and add to the beef, suet, crumbs and seasonings. Mold into 7 flat cakes and wrap a strip of bacon around each cake. Place each cake on a slice of onion in the baking dish and cook in broiler 5 minutes on each side. Baste twice.

* * *

BAKED HAM WITH ORANGE SAUCE (Serves 20 persons)—1 Swift Premium ham, 1-5 pound brown sugar, 2 sliced onions, 2 sliced carrots, 1 glass apple cider, a pinch of ginger powder.

SAUCE—1½ cups currant jelly, peel from 7 Sunkist oranges (cut julienne), 4 oranges cut in segments, 5 whole oranges (peeled), 2 quarts clear meat stock, ¼ cup arrowroot (made into a paste with a little white wine, 2 whole cloves, 1 bay leaf, 10 Sunkist oranges cut in basket form.

Wash and scrub ham and soak over night. Put on fire in cold water. Boil slowly until well done (about 4 to 4½ hours). When cooked remove the skin carefully, cover ham with brown sugar and put in roasting pan with apple cider, onions and carrot. Bake in a hot oven to a nice golden brown. Remove ham to heater and allow the vegetables to simmer a little longer. Then add jelly stock whole cloves, bay leaf, ginger and the juice of 5 Sunkist oranges. Let boil, thicken with arrowroot and continue to boil for 15 minutes.

Cut orange peel in very fine juliennes and have them lightly blanched in very little water. Strain sauce through cheesecloth and add blanched juliennes of orange peel. Garnish the ham with orange baskets filled with segments of oranges.

* * *

VALENCIA COCOANUT CAKE—½ cup butter or other fat, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, grated rind 1 orange, ½ cup shredded cocoanut, 2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 2-3 cup orange juice.

Cream butter; add sugar gradually, then beaten eggs, and grated orange rind and cocoanut. Mix well. Sift flour with baking powder and add to first mixture, alternately with the strained orange juice. Place batter in layer cake pans which have been lined with waxed paper. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for about 20 minutes. When layers are cool, spread with cooked white icing which has been flavored with orange juice or orange extract.

Sprinkle layers with cocoanut and put them together. Sprinkle additional cocoanut over top and sides of cake.

* * *

DATE MUFFINS—1 cup white flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ¾ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup sugar, 1 egg, 1 cup graham flour, ½ pkg. pasteurized dates, 1 cup milk, ¼ cup shortening.

Sift white flour, baking powder and salt into a mixing bowl. Add sugar and the graham (or whole wheat) flour. Mix the pitted and sliced dates through dry ingredients with finger tips. Beat egg, add milk and melted shortening. Stir as little as possible to mix. Fill well-oiled muffin pans two-thirds full of mixture. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 20 or 30 minutes, 12-18 muffins.

* * *

GRAPEFRUIT-ORANGE CANAPE—1 can grapefruit, 8 slices pineapple, 2 oranges, water cress.

Separate the oranges into sections, removing all white membrane. Place a slice of pineapple on an individual serving plate. On the pineapple arrange alternate sections of the orange and grapefruit to form a semi-circular mound. Decorate with a sprig of water cress or fresh mint. 8 servings.

* * *

PIMENTO POTATO PUFF—To 1 quart well-seasoned mashed potatoes add 2 egg yolks (or 1 whole egg) slightly beaten and 2 canned pimientoes, finely chopped. Pile lightly in a casserole or glass baking dish. Place in a hot oven to reheat (about 10 minutes). Six servings. The 3½ oz can of pimientoes is the most economical buy.

* * *

LEMON CHIFFON PUDDING—5 tablespoons flour, 1 cup sugar, 3 tablespoons butter, 3 egg yolks, ¼ cup lemon juice, 1 cup milk, 3 egg whites.

Mix flour and sugar; cream in butter; add beaten egg yolks, lemon juice and milk. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in a buttered dish or casserole, set in a pan of warm water. Bake 35 minutes in oven (360 degrees to 375 degrees F.). The pudding separates into two layers, a custard beneath and a cake on top. Serves 6 to 8.

* * *

PANNED KALE—Strip the kale from the midribs, and discard them and the stringy portions. Wash the kale thoroughly in several waters, drain, and cut it into small pieces. For each quart of kale allow 2 tablespoons of butter or other fat. Melt the fat in a skillet, add the kale, cover to keep in the steam, and cook slowly for 15 to 20 minutes. Sift a teaspoon of flour over the kale, mix well, pour in ½ cup of milk, and stir until thickened. Season with salt and pepper and serve at once.

* * *

RHUBARB PIE—4 cups raw, sliced, unskinned rhubarb, 1 tablespoon water, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1 cup sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter, pastry.

Simmer the rhubarb and water for a few minutes and drain. When the juice has cooled add the cornstarch, which has been mixed with the sugar and salt, and cook until thickened. Add the rhubarb and butter and mix thoroughly. Pour the hot fruit mixture into a baked pastry shell, add the top sheet of dough and bake in a moderately hot oven (375 to 400 degrees F.) for 25 to 30 minutes, or until golden brown.

* * *

FROZEN CHOCOLATE PUDDING—¼ pound sweet chocolate, ½ cup sugar, ½ cup hot water, 6 eggs, separated; 1 pint cream.

Cook water and sugar to a thin syrup and then add the chocolate which has been grated. Pour this mixture gradually over the beaten egg yolks. Fold in the well beaten whites, and when mixture is cool add the cream whipped stiff. Freeze until it holds its shape.

* * *

CHICKEN AND RICE LOAF—1½ cups diced chicken, 1 cup peas, 2 cups cooked rice, 2 eggs, ½ cup milk, salt and pepper.

Combine thoroughly the rice, chicken and peas. Beat eggs, add milk and seasonings. Pour over rice mixture and blend thoroughly. Put into buttered pan, set into a pan of water and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 40 minutes, or until egg mixture is set.

* * *

SPAGHETTI DINNER PLATE—½ pound spaghetti, 2 cups chopped cold meat, ¼ cup minced carrots, ¼ cup minced celery, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon chili sauce.

Cook the spaghetti until tender.

Fruits Encourage Appetite And Aid Digestion

A diet which contains an abundant amount of fruits is believed to help in preventing common cold and other infections.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
Formerly Health Commissioner, New York City.
United States Senator from New York.

Did you know that there are more than 300 different kinds of fruits? Most of these are rare and expensive, for they are grown only in the tropics. However, there are at least 30 to 40 different kinds of fruits which are in common use and within the reach of everyone.

Fruits have the same value and importance in the diet as vegetables. They have great nutritive value because they contain a liberal amount of mineral salts and vitamins. Fruits encourage appetite and aid in digestion. The appetite is stimulated by the appearance and taste found in most fruits. This pleasure in eating aids digestion. The acid fruits stimulate the flow of gastric juice in the stomach and are valuable when there is a lack of gastric juice secretion.

Like vegetables, fruits give the necessary roughage, or bulk to the diet. This aids in the proper elimination of undigested food particles and prevents putrefaction from occurring in the intestines. Fruits aid in combating constipation and other digestive disturbances. A diet which contains an abundant amount of fruits is believed to aid in preventing the common cold and other infections.

FRESH FRUITS BEST

The most common fruits are the apple, banana, orange, grapefruit, peach, pear, grapes and berries. Fresh fruits are best. Fruits should be eaten only when ripe. This is especially important with apples and bananas.

A banana is thoroughly ripe when the skin has brown spots. Bananas that are not ripe are difficult to digest.

Dried fruits are often substituted for fresh fruits. The most popular dried fruits are dates, figs, apricots, raisins, currants and citron. When fresh fruits are not obtainable, canned fruits may be substituted. Though the vitamin content of canned and dried fruits is not as great as fresh fruits, they are valuable for the many nutritive substances they contain.

SHOULD BE WASHED

Never use unripe fruit. Fruit that is only slightly under-ripe may be made digestible by cooking. Always wash fruits thoroughly before eating. Strained fruit and the pulp or juice of fruit may be used for young children and infants. Cooked fruits should be used in place of raw fruits for persons suffering from gas and digestive disturbances. It is well to remember that persons suffering from kidney or bladder irritations or tendency to gout and acidity, should avoid cranberries, plums, prunes and rhubarb.

It is now an accepted fact that health or lack of health is, to a great extent, the result of diet. A well-balanced diet should contain an abundant supply of fresh fruits. Children and adults should be encouraged in eating them.

YOUR SOAP IS GOING TO waste

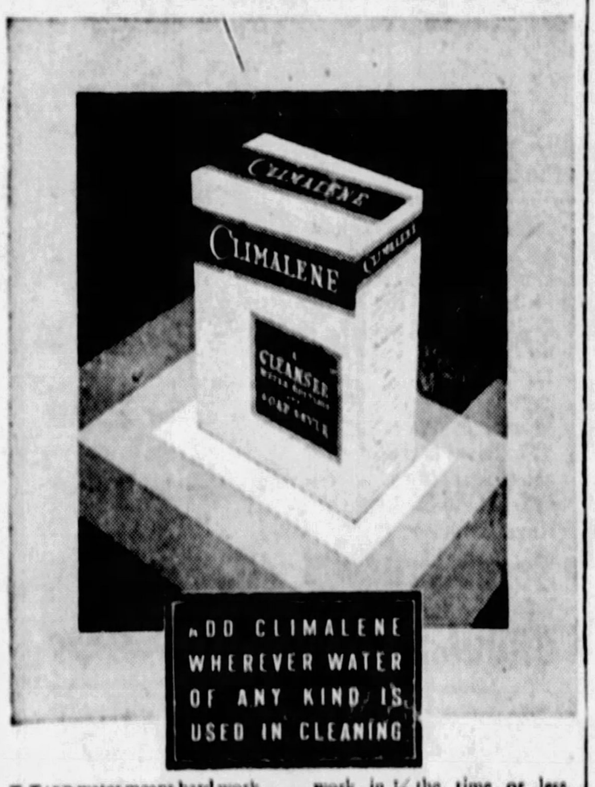
Waste . . DON'T LET IT



HARD water means hard work. It's the hardness . . . the mineral salts . . . in hard water that wastes soap, because the soap cannot dissolve. Stop this waste! Add a teaspoon or two of Climalene to your washing water. That's all.

How It Works

Climalene cuts grease and softens the water instantly. Thus, only ¼ the soap is needed when you use Climalene. Then, it gently dissolves food stains, grease and dirt on dishes and in clothes. Thus you do your work in ⅓ the time or less.

It takes away that grease scum that is so annoying in dishwater. Colored clothes come from the wash far cleaner and fresher without "fade" or "streaks", white clothes—whiter than ever before. It leaves the hands soft and smooth.

Get Climalene today from your grocer. Use it wherever you use water for cleaning, in the kitchen, laundry and bathroom. He has it in the bright, shiny, blue box, 12 ounces for 10c or 2 pounds for 25c. The Climalene Co., Canton, Ohio.

TELL IT TO SALLY -:- -:- Follow This Unusual Feature Day by Day -:- -:- By SALLY MARTIN

Some Wives Are Too Tolerant With Their Husbands

Working wives are okay with Brenda. She's one herself, and she's perfectly willing to share expenses 50-50 with friend husband.

But she does object to paying all the bills out of her pay check, while the big boy keeps his safely in his own pocket.

How can she make him do his part?

"Wouldn't you think," she wails, "that he'd be willing to do his share, when I work hard and try to do everything I can to make him comfortable?"

Would you? Or is our hero maybe laughing up his sleeve, and thinking what a wise guy he is to have such an easy mark working for him?

Dear Sally:

PAYS BIGGEST SHARE

I've been reading a lot lately about the subject of working wives, and I'll tell you right now that I'm one of the terrible creatures myself.

But that it not my problem. I like to work, and I think that women have just as good a right to work as men, if they want to. Here is the trouble:

It seems to me as if the more I work, the less I have. Now don't make any mistake. It isn't because I've got a growing taste for luxuries. I haven't. And I don't get a very large salary, even though I did get a raise not long ago. The fact is that my husband won't do his part toward paying our expenses.

Since neither of us makes a great deal, we live in a very modest place—just a couple of "housekeeping rooms," in fact. And all my husband will pay is just the rent. I have to pay all the grocery bills, the insurance for both of us, and for all my clothes, as well as gas, lights, etc., while my husband keeps his money for himself. I am paying much the largest share of our running expenses.

UNAPPRECIATIVE

He likes good food, and if I don't buy it he kicks, but he isn't willing to help pay for it. I think we ought to put our money together—we both get about the same amount—then share the expenses, and use what's left for a savings account and what clothes and other little things we have to have. But he just doesn't agree.

Otherwise, he is good enough to me. Once in a while he brings me some little gift, but not often. More often, he goes out somewhere by himself and stays half the night.

I'm getting pretty disgusted. We've been married for 10 years, and I have always waited on him, and done everything I could to make home pleasant. I have been as nice as I knew how, and tried to please him in every way, in the hope that he would appreciate it and try to do the square thing by me, but he doesn't seem to do it.

Wouldn't you think he would appreciate my efforts to please him, and do his part?

What shall I do? I am just about ready to explode. I've thought about it so much. I just can't understand why he is like that when I've tried so hard. What is the matter?

BRENDA.

SHOULD CHANGE SYSTEM

Why doesn't he appreciate you?

That's simple, my dear. Because you don't appreciate yourself. Why should he do the "square thing" by you when you've made a doormat for yourself?

No, I'm not defending him. He's a selfish moocher, but you have let him get away with it. Instead of standing up, from the first, for your own rights, you've just bent your neck and let him hang the load on you, and when we do that, we deserve all we get.

What'll you do? Have a house cleaning. Put your foot down. Don't fly off the handle, but tell him calmly and firmly that you refuse to be the pack horse.

Inform him that it is up to him to do his part, and that if he won't do it you can, and will, take care of yourself, but that you won't take care of him, too.

And the chances are, if he has any manhood at all, he'll respect you as he has never done before.

Fay King Analyzes the Glamorous Girl's Lure for Playboy

By FAY KING

Young men who have a great deal of money and like to play around with glamorous girls are often sued for large sums of money.

They settle up with these girls for much smaller sums, usually out of court, and then settle down with girls they marry from their own set.

These young men like to be considered playboys and take no interest in a girl at that time unless her appearance and notoriety carries with it the publicity for philandering.

That is why certain of the glamorous gold diggers seem always to have plenty of admirers who are really more interested in the reputation they will attain being seen around with her than they are in her personality.

It doesn't mean much!

How to Keep Well

Watch Your Diet If You Often Have Canker Sores

One of the most disagreeable disorders of the lining of the mouth is known as "canker sore." None but the afflicted person can really appreciate the misery it causes. Indeed, a canker sore may become so big and troublesome as to make the sufferer exceedingly ill.

Dr. Copeland

The cause of canker sores is not entirely understood. They may occur singly or in crops. They come on suddenly and usually appear as small inflamed spots. The favorite sites are at the base of the teeth, under the tongue or on the inner surface of the lips or cheeks. At the same time the tongue usually is coated and there is bad breath.

Some individuals are very susceptible to this affliction, which often is caused by a sensitivity to a particular food or foods. When these foods are omitted from the diet the canker sores disappear. Relief in such cases can only be obtained by determining what food is the offending one. This is accomplished by keeping a list of foods eaten each day, and checking up on the menu of the day before the appearance of the canker sore.

Many authorities believe that canker sores are caused by some infection. For some reason there is a lowered resistance of the lining of the mouth to a particular form of infection.

There may be a lack of vitamin C which is believed to be necessary for healthy gums and mucous membranes. Where there is a deficiency of this vitamin, the gums are spongy and bleed easily. This weakness may be overcome by the addition of large quantities of citrus fruit, tomatoes, celery and lettuce to the daily diet.

Another vitamin important in combating this ailment is vitamin A. When there is a deficiency of this vitamin in the diet, the resistance of the body against infection is lowered. This can be overcome by eating foods rich in vitamin A. Butter, cream, egg yolk, cod liver oil, oranges and carrots are a few foods which contain large quantities of this valuable vitamin.

Avoid all irritating foods. Infected and decayed teeth should be removed. Cleanse the mouth three times a day with a saturated solution of potassium chlorate in equal parts of water. In severe cases the canker sores are relieved when carefully touched with a silver nitrate stick.

Answers to Health Queries

HELEN G. Q.—What is the correct weight for a girl aged 16, 5 feet 4½ inches tall?

A.—She should weigh about 120 pounds. This is about the average weight for one of this age and height, as determined by examinations of a large number of people. A few pounds above or below the average is a matter of little or no significance.

* * *

R. B. J. Q.—Where are the lymph glands located and what cause swelling of these glands?

A.—These glands are scattered all over the body. The swelling is usually due to some local infection.

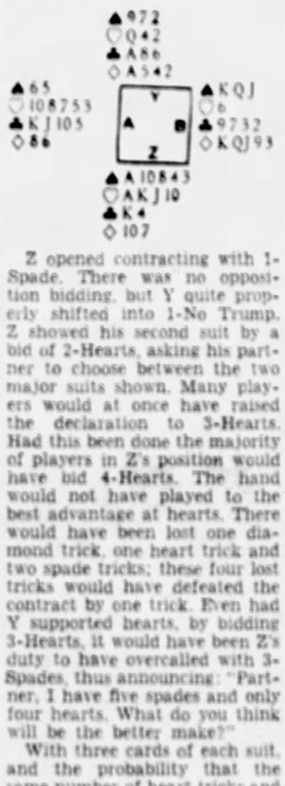
Contract Bridge -:- OFFICIAL SYSTEM As Adopted by Leading Authorities

By E. V. SHEPARD

A Two-Suiter Seldom Plays Well at No-Trumps

Years ago it became noticeable that a two-suiter could seldom be played to advantage at partner's no-trumps. Ordinarily the partner of the one bidding the two suits should choose between them. This rule, first proclaimed during the days of auction, is even more noticeable when playing contract, because bidding soars higher than it did at the older and more simple game. The hand given below requires careful thought to insure playing the best make for the hands.



Z opened contracting with 1-Spade. There was no opposition bidding, but Y quite properly shifted into 1-No Trump. Z showed his second suit by a bid of 2-Hearts, asking his partner to choose between the two major suits shown. Many players would at once have raised the declaration to 3-Hearts. Had this been done the majority of players in Z's position would have bid 4-Hearts. The hand would not have played to the best advantage at hearts. There would have been lost one diamond trick, one heart trick and two spade tricks; these four lost tricks would have defeated the contract by one trick. Even had Y supported hearts, by bidding 3-Hearts, it would have been Z's duty to have overcalled with 3-Spades, thus announcing: "Partner, I have five spades and only four hearts. What do you think will be the better make?"

With three cards of each suit, and the probability that the same number of heart tricks and spade tricks must be lost in the play, the better make must be spades. Eight trumps ordinarily find the five remaining trumps divided 3-2 between opponents; in fact, this ideal division of opposing trumps occurs 68 times out of 100 cases. But when there are missing six trumps from the hands of the declaring side, there are 65 chances in 100 that the opposing trumps will lie 4-2, or worse. In this instance the six missing hearts happen to be divided 5-1 between the opponents.

Instead of assisting hearts, after his partner had shown a two-suiter, Y bid 2-No Trumps. This was not a bid really, as Y did not know whether his partner had bid suits of four cards or more.

The rule for bidding two-suiters, whether the long suit is a major or a minor suit, is first show the longer biddable suit. Having shown both suits, rebid the longer suit. If the two suits are of equal length, rebid the suit of lower value, so that partner need not increase the contract if he decides that he should shift to the suit of higher rank. Z followed the rules for bidding two-suiters. He had first shown his longer biddable suit. When Y bid 2-No Trumps over Z's 2-Hearts, Z rebid his longer suit, by declaring 3-Spades. Of course Y should have ended contracting with 4-Spades. They would have gone game, losing only two spade tricks and one diamond trick. Instead of listening to his partner's warning Y bid 3-No Trumps. Z had to pass. Diamonds were opened and B won four diamond tricks and a spade trick, thus defeating the contract by one trick.

Appetizing

A simple little fruit cocktail that is quite appetizing is made by removing the pulp from grapefruit, sweetening slightly and placing it in tall glasses. Sprinkle with shredded cocoanut and chill before serving. Against the arrival of unexpected company one might have in the supply closet several cans of grapefruit for the purpose of making this same interesting cocktail. It could be garnished with a cherry if one wishes to be particularly decorative.

For Longer Wear

If the light-colored dancing slippers are scuffed and shabby from feet other than one's own, why not have them dyed black or some dark color? Many shoe shops will dye slippers at a nominal rate if you are afraid to attempt it at home.

Stork Showers

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have a friend for whom I should love to give a stork shower. She has two children now; the youngest is 6 years of age. I do not know if it is proper to have showers of this kind after the first child. I did not know this friend when the other two children were born, and so I thought it would be all right in this case, since I have never given her a shower before. MRS. ——.

It would be quite correct for you to give your friend a stork shower. The fact that the coming baby is her third baby does not make the giving of the shower incorrect.

Double-Ring Ceremony

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

As I have the expectation of being married soon, I would like to know if it is in good form to be married with two rings? If so, who buys the groom's ring? PEE WEE.

The double ring ceremony is not often used in this country, but it is entirely correct. However, the bride-to-be should always consult with the groom-to-be about this, to see if she wishes to wear a ring . . . for most men in this country do not "favor" this.

If the double ring ceremony is to be used, the bride-to-be buys the groom's ring.

Prudence Penny's Recipes

Drain. Mix cold meat, carrot and celery. Add flour and milk and slowly cook until well heated. Add lemon juice and chili sauce. Arrange spaghetti around a platter, filling the center with meat. Garnish with a sprinkling of chopped green pepper or parsley.

* * *

TEN-MINUTE CHOCOLATE COOKIES—1½ ounces chocolate, ⅓ cup condensed milk, ½ teaspoon vanilla, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ pound package shredded cocoanut.

Melt chocolate in a double boiler. Add milk, vanilla and salt. Stir in cocoanut. Drop by teaspoonfuls on a well-oiled baking sheet. Bake in a very moderate oven (300-324 degrees F.) for 15 minutes. Remove from pan while warm. 15 cookies.

* * *

CAKE FOLDEROL — 6 thick slices sponge cake, ¼ cup butter, 1 egg yolk, 1 cup brown sugar, 2-4 tablespoons cream, ¼ teaspoon vanilla, ½ cup cocoanut, 6 pasteurized dates.

Cream butter; add unbeaten egg yolk, then stir in brown sugar very gradually. Beat in cream a few drops at a time until mixture will spread easily. Add vanilla. Cover top and sides of sponge cake (use purchased cake if desired) with this mixture; roll sides in cocoanut which has been toasted and decorate the top with slices of dates arranged in a conventional design. 6 servings.

* * *

MARTHA WASHINGTON PIE—½ cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, ½ cup milk, 1¾ cups flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 2½ teaspoons baking powder.

Cream the butter until soft, add sugar gradually and well beaten eggs. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt and add alternately with milk to first mixture. Bake in 2 shallow tins well buttered 30 minutes in a moderate oven. Put the following cream filling between layers and sprinkle the top with powdered sugar. For color a thin layer of red jelly may be added to the top layer.

* * *

CREAM FILLING—¾ cup sugar, ⅓ cup flour, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, 2 cups scalded milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ½ teaspoon lemon extract.

Mix dry ingredients, add slightly beaten eggs and pour on gradually scalded milk. Cook 15 minutes in a double boiler, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Cool and add flavoring.

* * *

CHERRY PUDDING—2 cups cherries, ½ cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup milk, 2 eggs, 2½ cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder.

Cream butter and sugar and add the beaten eggs. Sift together flour and baking powder and add to mixture alternately with the milk. Stone cherries and drain off juice. Stir the cherries into the dough, turn into individual molds and steam 1 hour. Serve with cherry sauce.

* * *

INDIAN PUDDING—½ cup cornmeal, 5 cups milk, ½ cup dark molasses, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, ¼ teaspoon ginger.

Scald milk and stir in the cornmeal very gradually to avoid lumping. Add the remaining ingredients after milk has thickened. Pour into a buttered baking dish and bake 2 hours in moderate oven (300 degrees F). Serve with cream.

* * *

FLOATING ISLAND—2 egg yolks, 2 cup milk, 2 tablespoons sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon flavoring, 2 egg whites.

Scald milk in the top of a double boiler. Beat egg yolks slightly, adding sugar and salt. Pour the milk over the egg mixture gradually. Return to the double boiler and cook until it thickens.

Beat the egg whites until stiff. Add a tablespoon of sugar. Cook this meringue by dropping spoonfuls of it on a pan of hot water and cook until it is set.

ACCORD ON TAX AIDS RALLY IN STOCKS

Steel, Telephone, Tobacco Gain More Than Point; Trading Quickens on Rise

NEW YORK, May 6.—(AP.)—Wall street derived considerable encouragement today from the renewed efforts in Washington to balance the federal budget, and the unfavorable report of the House Ways and Means Committee on the bonus bill.

Prices made fair recoveries, although the advance was interrupted at times by hangover liquidation. Numerous leaders pushed up 1 to 2 points in the early dealings, then slipped back, only to resume their advance before midday. By early afternoon there were numerous issues up 1 to more than 3 points. Trading quickened on the advance.

Issues up 2 to 3 points included American Can, American Telephone, Santa Fe, Air Reduction, Coca Cola, Union Pacific, Public Service of New Jersey, American Tobacco "B," Auburn and Peoples Gas. Oils were again conspicuously firm, with gains of a point or more appearing in Standard of New Jersey, Shell Union preferred and Ohio. Pan American, "B," a lightly traded issue, which sold on Tuesday off six points, regained its loss today. United States Steel and many other prominent issues advanced more than a point. General Motors rallied a major fraction.

While the sharp increase in income taxes proposed by the Senate Finance Committee were viewed with some uneasiness in Wall street, leading bankers have been so insistent upon the imperative need of balancing the budget as a prerequisite to economic recovery that a hopeful view was taken of the progress made. Preesident Hoover's sharp message to Congress during action upon taxation and economy measures to lift the weight of uncertainty from business was widely construed as a bullish development.

The oil shares again reflected the opinion of executives in that the industry, having brought production under fairly satisfactory control, may be turning the corner. The steel industry is watching developments in petroleum with considerable interest, with the idea that oil producers, with improved fortunes, will begin to replace much warnout equipment.

BULLISH NEWS LIFTS WHEAT

CHICAGO, May 6.—(AP.)—Grain prices averaged lower early today, influenced by Liverpool wheat quotations, which were lower than expected. Generally favorable weather in domestic winter wheat territory was also a bearish factor. Opening ¼-¾ down, wheat afterward rallied somewhat. Corn started unchanged to ¼ off and subsequently held near the initial figures.

Rallies which took place in wheat lifted the market to a cent or more above yesterday's finish. Adverse crop reports drifting in from the Southwest and West and extending into new territory of the Middle West were current in some quarters also, shooting of President Doumer, of France, by a Russian, was construed as bullish regarding wheat, on the ground that complications between the French and Russian governments might ensue.

Bulls in wheat put some stress also on an authoritative survey indicating that low stocks in Europe and relaxation of import restrictions would make for a heavier international trade.

Bigelow Gas Station Robbed 7th Time

While John Koelker, 21, of 5535 Kamin street, an attendant at the Atlantic gasoline station, Bigelow boulevard, near Tunnel street, was standing on a ladder washing windows early today, a man entered and commanded:

"Come on, get down, get down and open the safe."

Koelker did as he was told. The robber took $76 and fled. It was Koelker's second experience with highwaymen in two months and the seventh time the station has been robbed this year.

Fatal Bolt Hurls Boy, 11, Into Creek

MEADVILLE, Pa., May 6.—(AP.)—Alec Wald, 11, was killed when struck by lightning late yesterday as he drove cows from a field. He toppled from the bank of a creek into the water and several hours was required to recover his body. His father and brother, with him in the field, and several cows were thrown to the ground.

An unoccupied farmhouse near Conneautville was destroyed by fire after it was struck by lightning. George Beers, the owner, estimated damage between $2,000 and $3,000.

Moths Won't Feast On Your Clothes This Summer

If you spray

Dethol

PROTECTING clothes, draperies, rugs, upholsteries is a tedious task—the old way. When you Spray DETHOL—as all modern housewives do—it's simple, safe and inexpensive.

No need to pack your clothes in bags and boxes in the old-fashioned way. Simply hang them in the closet. Spray DETHOL once a week. It kills every moth—its eggs and worms. The DETHOL mist penetrates everywhere. Moths must die.

DETHOL WILL NOT STAIN. Spray your costly rugs, upholsteries, draperies. No moths will get into them. We suggest you also get an effective DETHOL Sprayer. It is so much more powerful and serviceable than any other yet costs no more.

Your favorite drug, grocery, hardware or department store sells DETHOL under an absolute guarantee. Get it TODAY. Dethol Mfg. Co., Inc., Baltimore, Md.

BASEBALL FREE TO JOBLESS

Twenty-five unemployed men and their families will forget their troubles in the bleachers at Forbes Field Monday afternoon, when the Pittsburgh Pirates tackle the Boston Braves.

W. E. Benswanger, president of the Pittsburgh ball club, has asked the Welfare Fund to select families to whom the recreation will be most helpful. Twenty-five unemployed men will be admitted free to each home game excepting Saturdays and holidays. They will be permitted to bring their wives and families.

Pupils and teachers in public, private and parochial schools of the city and county are contributing generously to the women's division of the Family-Help-Family campaign, officials announced. Organizations, as well as individuals, are using the newspaper coupon method of indicating their willingness to care for a family over a period of three months.

All coupons will be turned over to the Emergency Association, which in turn will give them to one of the seven distributing organizations for investigation to prevent duplication.

Novel Relief Plan Vogue in Carrick

"Pass the Basket" method of obtaining foodstuff for needy families has been adopted by the Twenty-ninth Ward Carrick Voters League. The league's welfare chairman, Robert E. Fleming, today said the system was being used to assist the regular welfare organizations in caring for the needy cases in the ward. The basket is passed by neighbors from door to door until filled and then picked up by a league worker.

SUSPECT SEIZED IN PURSUIT

Captured after a search of more than 18 months, John Bailey, 29, of 3469 Ligonier street, was held by city detectives today, they reported, in connection with alleged attacks on girls.

Bailey, said to have eluded detectives more than a dozen times, was captured late yesterday near his home after a pursuit in which Detective Walter Monoghan fired a shot.

Monaghan and Rube Bartirome, detective chauffeur, were investigating a robbery in the neighborhood when Monaghan saw Bailey cleaning his automobile in front of his home. Bailey fled, according to Monaghan's report, scaling neighborhood fences and refusing to stop when the shot was fired, but was overtaken.

Bailey was said to be wanted in connection with attacks occurring in the last two years. Held on a suspicious person charge, he denied complicity in the attacks.

More Than 2,000 Send 'Believe It or Nots' In the First Two Days of Ripley Contest

Wide Interest Shown Here—Many Win $2 Books

While the Ripley "Believe It Or Not" is national in its scope it was expected that the Pittsburgh area, on account of the unusual student atmosphere, would be more productive in potential "Believe It Or Nots" than any other city and the first returns would indicate that this prediction is right. During the first two days of the contest Ripley mail brought in more than 2,000 letters.

Here, however, is an opportunity to make the summer of 1932 a joyful summer of playdays.

GRAND AWARDS

Get to know the beauty of the American scene, the inviting ribbons of concrete that are its highways, the out-of-the-way places of the continent.

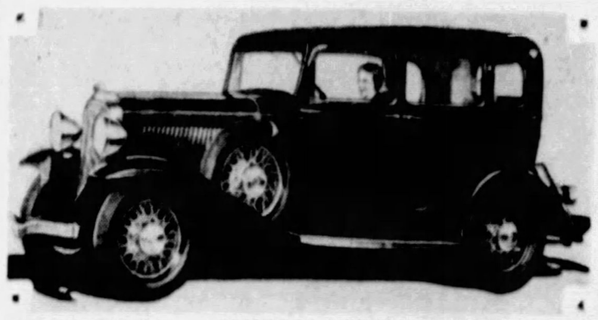
How? Why win one of the grand prizes that will be awarded by Robert L. Ripley to winners of the national "Believe It Or Not" contest. Ripley is looking for the best "Believe It Or Not" in America.

And 10 daily prizes for the most unbelievable facts submitted will be awarded by the Sun-Telegraph each day until May 16. If you win one of these daily prizes (today's prize winning amazers may be found in another column on this page) your contribution will be sent to Ripley to compete for the grand prizes, which include an airplane and an automobile.

It is only a minute to the next horizon when you step on the gas in the new Rockne Six. No horizons limit your view from the cockpit of the Curtiss-Wright Monoplane. The winner who choses it as his or her prize will be given a full course of lessons enabling him (or her) to qualify as a licensed pilot.

Travel to the foreign out-of-the-way places of the continent. One of the prizes is a trip to Havana, with all transportation and hotel expenses for two paid. Another is a trip to Montreal and Quebec for two with motor tours along the beautiful highways of French Canada and a boat ride between the two cities on the beautiful St. Lawrence.

Other prizes are an RCA Victrola, the newest 10-tube superhetrodyne radio combined with the Orthophonic Victrola; the Jenkins Television set on which you can see as well as hear favorite radio artists; the Encyclopedia Britanica 24 volumes beautifully bound and lavishly illustrated with four-color pictures, together with a mahogany case; the new Gruen "Carre" watch, a watch for purse or pocket and which can be used as a small desk clock; also an 87-piece set of Rogers Silver, a full dinner service for eight.



ROCKNE SEDAN . . . A PRIZE FOR A RIPLEY CONTEST WINNER

CHOICE OF PRIZES

Winners of this contest have their choice of the prizes. The first prize winner has his choice of the nine prizes, the second prize winner selects from the remaining eight, and so on until all the prizes are awarded.

All you have to do is to send us some fact—with proof—which you think would make a good "Believe It or Not" drawing for Ripley.

Of course, you have a believe-it-or-not. Everybody has some story that friends find hard to believe. Send it in to us with proof. It may win one of these prizes for you.

Just mail your Believe-It-Or-Not, written legibly on one side of the paper and with any explanation or proof necessary added, to the "Believe It Or Not Editor" of the Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh.

PRIZE WINNERS

"Believe It Or Not" Mr. Ripley will not necessarily have to go outside of the reading area of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph to get enough "unbelievable" facts to keep him going for some years to come. Here are the names of yesterday's local prize winners — a "Believe It Or Not" Ripley book usually sold at $2.00. These winners are all eligible for consideration in the final selections for the grand prizes.

William J. Sterbutzel, 108 Second street, Masontown, Pa.

Mrs. O. C. Statler, Nelson Run road, Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Joe Graham, 96 Kerr street, Uniontown, Pa.

John G. Galloway, Box A-B, 1411, North Side Station, Pittsburgh.

Charles Downey, Wyano, Pa.

Edward F. Trussick, 16 Mueller avenue, Crafton.

Susan Cantin, 619 Lorenz avenue, Pittsburgh.

Leonard Marks, 253 Dinwiddie street, Pittsburgh.

Earle B. Lafean, 356 Coltart square, Pittsburgh.

F. J. Keating, 1515 Eighth avenue, Beaver Falls, Pa.

Trips, Auto, Airplane And Other Prizes Await Winners

Contest Rules

1. You may submit as many "Believe It or Nots" as you wish. You do not have to submit any drawings or sketches. Write legibly on one side of the paper. Have your name and address on each sheet of paper if you send in more than one. Each entry must contain the explanation or proof of its truth. The Sun-Telegraph will not be responsible for the return of entries.

2. Contributions will be judged daily for the local prizes. No contribution will be considered which is mailed after midnight, May 16.

3. The contestant agrees to accept the judgment of the Sun-Telegraph in the awarding of the daily prizes. Only contributions winning daily prizes will be forwarded to Mr. Ripley to compete for the grand prizes. The contestant agrees to accept Mr. Ripley's judgment on the grand prize winners as final. Nine grand prize winners will be named in the order of the merit of his or her contribution. The first prize winner will have first choice of the nine grand prizes; the second prize winner will have his choice of the remaining eight prizes, and so on, until the grand prizes are all taken.

4. In case of ties the same prizes will be awarded to all tying contestants.

5. You do not have to buy the Sun-Telegraph to compete in this contest. Files of the Sun-Telegraph may be found at the public library or at the office of the Sun-Telegraph, where the drawings of Mr. Ripley and the instructions of the contest may be consulted.

You Can Win One of These Grand Prizes

A large audience came to applaud the fifth annual spring concert of the Horne Choral Society in the Nixon Theater last night. It was by far the best demonstration of its singing that we have heard, for now the chorus has done away with vaudeville effects and kept within the bounds of real choral singing.

Mr. Lissfelt

The program was excellently chosen from popular songs, spirituals and some favored opera choruses. There is a surprisingly bright quality in the ensemble of each choir of voices, but the director, Louis Hubach, has not yet succeeded in blending these four good parts into one still better unit. Intonation and diction throughout the evening were commendable, and the shortcomings—some monotony in nuance and lax rhythms—are only characteristic of such young choral groups.

The mixed chorus was best in Geibel's "'Tis Morn," and the "Bells of St. Mary's," in which it displayed genuine flexibility of tone and a joy of singing that always makes these choruses worth while. The spirituals, however, were sincerely understood. The male chorus alone was an interesting diversion and attempted some difficult works. The "Hospodi Pomiloi" (unfortunately mispronounced), is a test for any singers and certainly Campbell Tipton's "Spirit Flower," with its delicate shadings, proved the ability of these men.

This chorus is indeed a fortunate project of the Horne store and should have a bright future.

STANFORD GAME NATIONAL STANDOUT

THE SCHEDULING OF Stanford University to meet the Pitt Panthers in football at the Stadium here on Saturday, November 26, this coming season is one of the most popular bookings in the gridiron history of Pittsburgh. It will be a stand-out of national importance and interest. The first local appearance of a team from the Pacific Coast would have been a big attraction in itself, and this game will be all the more of a card to fill the Oakland bowl because the visiting outfit is to be Stanford, with your old friend Pop Warner coming back as a foe to fight it out with his one-time pupil, Jock Sutherland.

Pop Warner

It will be a red-letter football event from every other angle, too, and there's a big hand coming to Don Harrison for his success in landing it, even though it means that for the first time since 1900 Penn State will not be met, and that for the first time since before the old D. C. & C.-W. & J. series the city will be without a major football attraction on Thanksgiving Day. Director Harrison has done a masterful job of schedule making. Pitt will have one of the toughest slates in the country meeting, from the second game on, West Virginia, Duquesne, Army, Ohio State, Notre Dame, Penn, Nebraska, Carnegie Tech and Stanford, and the director has provided a pleasing share for the home fans, with the Duquesne, Ohio State, Notre Dame, Carnegie and Stanford games to be played in this city.

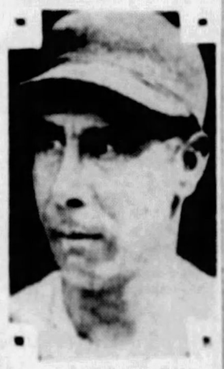
AS LONG AS Cincinnati is in the National League, St. Louis apparently can count on one soft spot. Any time the Cards are in a slump, a series with the Reds serves to put them on their feet again. Dan Howley's improved lineup this year hasn't changed the trend of things in competition with the Redbirds.

This week's sweep of three straight gave the Cards the unusual record of 62 victories in their last 71 games with the Reds in a little more than three seasons. Not only have the Howleys dropped five out of six to the world champions this spring, but in the six games they scored only 12 runs, six of those tallies coming in one game. They were shut out in the last two games this week and scored only one run in 27 innings in the entire three-game set.

IN SPITE OF Roger Cramer's disappointing showing, Connie Mack is said to be convinced that Bing Miller is about done, and the boss of the A's means to keep Cramer in right field until Ed Coleman has become more seasoned.

Cramer is a prize puzzle, a player of the type that wilts in competition despite an uncommon lot of natural ability. In practice he looks like a star. He can throw, run and field, and hits the ball on a line. But when real action begins he slumps. Mack clings to the hope that he may suddenly find himself.

THERE ISN'T A chance that the Schmeling-Sharkey fight on June 21 will end in a foul according to Jimmy Johnston. "One or the other may break an arm or a leg, or jump out of the ring," he says, "but the fight can't end in a foul. There's no such thing as a foul in the New York rules, and this time we are going by the rules. Each fighter must enter the ring wearing sufficient protection to insure against any damage being done by a foul blow. If one of them takes a low punch and goes down, he'll be counted out like any preliminary fighter."



Ben Tincup

ONE OF THE few players not finding much difference between day and night baseball is Ben Tincup, veteran Indian pitcher, who has worked in most of the leading loops of the country, including the big show, and is now hurling for Sacramento in the Coast League.

Tincup thinks the advantages and handicaps are about evenly distributed between pitchers and batters. He is of the opinion that the batsman cannot see the ball quite as well at night as in daytime, but that this is offset by the fact that more new balls are thrown into the game at night, which makes it harder for the pitcher to curve the sphere.

TINCUP, AN OLD pal of Jim Thorpe, calls attention to the fact that there are now two Indians in the baseball managerial ranks. Joe Guyon is managing Asheville in the Piedmont League, and Chief Bender, formerly pilot at Johnstown and New Haven, is again filling the role of a skipper, heading the Erire club in the Central League.

Guyon, like Thorpe, was one of Pop Warner's football stars at Carlisle. Joe and Ben were teammates for several years on the Louisville club in the American Association.

BASEBALL MAY STILL be the national game in spite of a falling off in attendance, but according to Senator Hawes, Democrat, of Missouri, it is not the most popular summer sport of the Southwestern or Southeastern sections. Hawes told the House Agriculture Committee that there are more fishermen and hunters in those sections than there are baseball players and baseball fans combined. The Senator's bill to promote the conservation of wild life, fish and game, and the co-ordination of various federal departments in this particular, was favorably reported by the committee. Seth Gordon, representing the Izaak Walton League and the American Game Association, appeared before the committee in support of the measure.

THE MAJORITY OF the horseracing experts continue to rate Tick On as the best horse left in the field for the Kentucky Derby tomorrow. His defeat by Springsteel at Havre de Grace is thrown out as having been due only to the bad racing luck.

And if Tick On is beaten tomorrow those same form students figure that, with Universe out, Brother Joe may be the colt to do it. In the thick of all the experting, some outsiders declare that Liberty Limted and the Whitney entry are not to be overlooked.

THOUGH THE RUNNING of the Derby before the Preakness is a reversal of the program of recent years, this is not the first time, by any means, that the Blue Grass classic has preceded the Pimlico feature.

The arrangement whereby the Preakness was staged before the Derby did not go into effect until 1920. Prior to that, the Derby was always run before the Preakness. When Sir Barton in 1919 won both big stakes—only Gallant Fox ever duplicated that dual win—the first of his two big victories was scored in the Derby. The Preakness was not run until a week later. Sir Barton won the Derby as a maiden, the only victory of that kind in the history of the Kentucky blue ribbon.

Jim Londos

YOU NEVER CAN tell what the wily wrestling bosses are pulling, and what looks like one thing on the surface may be just the opposite beneath. Maybe this latest is only a new form of ballyhoo intended to start a lot of talk, but in any event there is gossip in the East to the effect that Jack Curley and his champion, Jim Londos, are at odds, with a possibility that the Greek will jump to the Paul Bowser division. The trouble is said to have resulted from Curley's plan to have Londos meet Dick Shikat in Philadelphia, a match to which Londos is reported to be opposed. It sounds like the old smoke-up.

TICK ON SHOWS SPEED IN LAST WORKOUT

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 6.—(AP.)—Twenty thoroughbred 3-year-olds were entered today for the fifty-eighth running of the Kentucky Derby tomorrow afternoon at Churchill Downs.

Among them were the favorite, Tick On, owned by Mrs. L. G. Kaufman, of New York, quoted at 2-to-1 odds, and the E. R. Bradley entry, Brother Joe and Burgoo King, second choice at 4 to 1.

The race, $50,000 added, will be run over the mile and a quarter about 5 p. m., central standard time (7 p. m., Pittsburgh daylight saving time).

16 LIKELY STARTERS

Probably only 16 will face the barrier tomorrow, however, since four are doubtful starters, Crystal Prince, Thistle Ace, Our Fancy and Cee Tee.

Derby scratches cannot be made after 7 o'clock of the morning of the race.

Among the entries was Hoops, chestnut gelding, which put himself into derby class by his sensational time of 1:37 3-5 in winning a mile race yesterday.

TICK ON SHOWS SPEED

Tick On, in a final "blow" today, showed he can be counted on for early speed tomorrow. He worked three-eights of a mile and his trainer, Max Hirsch, timed him in :33 3-5, which is within one-fifth of a second of the American record for that distance. Clockers caught him, however, in time that varied from 34 3-5 to 35.

The Bradley pair, Brother Joe and Burgoo King, were sent over five-eighths of a mile in 1:01 2-5, and Stepenfetchit and Overtime, owned by Mrs. John Hay Whitney, worked a half-mile together in :49 2-5.

WASH-JEFF NET TEAM BEATEN

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 6.—Washington and Jefferson tennis players dropped a 5-2 decision to Bethany here yesterday. The Presidents captured two of the singles engagements for their points, the Bisons taking three singles and sweeping the doubles play. Both doubles matches were forced into extra sets by the Presidents. Summaries:

Singles—Thompson, W. & J., defeated Cowdery, Bethany, 6-2, 6-2; Ludwig, W. & J., defeated Eldridge, Bethany, 6-4, 6-2; Dallas, Bethany, defeated Graham, W. & J., 6-2, 6-1; Barkley, Bethany, defeated Perkins, W. & J., 6-0, 6-3; Brent, Bethany, defeated Hopper, W. & J., 6-4, 9-7.

Doubles—Dallas and Cowdery, Bethany, defeated Thompson and Ludwig, W. & J., 4-6, 6-3, 6-4; Barkley and Brent, Bethany, defeated Hopper and Perkins, W. & J., 4-6, 7-5, 6-2.

Topeka May Get Western Loop Club

TOPEKA, Kan., May 6.—(AP.)—A proposal for the transfer of the Joplin Club of the Western Association to Topeka was up for decision today at a meeting of club owners at Independence, Kan. Should the club owners approve the transfer, the team will play its first game here May 10.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: THE LONG-DISTANCE WATER WALKING CHAMPION—Capt. Charles W. Oldrieve, of Chelsea, Mass., won $5,000 on a bet and the world championship in water walking when he covered 1,600 miles on the water from Cincinnati to New Orleans. This bizarre journey was accomplished on the waters of the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers within the space of 46½ hours, February 17-18, 1907. Capt. Oldrieve supported himself on the surface with watershoes of his own invention. The shoes, weighing about 20 pounds each, were made of canvas stretched over a cedar framework. It was a very perilous as well as a strenuous journey, and the water walker faced death several times during his walk and suffered from severe attacks of rheumatism afterward. A MUSICIAN'S UBIQUITY—The date was October 2, 1930. Within 12 hours, Joe Berryman played the saxophone with a high school orchestra in Texarkana, Tex., the clarinet with a quartet in Texarkana, Ark., and the trumpet with another high school band in Shreveport, La., in the order named.

TOMORROW: FORTY MILES AN HOUR ON WATER SKIS.

DUKES STAGE CLINIC TODAY

A busy week-end of intercollegiate and scholastic track and field and football activity got under way this afternoon as Elmer Layden put on his football clinic on the Bluff practice field. Tomorrow, Pitt offers another gridiron clinic and the Panthers stage their twenty-fifth annual interscholastic track and field championships in the Stadium.

The Pitt varsity track and field squads engages Penn in a dual meet at State College tomorrow and the Duquesne varsity net team meets Waynesburg at Waynesburg.

The Dukes' clinic got under way at 1 o'clock, with the registration of guests. Dex Very, well known football official, was to explain the new rules in the gym at 2:30 and at 3:30, Coach Layden will send his varsity and freshman squads through a practice drill for the edification of the guests. A regulation game, between picked squads, will be played, beginning at 4:30.

Following the game, a dinner will be held at the K. A. C. Dex Very will discourse further on the rules and Leroy (Hank) Day, new head coach at Wash-Jeff, will talk on backfield play, with Joe Bach, line mentor at Duquesne, booked to speak on line play. Judge John Egan will serve as toastmaster.

The Pitt clinic will get underway at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. The feature of the Pitt gathering will be a regulation game, during which basic plays and formations will be explained and demonstrated.

The Pitt interscholastic meet is scheduled for action at 1 o'clock. A lineup of between 60 and 70 teams will be on hand, with New Castle, Boardman O., Akron South, Washington, East Palestine and Butler favorites to win the high point trophy.

The Tipoff

Leland Schacherer, former Geneva College football star, now coaching at East Liverpool, sends his school eleven against Youngstown Rayen's team in a spring practice tussle this evening under the lights.

Frank Shea is hoping for improvement in the form of his ace runner, Jack Keller, against Penn State at State College tomorrow. Keller, who is Pitt's only Olympic team possibility, hasn't shown his best form to date. He'll go in the 440 and half mile against the Lions.

Cam Henderson, head coach at Davis-Elkins and B. T. (Butch) Grover, the basketball mentor at Ohio University, will have charge of the annual D. and E. coaching school at Elkins, August 22 to 27, inclusive.

Seattle Girls Set Swim Mark

LONG BEACH, Cal., May 6.—(AP.)—Helene Madison and five teammates from the Washington Athletic Club, Seattle, swam faster than the best time on record for the six-girl 600-yard relay swim in an exhibition contest last night with members of the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

Miss Madison swam anchor lap on the squad, which splashed through in 6 minute 24 seconds. The present best time of 6 minutes and 37.8 seconds was set in 1925 at Miami, Fla., by a New York Women's Swimming Association team.

NO-HIT, NO-RUN GAME

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 6.—(AP.)—The first no-hit, no-run game of the 1932 Pacific Coast Baseball League season is credited to Tony Freitas, a left-hander, of Sacramento. Freitas blanked Oakland last night to win, 2 to 0. No Oakland batter reached first until the seventh, and then on a walk. Another pass was given in the ninth. Freitas fanned five.

ENGLISH IN LINEUP

CHICAGO, May 6.—(AP.)—Woody English, the Cubs' shortstop, who has been out of action since the training season because of a fractured finger, is ready to go back to work. English got into yesterday's game with Brooklyn as a pinch batsman, but Manager Rogers Hornsby has not decided to remove Bill Jurges while the club is going well.

LOCAL AMATEUR BOXERS LOSE

NEW YORK, May 6.—(AP.)—Thirty-two youngsters had punched their way into the semi-finals of the national amateur boxing championships today and won the right to compete in the final Olympic tryouts at San Francisco the second week in July.

The East, with the largest entry list, led all the rest with a dozen representatives in the semi-finals. The Midwest had 10; the South, 5; the Far West, 4, and Honolulu, 1.

WIN OLYMPIC CHANCE

These 32 survivors of an original starting field of 165 thus had won one of their two major objectives—a place in the Olympic trials. There remained, however, another goal, the eight national titles.

The survivors:

112 pounds—Tony Gamble, Erie, Pa.; James Perrin, New Orleans; Tony Valore, Cleveland; Lou Salica, New York.

118 pounds—Jimmy Martin, New York; Joe Ciotorino, Batavia, N. Y.; Sam Julian, Cleveland; Harry Burns, Boston.

126 pounds—Holman Wallace, Detroit; Pete Young, Buffalo; Richard Carter, New York; Tony Muscarello, Chicago.

135 pounds—Nat Bor, Fall River, Mass.; James McCarron, Boston; William Morrone, Detroit; Sol Resnick, New York.

147 pounds—Ruben White, Honolulu; Charles Crovatta, Uniontown, Pa.; Eddie Flynn, New Orleans; Andrew Bozzano, San Francisco.

160 pounds—Carmen Barth, Cleveland; Fred Waldmyer, Richmond, Va.; Fred Caserio, Chicago; Joe Biddle, Little Rock, Ark.

175 pounds—Max Marek, Chicago; Ray Jefferis, Philadelphia; Homer Brandis, San Francisco; Bob Hechler, Salt Lake City.

Heavyweights—Jack Holland, New Orleans; Stanglow Slater, Ann Arbor; George Schultz, Cleveland; Fred Feary, Stockton, Cal.

LOCAL STARS LOSE

Two Pittsburgh district boxers, Charley Crovatta, of Uniontown, junior National A. A. U. 147-pound champion, and Tony Gamble, of Erie, clever 112-pound star, lasted to gain the semi-final round. Three others were defeated in yesterday's scrapping. Al Sunseri, a lightweight; Joe Chemes, a 126-pounder, and Johnny Riske, hard hitting middleweight, all from the Pittsburgh Lyceum, being eliminated. Riske, however, reached the third round before meeting defeat.

Sunseri was beaten after a torrid battle by Alfred Schwartz, of Cincinnati. Chemes was outpointed by Richard Carter, New York Negro star, and Riske, after whipping Steve Muti, of Washington, in the second round, was in turn taken over by Fred Caserio, of Chicago.

Crovatta whipped Buster Hardy, of Newark, to gain the semi-final round, and Gamble outboxed Frank Sabello, of Chicago, for his third triumph.

COAST TEAM TO BE MET HERE NOV. 26

By JESS CARVER

The Pitt football team will be back on the gridiron next fall looking for competition in the unlimited weight class. The schedule practically is full, but any first class elevens wishing to book the Panthers for Friday night games, call or write either Don Harrison or Jock Sutherland at the Pitt Stadium office.

Note: Prospective opponents will have a far better chance of booking games if they do business with Mister Harrison. Dr. Sutherland is going to be slightly indisposed from now until about December, next.

The Panthers set forth their complete and revised gridiron card for 1932 yesterday with the pleasant but somewhat startling announcement that Stanford University would send its Cardinal eleven here for a game November 26, the Saturday following Thanksgiving Day. The scheduling of the Pacific Coast eleven was made possible through the courtesy of Penn State, which graciously consented to forego the pleasure of meeting Pitt on Thanksgiving Day in order that the Panthers might meet the Cardinals two days later. Graduate Manager Neil Fleming and Hugo Bezdek, athletic director, promptly released Pitt from its agreement when the matter was laid before them.

BOOK TOUGH SCHEDULE

There isn't a varsity eleven in the land with a schedule any more difficult or formidable confronting it than the one ahead of the Panthers. Ohio Northern, West Virginia, Duquesne, Army, Ohio State, Notre Dame, Penn, Nebraska, Carnegie Tech and Stanford—what a lineup! To make it tougher, Army, Penn, Nebraska and West Virginia will be met away from home.

Pitt and Stanford have met twice previous. In 1922, Pop Warner took his Pitt eleven to Palo Alto and trimmed the Cards, then under the guidance of Andy Kerr, 22 to 7. In 1927, the Panthers met the Cards in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena and lost, 7 to 6. The play on which Stanford scored its touchdown caused no small amount of discussion, and to this day many critics and experts insist that the Stanford score was haywire and that Pitt should have won the ball game, 6-0.

The invasion of Pittsburgh by the Stanford squad next November will mark the first time in history that an eleven from west of the Rockies has appeared here. Stanford has made two journeys east before, however, having walloped the Army in New York in 1928 and Dartmouth in Boston last year.

POP HOLDS EDGE

Foxy Pop Warner and one of his brightest and most successful pupils, Jock Sutherland, will renew their feud with this game. After Jock finished his playing days at Pitt he went to Lafayette as head coach, and since then has tried conclusions with the Old Man five times. His Lafayette team lost to Pop in 1920, 14-0; beat him in 1921, 6-0; won again in 1922, 7-0, and lost in 1923, 7-0. Then, in 1927, Pop won the rubber game, 7-6, this time directing Stanford against Pitt instead of Pitt against Lafayette.

All sections of the country, save the South, are represented on the Pitt card for next fall. Army and Penn represent the East; Ohio State and Notre Dame the Middle West; Nebraska, the West, and Stanford the Far West.

Pitt's complete schedule follows:

September 24—Ohio Northern at the Pitt Stadium.
October 1—West Virginia at Morgantown.
October 8—Duquesne at the Pitt Stadium.
October 15—Army at West Point.
October 22—Ohio State at the Pitt Stadium.
October 29—Notre Dame at the Pitt Stadium.
November 5—Penn at Philadelphia.
November 12—Nebraska at Lincoln.
November 19—Carnegie Tech at the Pitt Stadium.
November 26—Stanford at the Pitt Stadium.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—I hear the Cardinals are ready to shift their National League franchise, and you can't blame 'em. St. Louis fans are not only guilty of non-support, but the Browns could charge 'em with cruelty and desertion. Practically no Missouri fans ever see their ball games. I guess they are waiting for television.

When our club hits St. Louis to play the Browns it is just like secret practice. Still, it's great training for the boys if they want to go into vaudeville as a closing act of acrobats that nobody ever stays to look at.

WASHINGTON WINS HEARST SHOOT

LOCAL TEAMS FAIL TO COP AWARDS

A team of sharpshooters from the University of Washington punctured the targets for a score of 960 to win first honors in the 1932 National R. O. T. C. rifle competition for the William Randolph Hearst Trophies, the list of victors, announced today, reveals. The Washington team competed in the Senior Units division.

Don Cook was the "big gun" of the Washington team. He captured high individual honors with a score of 194.

The Greenbrier Military School's second team set the pace in the competition for essentially military schools with a mark of 931, but it remained for the Pasadena Junior College team to provide the real sensation of the annual event. Shooting in the Junior Units division, the Californians recorded the remarkable score of 975 to capture the first award.

For the first time in many years Pittsburgh district entrants failed to place among the prize winners.

The competition, recognized as one of unusual merit, long has been supported by the U. S. Army, and Army officers assisted in the checking of the targets. The list of winners and their scores:

By TOM BIRKS

While a few league games are scheduled for disposal this evening, it is likely that the fans will follow with much interest the Pittsburgh Collegians - Crawford game, scheduled for Greenlee Field. Just who will be on the Collegian roster has not been announced. The club will operate under its old management.

Fans are still in a daze following the last minute moves in the Greater Pittsburgh and West Penn Leagues. League organization work is tough at any time, but it works an additional hardship on league executives when teams pull out of a loop on the eve of opening day.

TWO TEAMS DROP

It is reported that the Braddock Klabans complained of poor attendance, but the Steel Town officials hardly could expect the fans to come out until the league schedule got under way. The Griffins hardly could be commended for pulling out of the West Penn, leaving Wagner with a seven-club league and little or no chance for the other managers to protect themselves.

The J. Scott Morgans, playing from the Homewood playgrounds, and members of the County League, wish to book games with first-class clubs in the Pittsburgh district. For games call Penhurst 7472.

The Johnstown Independents want to book games with the leading semi-professional clubs in the district. For games write Manager Johnny Salem, 727 Railroad street, Johnstown, Pa.

The Monessen club is booking some real attractions for the upriver fans. This evening the Homestead Grays will visit the steel and wire town, while tomorrow the Thompson A. A., under Tom Martin, will be the attraction.

EDGEWOOD VICTOR

In last evening's contests, in the Greater Pittsburgh League, Edgewood opened with a 9-0 win over Swissvale; Verona took Springdale, 3-0, and the Jenkins defeated Whitaker, 9-5.

In the Greater Pittsburgh League, city section, the Snees defeated the West Enders, 4-3; J. J. McGraths blanked Jena, 3-0, and the Lineys won over Banksville, 3-0.

The Homewood-Brushton Cardinals trimmed Mt. Lebanon, 7-0, in a Central circuit contest.

In independent tussles, the Griffin Oilers downed Blythedale, 9-3; Homewood noosed out the Monarchs, 5-3; Crawfords and Vandergrift tied at 4-4; Lincolns won over Manchester, 3-0, and the Martin Griffins walloped the North Side Civics, 12-5.

Oakland Players Asked to Take Cut

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 6.—(AP.)—Members of the Oakland baseball team in the Pacific Coast League have been asked by the owners to accept a 25 per cent salary cut or "gamble with fate."

A. R. Miller, president, and Victor A. Devencenzi, vice president of the club, explained the team was losing financially and that some move toward retrenchment was necessary.

The players will discuss the matter today.

Local Volleyball Team in Tourney

The Downtown Y. M. C. A. volleyball team is in Chicago to compete in the national open volleyball championships today and tomorrow, in which 16 teams from all over the United States and Canada will compete.

Earl Keib, John Weible, Herman Snyder, Carl Debberthine, Steve Myers, Ed Maurer, W. P. Holbrook, George Maxwell, Joe (Buss) Albright, popular Pitt student, and W. T. Rowe, coach, will make the trip.

The Downtown Y team is the Western Pennsylvania champion and also champion of the tri-state area. During the season 17 matches in volleyball were played and won. The Downtown Y team held the national championship from 1922 to 1926, inclusive.

The Olympic Games

By Lawson Robertson

Head Coach American Olympic Teams

CHAPTER XXVI.

This country is extremely fortunate in the fact that some of the boys have reached top form in this, the Olympic, year.

If 1931 had been the time for the games we would not have been so splendidly fortified. It was only during this winter that Ben Eastman, the great 440 and 880-yard man on the Pacific coast; Gene Venzke, the miler; Joe McClusky, the steeplechase runner, and Ernest Toppino, Frank Nordell, George Spitz and others have achieved real greatness.

Venzke was just a good miler last year. The experience gained since then has enabled him to break the records for the mile and the 1500 meters.

NEW STARS "ARRIVE"

Eastman wasn't regarded as more than a "comer" in 1931. Since then he has established two new world records and the way he has been going recently makes it seem as if he may fracture those marks before or during the Olympics.

Toppino made his first bid for fame last season, but it wasn't until during the late winter that he proved beyond all possible doubt that he is one of the fastest sprinters the world has known.

George Spitz gave evidence several years ago of jumping greatness. But what he did in 1930 and 1931 has been eclipsed by his magnificent jumps in the indoor meets this season.

Spitz stood out as a good jumper last year. But more training, more practice and the confidence that comes with the years now makes him a world record holder—champion of champions.

Then there's Leo Sexton. He was a good weight man in 1931. Today he is at his superlative best. He is a record holder—champion of his kind. Last year he wasn't.

WYKOFF HELD BACK

For a while we could count Frank Wykoff among those who became definitely marvelous this year, for Wykoff was running at a phenomenal clip. He has suffered injuries since that have thrown him partly out of training and this may dim the lustre that he had gained.

Joe McCluskey was a splendid two-mile runner in 1931. But he is better today than ever before. Others have come along with this group of dazzling stars and perhaps before the Olympics are staged we will have some new wonders to thrust at the foreign invaders.

But even if that doesn't happen we will have Venzke, Eastman, Sexton, Toppino, Spitz and McClusky at the peak of form—just when we need them at their best.

Duquesne Honors Soccer, Court Teams

The Duquesne Republican Club held a booster banquet for its soccer football and basketball teams last evening at the First M. E. Church.

A large crowd turned out for the occasion. Ross L. Leffler was the toastmaster, while William D. Mansfield, Allegheny County Commissioner; Judge John Egan, John R. Davies, dean of Duquesne basketball; A. L. (Boots) Cromlish, superintendent of Duquesne Steel Works, and an old-time soccer player, and William J. Filcer spoke.

Steve and Bill Kowallis, of the University of Pittsburgh basketball team, were introduced. George Webb and Dave Flockhart's orchestra entertained.

GOLF CONFERENCE

Section I—Shady Side at Wilkinsburg; Sewickley at Arnold School.
Section II—Kiski at Carrick; Peabody at Oliver; McKeesport at Bellevue.

By JULIUS LEVIN

With a full schedule of games in both sections of the City League and contests carded in all divisions of the W. P. I. A. L. scholastic baseball supporters face an attractive program today.

Schenley, last year's City League champion, opposes Allderdice at Schenley in the Section I headliner. Allegheny Vocational plays at Peabody in the other game carded in this division.

South Hills, runnerup in 1931, engages Langley at Langley Field and Carrick plays at Oliver in the Section II contests.

Aliquippa and Ambridge likely will present the feature attraction on the W. P. I. A. L. card. The two Beaver Valley nines are members of Section II.

Scholastic golfers also will have a share of today's sports activities. Matches are scheduled in each of the two sections of the Scholastic Golf Conference.

In Section I Shady Side plays at Wilkinsburg, while Sewickley is the attraction of Arnold School. Three matches are listed in Section II. Kiski appearing at Carrick, Peabody at Oliver and McKeesport at Bellevue.

In diamond engagements yesterday, Allegheny nosed out Westinghouse, 7 to 6; Rankin defeated Edgewood, 10-8, and Ambridge made it two in a row over Aliquippa, 6-5.

Westinghouse's track and field team walloped Peabody, 86-49; Carrick defeated South Hills, 84-52; Langley downed Allderdice, 67½-49½, and Schenley defeated Fifth Avenue, 70-25.

Schenley's tennis team defeated Westinghouse, 4-1, and the Mt. Lebanon netters blanked the Duquesne Freshmen, 7-0.

Knockouts Feature Y. M. H. A. Battles

A brace of knockouts featured the amateur boxing show staged at the Y. M. & W. H. A. last night. Seven bouts were on the program.

Al Gold, of the Y. M. H. A., knocked out Tommy Tuite, of the Madison A. C., in the 112-pound class, and H. Jacob, also of the home club, stopped H. Mittemeyer, of the Krah A. C., in a 135-pound class bout.

S. PARK TENNIS OPENING SET

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Formal opening of the public parks racquet season is slated for South Park tomorrow, when special card of exhibition contests will liven the afternoon for court devotees of the district. According to word released today by C. E. Forrest, director of athletics in county parks, netmen of the Pittsburgh Athletic Association and out-of-town feminine stars will offer a program of men's and women's singles and men's and mixed doubles.

In the man-to-man feature tussle, Dr. John O'Loughlin, No. 1 ranking ace of the Pittsburgh area, will tangle with his brother, Dr. Dave, rated just below him on the official list for 1931.

The women's singles fracas looms as of particular interest. In it, Margaret Carspecken, brilliant Morgantown player, who has captured the Philadelphia women's turf court championship the past two summers, will encounter Mrs. DeLloyd Thompson, of Washington, Pa.

In men's doubles, the O'Loughlins are billed to gang up against their Winged Head teammates, Jack Lauler and Sullivan, while in mixed doubles, Mrs. Thompson and Lauler will meet Miss Carspecken and Sullivan.

VALLEY HEIGHTS EVENT TODAY

Activity in the country clubs is on the increase as the month of May rolls along. Mrs. Carl Warmcastle, chairman of the Women's Golf Committee, announces that the competitive season will get under way today as the Valley Heights members swing into action.

Shannopin Country Club will celebrate hospitality day tomorrow, golf terminating with a dinner dance. President L. A. Bruback and his committee is planning quite an opening day program for the Highlanders and their friends.

Chartiers Heights inaugurate activity tomorrow with club members from St. Clair Country Club and Keystone Athletic Club as guests.

Sunday, newspaper men will be the guests of Ted Luther, popular professional at the Valley Heights Country Club. This is Ted's first season at the club overlooking Oakmont. He reports that the course is in wonderful shape. But wait until that army of niblick-wielding scribes swing into action!

The clubhouse at Churchill Country Club will not be completed for a few weeks, according to Jimmy O'Donnell.

PAUL WANER OFF TO FINE START

PIRATES' STAR OUT TO LEAD SLUGGERS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Although he was stopped by Recruit Lonnie Warnecke, of the Cubs, Paul Waner, great batsman of the Pirates, stands a fine chance to remain up, with the other unusual hitters of the National League throughout the long race. The lad who flagged down Paul and Gus Suhr, also, is one of the best young pitchers in the game. Warnecke looks like a "natural" on the mound; he has speed, a fine curve and apparently he knows a lot about his art.

Brother Paul is tickled on account of the fine start he has made this season. The rightfielder was off to a very poor start one year ago but by "bearing down" he was able to finish the year with a fine mark. His running jump of this season should stand in his stead.

BOOSTS CHUCK KLEIN

The older of the two famous brothers thinks that Chuck Klein, here with the Quakers, has an excellent chance to lead the league in batting. Klein is still a kid, in a manner speaking, and should improve.

The ball of reduced resiliency introduced in the National last year resulted in some bad reactions insofar as certain sluggers were concerned, but the new sphere did not crimp the style of the consistent batsmen to any great extent. Fellows like Chick Hafey, Jim Bottomley, Bill Terry, Klein, the two Waners and several others moved right along in a fast clip.

LIVELY BALL IN FORCE

The American League still retains possession of the lively "rabbit," which accounts for the greater number of homers in that circuit as compared with the senior league. The ball in use in the National League makes for scientific play; nobody will dispute the contention that the champions of the Heydler circuit were vastly superiors to the American League standard bearers in the point of good base running and other elements that are not developed where the balls are rampant with liveliness.

The new sacrifice fly rule, however, has cut into the averages of every batter. Under the new legislation a batter is charged with a time at bat even if his long fly drives in the winning run. This rule seems a bit inconsistent.

The first game of the Pirate-Philly series scheduled for yesterday afternoon was called off on account of rain. It will be played here as a part of a doubleheader, July 19.

Beginning Monday and continuing throughout the season, with the exception of Saturdays and holidays, the Pittsburgh baseball club, in conjunction with the Welfare Fund, will admit free to Forbes Field 25 fans daily. In making the announcement for the club, President William E. Benswanger explained that all who desired to accept the offer would be required to make application for the tickets at the Welfare Fund offices. In cases where a man in possession of a pass is accompanied by his wife, the latter also will be admitted free.

GERARD RESIGNS

NEW YORK, May 6.—(AP.)—Eddie Gerard yesterday resigned as manager of the New York Americans of the National Hockey League. Gerard said he was considering an offer to manage the Montreal Maroons of the same league.

ATHLETICS ROUT WES FERRELL

Associated Press.

Wesley Ferrell won more games than any righthander in the American League last season, 22 of them, but he still is just a "cousin" to the Philadelphia Athletics.

The Cleveland ace started against the Mackmen six times last year, was knocked out of the box twice and charged with five defeats, almost half his total of reverses against all clubs. He didn't win one. Ferrell was chosen to open the eastern campaign at Shibe Park yesterday.

FERRELL CHASED

When Ferrell finally threw in the sponge in the seventh inning he had been raked for 12 hits and the score was 11 to 2. The final count, after the A's had finished up on Pete Jablonowski, was 15 to 3.

In the only other American League tussle, the St. Louis Browns rallied to score nine runs in the sixth and seventh rounds and defeat Boston, 11 to 3.

Thanks to two errors by their opponents at crucial spots, the Brooklyn Dodgers opened their tour of the National League's western points with a 2-to-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

LOMBARDI STARS

Ernie Lombardi, big catcher, returned to the Cincinnati lineup to knock in four runs with a home run and a triple and prove a big factor in the Reds' 9-to-6 defeat of the Boston Braves.

Led by Bill Terry and Hughie Critz, the eighth place New York Giants slugged Bill Hallahan and three other Cardinal pitchers for a 10-to-6 victory in their opener.

By HARRY KECK

Sports Editor.

The Moose Temple Boxing Club sings its swan song for the season tonight, when Promoter Jules Beck rings down the curtain with a card of two 10-round bouts and two six-rounders in the downtown arena.

Lou Terry, of St. Louis, highly touted as a right-hand puncher, boxes Frankie Bojarski, a hard-hitting Erie southpaw, in the main event, and Matty Oldach, of Erie, comes here to box Joey Speigal, of Uniontown, in the co-feature.

Jimmy Hogan, Erie middleweight, boxes Anson Green, Negro, of Homestead, in the second bout, and Eddie Zivic, brother of Jack, Pete and Fritzie, makes his professional debut in the opener against Howard Scott, of St. Louis, stablemate of Terry.

Between Rounds

Abie Witz, back in town for a few days from St. Michaels, Pa., where he has Sailing Gizzy training for his battle with Champion Tony Canzoneri at the Meyers Bowl on May 23, admits he is turned up and then some about Manager Ray Alvis' squawk from Chicago, printed here a few days ago, against the selection of Gizzy as Canzoneri's opponent in preference to Alvis' Tony Herrera, who meets Lew Massey in the windup at Motor Square Garden Monday night.

"You can say for me," Abie protested, "that Gizzy never refused to fight Massey, as stated by Alvis, and that as for Gizzy helping Herrera to get in shape for his fight with Massey, let Tony go ahead and beat Massey and maybe we'll let him serve as a sparring partner for Gizzy before the Canzoneri fight. Alvis has enough to do to watch his own fighters without telling other managers how to handle their men."

Buck McTiernan has trained well at the Pittsburgh Lyceum for his comeback bout in Erie tonight against Joe Trippe, following a layoff of a number of months and hopes to come through in good shape and fit to battle Jack Wilson at Hickey Park on May 19. Wilson is training daily for this bout at Lowood gym.

Ernie Schaaf and Jack Gross, heavies, will sub for the postponed Jack (Kid) Berg-Sammy Fuller fight in Madison Square Garden, New York, Friday night of next week.

Jimmy Carnes, of Chicago, was a visitor in Pittsburgh yesterday to confer with matchmakers about bringing his middleweight, Jack Kilbourne, here in the near future.

DERBY ON WCAE

The Kentucky Derby will be broadcast over WCAE tomorrow from 4:45 to 7:30 p. m. Graham McNamee and Clem McCarthy will be at the microphone. Ted Husing will describe the event for the Columbia chain, which will be heard in Pittsburgh over WJAS.

SPORT VIGNETTES

Paul Waner, Pirates' outfielder, ranks with the best in sports when it comes to quick wit in front of a microphone . . . Paul, who has been on a couple of the Trained Seals' programs, enters into the spirit of the thing in fine style and is clever, if not deadly, in his execution both when it comes to speaking and playing the saxophone . . . In other words, he's a natural-born showman, going through his stuff with all of the sangfroid of a Rudy Vallee.

Frank Speers, the rassler, who has been on all of the cards presented here this winter, is a big, rough, tough fellow on the mat, who looks twice as big in his street clothes . . . Yet he is a personable chap outside the ring . . . He played on the Georgia Tech football team of 1930 against Carnegie Tech at the Pitt Stadium when the Golden Tornado took a bad lacing . . . This was one of the poorest Georgia Tech teams in years . . . However, he also had the honor of playing on one of the best of the Atlanta elevens, the one of 1928, which went to California to play Southern California in the Tournament of Roses game in which Roy Riegels made his famous reverse run toward his own goal line, setting the stage for a blocked punt that gave Georgia Tech victory . . . Speers was an all-America tackle that year.

Explaining Riegels' run, Speers said it could have happened to any player . . . A Tech back fumbled the ball and it plopped into Riegels' possession and he started off in the right direction, found himself blocked, turned in toward the center of the field, found himself blocked there, turned around and finally got straightened out, but was going the wrong way . . . Both ends of the Bowl look the same and there's no way to get one's bearings under such conditions . . . Benny Lom, a teammate, trailed Riegels and could have brought him down sooner, but waited until Roy was near the goal, when he dragged him down from behind.

It is not generally known, but Lew Raymond, new matchmaker at the Meyers Bowl, is the man who had a prior contract with Jack Dempsey when the latter first hit New York, as a result of which John the Barber's suit against Dempsey and Jack Kearns was thrown out of court . . . Raymond bought the contract for $200 from Jack Price, who took Dempsey to New York, Price using the money to go back home to Nevada, where a brother was seriously ill.

Lou tells a good story about why Dempsey and Harry Wills never met . . . He said that when they signed articles for a fight in Niles, Mich., at South Bend, for Andy Weisberg, former local hotel man, they tried to pretend for publicity sake that Dempsey and Wills never had met and were actually strangers despite the great hullabaloo about getting them together . . . The pair were introduced and Wills, a giant of a man, put one finger under each of Dempsey's armpits, and, with a "Howdy, Champ!" lifted him bodily from the floor and deposited him a few feet away.

Dempsey was impressed by Wills' strength and commented upon it later . . . They never fought in the ring and it remained for Jack Sharkey to explode the Wills bubble in a bout which demonstrated that the once formidable Negro fighter had gone to seed with age and would have been ducksoup for the hard-hitting Dempsey, who had let Wills' play on psychology beat him out of what would have been the most lucrative match of his career.—HARRY KECK.

JOHNNIES WIN OVER COLTS

Johnstown, Beckley and Charleston turned in victories as the Mid-Atlantic League inaugurated its campaign yesterday.

At Cumberland, the Johnnies upset the champion Colts, 2 to 1. Dutch Thompson and Milton Brown staging a fine hurlers' duel.

Beckley's Black Knights defeated Clarksburg's Generals, 6 to 3, in a night game at Clarksburg. Groseclose hit a home run for Beckley.

Charleston's Senators scored three runs in the first inning and remained out in front all the way in defeating Huntington, 5 to 2. Neither of the Huntington runs were earned.

Kappa Sigs Win Pitt Meet Crown

Kappa Sigma fraternity athletes at Pitt captured six of the 10 events on the program of the annual interfraternity track and field championship meet in the Pitt Stadium yesterday afternoon, more than enough to win the title.

The Kappa Sigs scored 27½ points. Delta Tau Delta finished second with 19½ and Phi Gamma Delta third with 8½.

Ted Dailey, Pitt football player, won the 100-yard dash, the baseball throw and ran third on the relay team. The complete point score follows:

Kappa Sigma, 27½; Delta Tau Delta, 19½; Phi Gamma Delta, 8½; Phi Beta Teta, 6½; Sigma Chi, 5½; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 5; Alpha Phi Delta, 3; Theta Delta Phi, 4½.

Arlett's Homer Too Long—Ends Bridge Game

BUFFALO, May 6.—(INS.)—Buzz Arlett, the former Oakland (Cal.) ball player, now with the Baltimore Orioles, was told today to "call his shots."

Buzz hit his third home run in two days and his eleventh this season yesterday, in an International League game against Buffalo. The ball soared over the right field fence, crashed a window in a home and hit Mrs. Ida Moore, 45, on the head. Mrs. Moore was playing bridge when she was hit.

SOVIETS READY TO BUY USED EQUIPMENT

N. Y. Builder Urges America Clean Up Its Big Surplus By Meeting Russia's Call

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service

NEW YORK, May 6.—Many have talked about the paradox of plenty in the modern business world, but few have done anything about it. Many have alluded to the alleged over-equipment of American industry, but almost no one has suggested any corrective.

Miles M. Sherover, New York builder, who recently rendered technical aid to the Soviet construction trust, suggests that overburdened American industrials sell part of their excess tools and equipment to the Soviet. He reports that the Soviet is ready to buy such second-hand capitalistic tools, provided it can get them at a satisfactory price on reasonably long credit terms.

Mr. Rukeyser

CREDIT STATUS CURIOUS

Mr. Sherover makes the point that combing over American equipment will help to clean up the situation, and put well managed concerns in readiness to buy newer and better equipment as soon as conditions warrant. Lifting the surplus off the market, he insists, would have the effect of removing the deadening effect on initiative. Even if American industry would not be overequipped for conditions of peak prosperity, it is doubtless true that much of the equipment would become obsolete and ought to be replaced.

On the other hand, Russia is still running a collective training school in the use of tools, and believes that second-hand equipment will meet its needs. Furthermore, with its credit in a curious status, Russia finds that it cannot buy new equipment on long terms, but hopes that those with dead assets consisting of surplus equipment will be willing to sell it on the partial payment plan, since such a sale requires the seller to make no cash outlays.

UPHOLDS RELIABILITY

The statistics which Mr. Sherover quotes concerning the manner in which Russia has met its trade obligations in the last 14 years are positively wicked, for, if true, they do not support the widely accepted belief in this country that the Soviets are unreliable. Mr. Sherover, quoting the record, insists Americans have overvalued the hazard of Soviet treachery, while greatly undervaluing the possibility of treachery in numerous non-Russian loans, which are in default. Apparently the trouble with Mr. Sherover is that he is pro-Russian, which is certainly not a trait calculated to make him respected in correct circles.

Without attempting to pass upon this specific proposition, I am in favor of the principle of getting wealth and capital goods out of the place where they make for glutted markets into channels where they will be needed. Under healthy conditions, trade is in continuous flow. Business is today suffering from a dearth of buyers. Instead of dissipating our resources by seeking to peg questionable loans or to restore lost economic values, it is better to place emphasis on job-creating, constructive tasks.

Position of Banks in This Reserve District Improved During April

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

BANKS IN THIS section of the country are having smooth sailing. The monthly review of the Federal Reserve Bank in the Fourth District for April shows general improvement in all the statistics covering the condition of banks.

The Fourth District includes Ohio, Western Pennsylvania, the West Virginia Panhandle and Eastern Kentucky. The principal cities in the area are Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Cincinnati.

In the entire section only two small non-member banks suspended during April. In March three banks closed their doors. The review declares that reorganization plans leading to the opening of several closed banking institutions are progressing partly with the aid of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

* * *

Banks in District Getting Out of Debt

ANOTHER SIGN of improvement is a sharp reduction in member bank borrowings from the Federal Reserve in this district. This reflects strong public confidence and greater liquidity of the banking institutions.

An additional factor of improvement is a slowing down in the rate of decline in savings bank deposits. Savings deposits at 45 selected banks receded only .3 per cent in March, or $2,500,000, as against reductions of 1 per cent in February and 3 per cent in January. Compared with a year ago, however, these deposits were down 15.8 per cent. Recent withdrawals from savings accounts undoubtedly reflect the prevailing low rate of employment.

* * *

Discounts Lowest Since Last October

IN ANALYZING the improvement in the banking situation, the review says:

The most important change in condition figures of the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland in the four weeks ended April 20 was a $25,000,000 reduction in bills discounted for member banks. A drop of $20,000,000 in this item occurred in the closing week of March, but it was followed by increases in the first two weeks of April. In the week ended April 20, however, another reduction occurred which brought the total of bills discounted down to $78,815,000 on that date, the lowest level since the first week in October, 1931. One year ago discounts totaled only $11,768,000.

This recent decline in discounts may be attributed in part to the indirect effects of the system's purchases of government securities, and in part to the return flow of currency and the decline in the rate of withdrawals of deposits from member banks. In the four weeks ended April 20, the Federal Reserve banks purchased $243,000,000 of government securities. This money was chiefly available to the New York banks, creating easy money conditions there. Gradually, however, part of these funds found their way to some interior centers. This occurred chiefly in the form of advances to banks by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which made necessary the transfer of Treasury funds from New York, and as payments for securities sold in New York. Money thus obtained by banks was partly used to reduce borrowings from the Reserve banks.

JERSEY MERGER TERMS SET

NEW YORK, May 6.—Sale of the interest of Standard Oil Company of Indiana in the foreign properties of Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company to Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, which has been virtually concluded, involves an estimated $146,000,000. Under the agreement the Jersey company will pay for the properties $50,000,000 in cash over a period of four years and the remainder, estimated at $96,000,000, in shares of the Jersey stock at their book value as of December 31, 1931.

To all Pan-American stockholders the net result will be that they will have an opportunity to accept for their interest in the foreign situation $14.65 in cash and more than half a share of Jersey stock for each share of Pan-American stock now held by them. They will have remaining an interest in Pan-American's domestic properties amounting to approximately $10 in cash, or its equivalent, and about $14 book value of additional assets per share.

RAPS WHITNEY BOND 'PEG'

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(AP)—The purchase of German reparation bonds by the firm in which Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, is a member, to support the market while the bonds were being sold, was criticized yesterday in a statement by David Stock, assistant counsel for the Senate Banking Committee.

Emphasizing that he was speaking as an individual and not as official of the committee, Stock compared the action of Whitney's firm with manipulation of the market which he pointed out Whitney said was a violation of stock exchange rules.

Whitney testified in the committee's stock market investigation that his firm bought $9,200,000 of German reparation bonds on the order of a syndicate headed by J. P. Morgan, which was selling the bonds to the public.

Montgomery Ward's April Sales Down

CHICAGO, May 6.—(AP)—April sales of Montgomery Ward & Co. showed a decrease of 21.35 per cent as compared with April, 1931, with sales for 1932 to date down 22.58 per cent, the company announced.

Sales for April were $16,168,558, compared with $20,558,449 for April, 1931. Total sales for 1932 to April 30 amounted to $54,213,952, for the same period last year they were $70,024,785.

Dealers Advance Acceptance Rates

NEW YORK, May 6.—Dealers have advanced the yield rates on bankers' acceptances ¼ of 1 per cent. The move was interpreted as rectifying a too drastic slashing of the rates in recent weeks, which had tended to stifle the demand for this sort of commercial paper. The new bid rate for 30-90-day acceptances is 1¼ per cent, for four months 1⅜ per cent, and for 5-6 months 1⅝ per cent.

Plymouth-De Soto Sales Gain 72%

DETROIT, May 6.—During the week ended April 30 retail deliveries by De Soto dealers totaled 1,885 cars, including Plymouth sales, compared with 1,787 in the week preceding. Retail sales including Plymouth for April totaled 7,130 cars, or 72 per cent greater than April, 1931, when 4,151 cars were delivered at retail, and 46 per cent above March deliveries this year of 4,907 cars.

"Gunman's Moll" Reveals Secrets of Underworld

GUNMEN and gangsters are being glorified these days in novels, in the movies and on the stage. The women of these bandits — "gunmen's molls" — are also presented as care-free queens who stagger under a weight of jewels and furs. But this conception is evidently untrue. Quite a different picture of real life in the modern underworld has been drawn by one who knows—a girl who was a "gunman's moll."

Look for the opening chapters of her thrilling revelations in next Sunday's American Weekly. She was the "Bright Eyes" (the lookout) for a gang and the sweetheart of the leader. More than 500 hold-ups in New York City, without capture or serious casualties, were managed by this rather successful bandit outfit. But the girl had the courage to defy the law of the underworld when the man she loved was "taken for a ride." She told the police all about the killers and gave the testimony in court which put two of the gang in Sing Sing.

And now she reveals the truth of gangster life—a wretched existence, with rewards utterly inadequate to the risks, and a disastrous end which cannot be escaped. She hides nothing; she tells all—as you will see in the remarkably interesting series starting, next Sunday, in The American Weekly.

MURDER OF THE NIGHT CLUB LADY :-: :-: By ANTHONY ABBOT

Biologist Says That He Has Learned What Caused Death of Girls

CHAPTER XXVI.

"And Eunice James?"

"Just a little German girl from Staten Island. I think she is in love with Guy Everett."

"Quite likely," smiled Colt. "Now what have you got about Lola?"

Flynn pulled a sheaf of papers from a side pocket.

"Plenty," he answered, "but what does it mean? By working here, and telegraphing Hollywood, we have interviewed three of her former leading men, one producer, a costumer, and a scenario writer who was in love with her. Also a dozen wealthy men she was friendly with here in New York. None of them will say very much. If I were to make a guess, I would say that Lola had something on them all."

"And you would be right!" smiled Colt. "What about her arrival in this country?"

"Got that, too. Of course the records were all locked up, but those Department of Justice boys can get pretty nearly anything they want. Lola came to this country alone about 12 years ago—here are the records!"

DOCTOR'S WIFE JEALOUS

Colt studied the transcript of the State Department records with absorbed interest. Then he tucked them in his pocket.

"And about Christine?" he went on.

"Her brother and his wife are leading citizens of Rochester. Their reputation is first rate. They did leave on the train for New York—but so far they haven't reached here."

"Unless they arrived before the crimes," murmured Colt.

"There's always that," asserted Flynn, closing one eye. "As for Vincent Rowland, he went home, went to bed, and from all accounts is at this minute sound asleep."

"Sensible man!" sighed Colt. "What report did you get on Dr. Baldwin?"

"The worst of all," revealed Inspector Flynn heavily. "He spent the rest of his night at his office. Hasn't gone home yet. The bellboys at their apartment house say he and his wife quarrel frequently—over money and Lola Carewe. People in the next apartment say the same thing. They say the wife is a good woman and all that—but fat and jealous! And that's bad!"

REPORTS FROM ENGLAND

Colt nodded his entire concurrence, as he lit his pipe and shuffled the typed reports into a drawer.

"What about the bottle and the writing paper that you found under the mattress?" he asked.

Flynn shrugged his shoulders. "No fingerprints on any of it," he growled. "Looks to me like we're dealing with a professional."

"Or with a smart amateur," amended Colt, as he turned to another pile of papers beside him. "Here are the cables from Scotland Yard.

"Macy sends on the report about Lola Carewe's hybrid past," continued Colt, reading hastily. "Started life as a London working girl. Once arrested for a fight with another girl in the millinery shop in Soho where she was employed. Then disappeared. Reappeared along the Riveria as a dancing girl. Waltz of her own invention called 'The Scorpion'!"

Colt looked over at me and chuckled. My chief loves the whimsical, the odd and the extravagant in all the affairs of life. He could not hide his pleasure in this picturesque detail.

PICTURE IDENTIFIED

Quickly he shuffled through the other reports lyin there—the official statements of the department chemists and the Assistant Medical Examiner, and a message from Fallon, left in charge of the penthouse, stating that all was quiet. Colt was about to pass on, when a telephone rang. The operator warned us that we would presently receive a call from M. Dupont in Paris.

"Thank God—the old boy works fast," exulted Colt aloud.

"You are banking on Lola Carewe's past as the key to the whole thing?"

"I am, Tony—it seems logical to me that, one way or another, the more we learn of Lola, the nearer we come to the killer of herself and Christine."

"And this Basil?"

Again the telephone rang. The connection was complete; M. Dupont was ready to speak with M. Colt. The great French police detective came directly to the point. He had taken the portrait, conveyed to him by the telephotographic service, and shown it to Grandon, the photographer, in the Avenue D'Iena. After some search, the picture was identified—and here the under-oceanic voice of M. Dupont became tense with excitement.

"It is Basil Boucher, mon cher ami—Basil Boucher, and no other—when I heard that name I was tremendously excited. For I remembered the name—a cause celebre—here in Paris."

"I'm all attention, M. le Prefect!"

"Ah, well! Basil Boucher was an honest young bank clerk of very respectable parents. Then one day he met a dancer. Her name was Lola—I know no other. In my city she had left behind her a sordid trail of ruined men. Basil Boucher loved her. He promised her a ruby if she would love him. To get the money—he robbed the bank. We came to arrest him—he had disappeared. Voila!"

"My dear confrere, may I request another great favor from your kindness?"

"It is with pleasure that I cooperate."

"May I have by telephoto all the pictures of Basil Boucher and his family that you can find?"

"Avec plaisir——"

"Especially the carte d'identite pictures in your office."

"It shall be as you wish, M. Colt!"

"A moment or two more, please——"

"A thousand, if you wish them!"

"What business did the Boucher family have?"

"The son, Basil, was a bank employe—a teller, do you say? The father had a little shop, where he sold specimens to medical laboratories. A malodorous business, M. Colt!"

"Vraiment! Further, did you get word from Roumania?"

"Of a certainty, yes! They have no record of a M. Jorga. But they say it is a good old Roumanian name!"

"Thanks!"

Colt sat back with a smile.

"I knew it," he muttered. "I was sure of it!"

But he refused to explain what he meant, and a moment later the telephone rang again. Prof. Luckner was calling.

"Good morning, Herr Commissioner!" rumbled the old biologist—as usual, I was making notes on an extension phone.

"Good morning, Herr Professor!"

"Herr Commissioner, the superiority of machines over night-sticks has again been demonstrated. You have made possible another triumph of the greatest of the detective weapons—the vacuum cleaner!"

"Which means?' prodded Colt, as the good-humored old professor paused for effect.

"I know what killed the young ladies—but I won't tell you. You will have to come and see for yourself."

"We'll be right up!" snapped Colt and jammed the receiver back on the hook.

Synopsis

Lola Carewe is mysteriously murdered in her penthouse apartment at 3 o'clock New Year's morning. An hour later, the body of Lola's guest, Christine Quires, is found in Lola's room. Christine had been killed first and her body hidden. Dr. Hugh Baldwin attributes both deaths due to heart failure. Guy Everett, Christine's New Year's Eve escort, claims he brought her home at 12:15 and then went, riding alone, on the Motor Parkway. Mrs. Carewe, Lola's mother, denies seeing Christine return. Police Commissioner Thatcher Colt discounts District Attorney Dougherty's theory that Lola was killed by a jewel thief ring she headed and that Christine met the same fate for knowing too much. Vincent Rowland, Lola's lawyer, discloses that Everett loved Lola and was jealous of Dr. Baldwin. The Commissioner telephotoes a picture of a young man, named Basil, found on Lola's dresser, to the Paris Prefect of Police requesting that he identify it and investigate Lola's past. The police are on the trail of Christine's brother, Edward, who left his Rochester home for New York after receiving a telegram New Year's Eve. Christine was to have inherited wealth shortly. Dr. Multooler, the medical examiner, contradicts Dr. Baldwin's statement that heart failure caused the deaths. Everett confesses he lied about riding on the Motor Parkway. He states Christine told him she had found out a plot to murder Lola and feared for her own life because of her knowledge, adding that Dr. Baldwin was involved.

Heart of a Wife

By ADELE GARRISON

Lillian Leaves for Brixton House Party

"We put a hot one over that time, Lady Fair," Mr. Underwood said when Lillian had hurried out of the room to make ready for the quick journey to the Brixton home on which she had decided after her husband had suggested her going.

"We killed the b'ar," I mocked, "only you're not doing the bragging. In fact, I think you must be suffering from that overworked article, an inferiority complex, if you include me in the feat of getting her to go. This is all your work, and you should have all the credit for it."

"Who's responsible for her knowing anything about Owen, and for suggesting that she go?" he demanded, smiling at me significantly. "You risked her getting a mad on by telling her, but I didn't notice any welshing on the job on your part. No, no, old girl, you're in with me on this, and more power to us! It's the best thing that could happen. Lil never would have thought she could go up there and leave everything here if we hadn't inadvertently thrown a scare into her about Marion. But now she's simply raring to go. She'll turn Owen inside out like a glove, once she gets in action up there. And he'll never know he's being manipulated. But I'm keeping you from telephoning Mrs. Brixton. I won't go for a walk just now. I'll stay here, instead, so if Katherine wants anything in the sickroom, I'll be on the job and you'll be free for the telephone stunt. By the way, does Lil know the way to get there?"

MADGE CHECKS ROUTES

"I don't think so," I returned. "That's what I want to do first, get those straightened out by telephone, before she starts. Then, after she goes, I can telephone Mrs. Brixton at what time to meet her."

He made me a sweeping bow.

"Efficiency, thy name," he began, but I hurried out of the room, laughing, and went to the telephone where I spent a busy 10 minutes checking up on routes from New York City to which our afternoon train would take Lillian, to the village near the Brixton camp, where her rail journey would end.

"Your best bet is to take a bus from New Haven," I reported to her when she came down into the living room, groomed for the journey, with Katie carrying her bag.

"re!" I thrust a memorandum into her hands. "There are all the directions written out and I flatter myself they are fool proof."

I smiled at her mischievously, for all of us know that Lillian prides herself upon having a way with time tables and railway directions. "I'll phone Mrs. Brixton just when and where she's to meet you."

"Even if you don't it will be all right because there are plenty of local taxis I can get over to Helena's."

"Ready, dear?" Harry Underwood queried, taking her bag from Katie's arm.

"Why! Are you going to drive me?" she queried. "How can you leave?"

LIL'S ANGER GONE

Dicky appeared as from nowhere, and both Lillian and I saw that Harry had routed him out to take his place in the sickroom, in order that Lillian might have his escort to the train.

"Who else, my little cabbage?" Harry said with a grin, "and the reason I can leave is standing before you in all his manly beauty."

He waved a patronizing hand toward Dicky, and clapping his wife under the elbow, started out of the room with her, but she held back.

"I want to tell Madge something," she said, for all the world like a child wanting to speak to a playmate before leaving.

"All right, but make it snappy! You haven't any too much time."

"I won't be a second," she said, and then she was at my side and had pulled my head down so that my ear was close to her lips.

"Don't you be mad by me, 'cause I was such an anointed idiot as to be mad by you for a minute or two," she whispered. "You did everything for the best, and I really am grateful. Goodbye, and bless you."

She kissed me warmly and dashed away before I could do more than kiss her in return and mutter a heartfelt "You know I'm not mad."

The Old Story

Paying a woman's penalty—time after time

In the year of 193[illegible] there should be no monthly martyrs to pain. Some women still think they must suffer—they haven't heard of Midol—or can't believe that it has solved their problem.

• • •

Did you know that five to seven minutes after swallowing a tiny tablet you can be yourself—can be comfortable—can go about without feeling a single further twinge of muscular pain?

Your regular periods need not be painful—they are not painful to those who know of Midol. These wonderful tablets make Nature's process a mere incident. No pain, not even discomfort when you have learned to depend on Midol, as women who used to have the hardest time have found. It is not a narcotic, does not interfere with the process, but does stop the pain; relieves headaches, too; neuralgia, etc. Every drugstore has Midol.

Adventures of An Autograph Hunter

Clark Gable—his mark.

By Zukor Herowitz,
World Champion Autograph Hunter.

My successful quest for the autograph of Clark Gable required skill, courage and personality. For seven days I had trailed Gable, and finally, while he was peeking from behind a post in a theater, during the intermission, I took aim. "See here," I shouted, "is it true that you are modest and shy and have not been spoiled by success?" It worked. He emerged purring eagerly. "Spoiled?" he exclaimed. "I'm just as natural as can be. For example, I pay the paper boy to leave all papers for people in my block on my lawn. Then, when I get home from the studio, I take the papers around to the neighbors. I'm always sweeping off somebody's front porch, or cutting other people's lawns." I then asked him for his autograph. He blushed furiously. "I feel so conspicuous," he whispered. "Let me wait until the lights go out." I agreed to respect his wishes, and was rewarded. He signed his name twice on every page of my autograph book. Tomorrow I will tell—but let's make it a surprise!

The Vote Machine Quiz

The Public Will Appreciate Senator Harris' Promise to Make a Thorough Investigation.

Allegheny County has had a disappointing experience with the Poole Engineering and Machine Company of Baltimore, from whom we ordered 1,100 voting machines. Promises to deliver the machines at specified times were broken, and some of the machines that were delivered did not function satisfactorily.

As if that were not enough trouble, some questions have been raised as to the financial side of the business. It develops that H. D. Hirsh, an attorney for the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission, with offices in the City County Building, had business dealings with the Poole company through which he and several persons associated with him received $169,000 in royalties on the voting machines that the company sold. It is also stated that Charles Pearson, who has been active in politics, received commissions on machines sold in Northumberland and Schuylkill Counties.

There has been no evidence that Hirsh's and Pearson's dealings with the Poole company were illegitimate or improper.

In justice to them as well as to the public, however, it is but right that light should be thrown on the transactions, that whatever remains obscure or puzzling may be explained.

Senator Frank J. Harris, chairman of the Senate committee for the investigation of voting machines, has accordingly done the right thing and again merited the thanks of the public in issuing subpenas for those concerned in the transactions, with a view to a thorough investigation of the matter.

Low Tuberculosis Rate

Pittsburgh Occupies an Enviable Position Among the Nation's Great Cities.

A tabulation of deaths from tuberculosis in the cities of the United States having more than 500,000 population discloses that Pittsburgh had the lowest rate last year.

We had 65 deaths per 100,000 of population, as compared with 69 in New York, 66 in Chicago, 83 in Philadelphia, 76 in Detroit, 86 in Los Angeles, 93 in Cleveland, 106 in St. Louis, 117 in Baltimore, 72 in Boston, 87 in San Francisco, 73 in Milwaukee, and 79 in Buffalo.

It is a curious thing that Pittsburgh, with an exceptionally high pneumonia rate, should have the lowest rate in deaths from the principal other lung disease. It raises the question, why, if, as some suppose, local atmospheric conditions make Pittsburghers peculiarly susceptible to pneumonia, their lungs are resistant to tuberculosis.

Our fine showing in respect to tuberculosis is due, in part at least, to the work of Dr. C. B. Maits and his assistants in the Department of Public Health, and the Tuberculosis League, the Board of Public Education and the Public Health Nursing Association. They are all entitled to congratulations.

If we are to retain our enviable position in respect to tuberculosis mortality, it will be necessary to keep eternally vigilant, to detect cases of the disease at an early stage and see that the patients are given the right sort of care and treatment.

The need for such vigilance is greater now than in normal times, because undernourishment, a sequel to unemployment and destitution, renders persons susceptible to tuberculosis who would escape it if well fed.

The Trolley Incubus

It Is Too Bad That People Should Have to Patronize The Traction Company Against Their Will.

The Brentwood Motor Coach Company has applied to the Public Service Commission for permission to run buses between Bon Air and Pittsburgh.

As always happens when a company seeks to establish bus service in Pittsburgh and the suburbs, the Pittsburgh Railways Company has objected on the ground that the proposed bus line would take away some of its business.

The traction system, abetted by the Public Service Commission, is an incubus which rides Pittsburgh mercilessly, forcing the citizens to support it, compelling them to use the trolley when they would prefer to travel in buses.

Speeding Water Tests

The War on Stream Pollution Will Be Conducted More Efficiently Under the New Procedure.

Until now the procedure in getting action on stream pollution was slow and complicated. A factory, let us say, dumped poisonous waste into a stream, killing the fish. If a citizen complained the complaint was forwarded to Harrisburg, and in the course of time was referred to engineers of the Sanitary Water Board for investigation. When they got on the job there was a strong likelihood that the pollution would have moved out of their reach.

The new procedure under which intermediate offices are to be eliminated and complaints of stream pollution are to go directly to the Sanitary Water Board's field engineers is to be welcomed.

By expediting the water tests the new arrangement should make it possible to detect the sources of pollution more readily than was possible heretofore.

Apple Blossom Time

The Countryside Around Pittsburgh Offers Visitors a Great Floral Show.

Gov. Pinchot announces the appointment of Miss Barbara Vincent, of Beaver, as queen of the laurel blossom festival to be held in the Pocono Mountains next month.

Another Pennsylvania girl, Miss Helen Ames Washington, of Philadelphia, a collateral descendant of George Washington, was queen of the apple blossom pageant in the Shenandoah Valley Wednesday.

It is apple blossom time around Pittsburgh, too. It is unnecessary to go to the Shenandoah Valley or the Pocono Mountains to see a great outdoor flower show. The countryside in Western Pennsylvania is gay with floral beauty.

In the woods the dogwood and the service-berry and the wild cherry trees are great masses of white blossom. One need not hunt long for hepatica, spring beauties, bloodroot, rue anemone, trillium, violets and bluets. Diligent searchers will find trailing arbutus and marsh marigolds, too, not a great distance from Pittsburgh.

Go into the country next Sunday and enjoy this loveliness. Enjoy, but do not destroy. Leave the flowers and the blossoms undisturbed, for others to enjoy.

Pampering a Dead Tree -:- -:-

By Nelson Harding

That's right, old fellow, go ahead
And nurse a tree that's long since dead.
Pour water on the roots and brace
The trunk to keep it in its place,

To further show your common sense
Protect it with a costly fence.
Let no one take an ax and fell
That crumbling, cracked and hollow shell!

Men Never Grow Up

Every time a woman reads about a new idea to prolong a man's youth and keep him a boy forever, she shrugs.

* * *

The trouble is not that men DO get old—but that most of them NEVER grow old! And lots of them never even grow UP! Every woman who marries a normal man "takes a boy to raise." By the time the average man is ready to settle down, give up his games and be mature, his wife's nerves are usually frazzled out and she is tottering toward the sanitarium.

Many a devoted wife is just hanging onto life in the sanguine expectation that her husband will some day grow up and get over his juvenility.

* * *

Many a lonely golf-widow has fondly clung to her wandering boy, in the sweet delusion that the day will come when his rheumatism will keep him in the house—and they can get acquainted, again.

* * *

Many a loving wife never gets any of her husband's society, except when he is too ill—or too decrepit—to get out of the house and play!

* * *

The average woman is just living along, waiting for her frisky darling to grow up, settle down and stop acting like a Boy Scout. In the meantime she has to hide the children's Christmas toys from him, let him play with the radio all the time he's around the house, and let him go out and yell himself hoarse at baseball games and parades.

Yet, somebody is always discovering a way to pep up the ageing husband and keep him a thing of beauty and a playboy, forever. All he needs do is put on a gay necktie stick a flower in his buttonhole and dance off in search of amusement.

* * *

Of course, there is always the one bright hope—the possibility that, in his new-found youthful zest and enthusiasm, the "rejuvenated" husband will get TOO peppy and put too much strain on the old heart.

* * *

And then, you can win him back to grace and the wheel-chair—and collect the insurance. A husband in a wheel-chair is a GOOD husband!

* * *

That's one time when his wife can be sure that he will stay at HOME! But, until he is chair-ridden or dead, the average man is just a BOY at heart, and wants to keep right on PLAYING!

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, May 6.—Thoughts while strolling: Suggestion for a play title: "Show Business." Lynne Overman can tie Jack Whiting for a slick hair comb. They say John D., Jr. gives each of his younesters $2 a week spending money. Tammany's John F. Curry suggests the brooding eagle.

Overheard: "I'm one of the leading gutter swooners." Watterson Rothacker, a Chicago (Ill.) boy, who made good in the city. One-word description of Harrison Fisher—silvery. That grand trouper of yesteryear, Kathryn Osterman. Mother of Jack. Cafes featuring palmists.

Lucius Beebe. This generation's silk stockinged journalist. And A-1, too. D. W. Griffith's nose is like Emperor Paul's of Russia. Tall, ascetic Daniel Frohman has about the only beard left on Broadway. His apartment over the Lyceum has a view of the stage below. A midget in a Hispano. Dick Butler, Hell's Kitchen assemblyman, and his doeskin gloves. He was the longshoreman chief who kept freight moving during the war, figured in Thaw's dramatic escape from Matteawan and prominent in the Paddy's market riots. Looks like a small town banker. What a wide forehead Pola Negri has!

Abe Lincoln's double—Ewing Galloway. Helen Rowland. The serenity of hanging bowls of light. Ann Pinchot, who novelized the drama of the Fifth avenue department stores. The gorgerous bulk of Albert Kellar of the Ritz. What a fullback he would make! Blythe Daly and Blanche Sweet look alike.

Another of my favorite people—Frank Sullivan. And Pearson McCord who some say is my double, the flatterers. Shy little Bluch, the circus clown. And uncle of the beloved Lillian Leitzel. In all my life I've never met a sexton. Or talked to a contortionist. N. T. G.'s quick stride.

Wonder if others read prose in jumps after reading poetry? What became of russet apples? Harry Von Hoven who made the Bronx dance marathon conscious. The beautiful night calm of Gramercy Park. And a moon's luminous glow over a world seemingly dead.

* * *

Dudley Field Malone and his beautiful and smartly styled blonde wife are New York taxi drivers' favorite fares. They all know the Malones, who never walk and use taxis constantly, treating the chauffeurs with extraordinary courtesy and tipping generously. The same recognition is accorded them in London and Paris.

* * *

That beloved Thespic veteran, Francis Wilson, by the way, is known as the Dean of Gramercy Park. Summer dusks he is seen walking around this hallowed neighborhood. Children know him by sight, stop in their games to rush to him and receive his pats and perhaps an imaginative yarn, made up on the moment. Although 78, he is alert mentally and physically and could still caper as Caddy in Erminie as he did 40 years ago.

* * *

A heart wrench for stayouts was provided this summer by the Garbage Bread Line composed of derelicts waiting at 3 a. m. for trucks collecting refuse from midtown restaurants for Jersey pig farms. The handlers permitted the hungry to pick over the offal for broken bread and meat—an economical salvage carried off to hobo jungles for that "gay cat" olla-podrida known as Mulligan stew.

A well traveled lady I know is a collector of ash trays, having souvenirs from all points of the compass. She does not indulge the petty pilfering of usual souvenir hunters, but always tells the hotel or restaurant: "Put it on the bill." And they always do gratis—save, of course, in that dear Paree!

One of the figures in the Broadway pageant is Johnny Ostrander, plump and scholarly box office man, long with May Irwin, Mrs. Fiske, Oscar Hammerstein, etc. He is one of the few to beat the races, having become independent in this extremely hazardous pastime. He uses an astrological system, betting by signs of the Zodiac. He cannot commercialize the idea for he can only figure it out himself for himself.

Some low comic, a bit drenched I imagine, writes to know if there are such persons as Zoe Gale, Zona Akins, Maxwell Anderson and Sherwood Bodenheim, and he has me all a-twitter that I can't remember if it is Lady Chatterly's Fan or Lady Windermere's Lover.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Would women make better politicians? And will they eventually run America?

A "Lady from Boston" rises to state that they would and will; and according to her, it's all because men are moral cowards.

Why are we deep in crooked politics, corruption, graft, scandalous miscarriage of justice?

Why is our country overrun with gangsters, thieves, murderers, kidnapers, organized criminal mobs?

"BECAUSE MEN RUN THE COUNTRY AND MEN HAVEN'T MORAL COURAGE," says she.

"Physical courage—men have plenty of that. They can fight with their fists; like nothing better than a scrap. A battle, a dangerous adventure—these appeal to any man.

"BUT WHEN IT COMES TO FIGHTING FOR MORAL ISSUES, THEY'RE NOT THERE!

"A man won't face ridicule for the sake of right.

"He won't take blame, or stand punishment.

"He'll hedge and dodge and duck from under; he'll haggle and bargain and make ignoble compromises.

"For a man hasn't any strong convictions or enthusiasms about right and wrong. He can understand the necessity of licking the other fellow in a free-for-all, or the honor of getting the best of him in a contest of wits, or a business deal; but he can't see that it is just as glorious to defend a moral issue and triumph in a battle for righteousness.

"Men are largely immature children; but women," she announces proudly, "are different. Women, not having physical brawn, have been unable to run the world. They've had to take the back seat.

"But, while there, they have been developing the mental and moral sides of their nature. UNTIL NOW THEY ARE ALMOST READY TO RUN THE WORLD; AND IN A FEW MORE YEARS THEY WILL!"

That's her story, and she sticks to it. But—I wonder?

Are they purer, fairer, more honorable then men, and will they fight harder for these noble principles?

I doubt it!

I suspect we men and women are all of a piece; and that isn't saying very much for either sex.

We're all fundamentally selfish, and stupid, and timid, and cruel, and such ideals as we have are shared equally.

But men are indifferent to certain burning moral issues, she says.

They are; but so are women.

A woman will get all burnt up over child labor laws, whereas a man may become much more excited over the price of wheat.

BUT, IN THE LONG RUN, THE PRICE OF WHEAT INFLUENCES MORALS QUITE AS MUCH AS LABOR LAWS.

And men make compromises—while women don't.

That, too, is true; but the ladies shouldn't gloat too loudly over that fact.

A refusal to compromise doesn't necessarily imply a sanctified soul. Frequently it implies a limited brain.

Women won't compromise because they do not see there is "another side of the question."

Men do compromise because more experience has taught them that it's better to have a half-loaf than none at all.

And as for running the country. Well, some of us girls may think that is a desirable and probable goal for the female sex, but I've a hunch that if women really want to be a power THEY'D BETTER PUT THEIR STUFF OVER IN THE HOME.

That, after all, sisters, is our brand of politics; and properly managed, it has all other parties or platforms wiped off the boards.

Wagner: Champion of Social Justice

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

In a statement setting forth his constructive plan on unemployment insurance, Senator Wagner had the courage and honesty to say what everyone is thinking:

"Sound business and good conscience both command us, in dealing with unemployment, to abandon the methods of poor relief, with its ballyhoo, its inadequacy, inequality and uncertainty, which are a drain on the sympathy of the giver and a strain on the character of the taker."

Agreeing with every word, it is enough to accept the charge of inadequacy — which surely has been demonstrated by this time.

The Clothing Relief Division of the Emergency Unemployment Organization has just announced that within two weeks it must abandon its distribution of clothing to those in need of it because of the exhaustion of funds.

The job-drive, launched in February under the auspices of powerful organizations with the view to getting jobs for a million men, is to be abandoned without having reached its goal. It is claimed that, through this drive, 668,607 men have been given jobs. We do not doubt it at all, but we assume, with reason, that this means great numbers given jobs for a week or a month.

With the records showing a decided increase in unemployment within this period, it is impossible to conclude that 668,607 men have been given permanent jobs.

And now a mass meeting has been called to protest against the "inadequacy" of the $5,000,000 appropriation by the City of New York. It is inadequate, but millions previously have been appropriated by that municipal government, and it no longer can afford to make larger appropriations.

And so it is throughout the land.

* * *

Nothing Wild About the Plan

A year ago thoughtful men in industry and out, were agreed that serious consideration must be given ways and means to prevent recurrences of present employment conditions through new methods and drastic reforms. Then came the tragic succession of bank failures and bankruptcies, and the desperate plight of railroads, and government began to concentrate on these problems. In the interval the unemployment problem has been forgotten.

In the meanwhile it has grown worse.

One year ago there were 6,000,000 breadwinners on the streets; today there are more than 8,000,000.

And months ago both Senator Wagner and Senator LaFollette proposed the floating of a prosperity loan to put a vast army of the jobless to work on public construction; and nothing has been done.

There is nothing wild about the plan—it squares with common sense and meets the approval of such economists as Prof. F. W. Taussig of Harvard University, who has just written Senator Wagner:

"I am glad to see that you continue your work toward mending the depression by careful and discriminating expenditures on public works on the part of the federal government. I believe you are on the right track and hope you will succeed. I am quite in accord with you that the proper way of financing is the issue of long term bonds."

There will be no restoration of normal trade until men get work and the purchasing power of millions is restored; and while the plan proposed is not a panacea, and would not do as a permanent policy, it is just as wise as an emergency measure as the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

* * *

Senator Explains His Insurance Plan

Of more permanent importance is the Senator Wagner plan for unemployment insurance—similar in purpose to that adopted by most great civilized countries. When it was first proposed it was pounced upon as "socialistic," although Bismarck, who hated socialism, adopted it during his regime. Then the foes of the plan insisted that, while unemployment insurance may be good, it should be left entirely to the individual industries to adopt or reject it. This was tantamount to throwing it overboard. Now it is announced that an agreement has been reached by the Senate committee to recommend compulsory unemployment insurance by the states.

This does not mean that the states are to enter the insurance business.

Or that the states are to contribute to the insurance fund out of the public treasury.

Senator Wagner explained:

"All that a system of compulsory insurance necessarily involves is that the employer is under statutory obligation to provide insurance or reserves to protect his employes against a stated period of unemployment."

And that must come, despite the bourbons and politicians.

* * *

Qualities of Constructive Statesmanship

The agreement of the Senate committee is a triumph for Wagnerian persistence. He was the sponsor of the plan, and, under the usual rules, he would have been chairman of the Senate committee. There was interference, ascribed to the White House, and another Senator not in sympathy with the idea, was put at the head. The fact that the committee is now unanimous, and the President has apparently been won over, is a tribute to the Senator from New York.

Within six years Wagner has won recognition among thinkers and economists as one of the foremost constructive thinkers in the Senate. He has submitted answers to problems, and the answers have been sound—and never demagogic. Never once has he gone off half-cocked. Behind every measure he has submitted have been exhaustive investigations and consultations with economists and specialists. Not one has been partisan in inspiration or effect. Most, if not all, have been inspired by a passion for social justice. He has merely carried on in Washington the work he so ably did in Albany, where he was closely connected with the labor and social legislation which is the most enlightened of any commonwealth.

In the perspective of the future years he will stand out as one of the all too few in the Senate who have properly diagnosed our present near-collapse and concentrated on methods of permanent relief. And he has done it conscientiously, modestly, persistently and effectually. His are the qualities of constructive statesmanship.

The Insurance Plan Is Making Converts

The clamor of the bourbons and the blind against some insurance plan as a "dole" simply will not wash. The insurance he has in mind is the same kind of a dole the widow gets from the insurance company on her husband's death. It is not a "dole" at all.

State governments have had to give money from the treasury to prevent starvation—that is a dole. Municipalities, from the treasury have appropriated millions to feed and clothe the unemployed—that is a dole. Bread lines and soup kitchens have doled out soup and bread. Private charity has begged from door to door for dimes and dollars to be given to the jobless to keep body and soul together and that is a dole. And yet—such is the power of propaganda and printer's ink—people favoring these pitifully ineffective and slovenly methods of dealing with unemployment have jeered at insurance as a "dole."

But with the failure of the other methods the insurance plan is making converts, and, in some form or other, will have to come.
